Big Boy Scout Camporee To Be Held At Cabot Woods Tomorrow

Scouts to Demonstrate Skill in Camping Lore—Inspection Staff Includes City Officers

Scouts of the Newton section of Norumbega Council will be trekking towards Cabot Woods, of Cabot st., Newton, beginning Saturday morning, October 6th. They will report at the Headquarters tent, erected by the Lieut. Ericson Rover Crew, to the Scout Executive, for assignment to campsites.

Then there will be laughter and shouts, calling directions back and forth, as the pup tents, forester's tents, big and little tents, green, white and khaki tents begin to rise to form a tent community. Fireplaces will be built of stone and earth and then the air will resound with the noise of axes as wood is chopped to prepare dinner.

After the noon meal, Scouts will make their Patrol camps spick and span, ready for the formal inspection at 3:30 o'clock. The following have been invited to serve on the Inspection Staff:

Sinclair Weeks, Mayor of Newton; A. L. Harwood, Jr., President of the Council; Frank A. Day, Vice President; Benjamin Guernsey, Vice President; Carlton S. Redmond, Scout Commissioner; Maynard Hutchinson, Treasurer; Clarence Randlett, Fire Chief; Michael Hughes, Chief of Police; James Dempsey, Secretary of the Mayor; Ernst Hermann, Supt. of Playgrounds; Harry Hagerman, Building Commissioner; Charles Mahoney, Head of Street Department; Leon Rogers, President of the Newton Community Chest; Roy V. Collins, Chairman of the Board of Aldermen; Walter Amesbury, Chairman of the School Board; Julius Warren, Supt. of Schools; Ralph H. Nodine, Regional Scout Executive for New England; Warren K. Brimblecom, Editor of the Newton Graphic; Harry Bascom, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; William B. Baker, Chairman of Budget Committee of the Community Chest; Donald McKay, Chairman of the Campaign Committee; George E. McNamee, Commander of the Newton Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars; and C. Hassler Capron, L. D. MacNutt, Charles A. Rick, Earl P. Stevenson, L. Lee Street, Douglas Francis, Russell L. Viles, Executive Board and Commander Newton Post, American Legion, J. Austin Peckham, A. C. Blunt, Jr., William V. M. Fawcett, John M. Bierer, Clarence Bunker, C. Raymond Cabot, and G. D. Marcy.

Starting at 4:15 there will be demonstrations of all sorts; whip-snapping and rope-spinning, signalling and first aid, chopping contests, cross-cut sawing contests, tent-pitching, string-burning contests and the like. These will take place in the natural amphitheatre in Cabot Woods and everyone will be welcome.

At the close of demonstrations, axes will again be ringing, fires will be started and soon the appetizing aroma of cooking supper will be floating thru the air. Everyone will be welcome to watch the Scouts prepare for their meals and do their cooking. Invitations to supper cannot be extended, however, for the demands would swamp the boys!

At 7:45, with Assistant Scout master and Eagle Scout Charles Frary of Troop 7A, West Newton, as Guardian of the fire, the spirit of fire will be called upon to ignite the campfire. With a roar, billowing blue and white smoke and blue flames, fire will rise from the bowels of the earth to start the Scout Camp-Fire! There will be a brief talk by Mayor Weeks, with A. L. Harwood, Jr., Esq., President of the Council, as Hostmaster and he will also speak. Singing will be led by Mr. Tressler Callahan, cheers will resound, there will be stunts and music and Mr. Stanley Walden's famous trained dog will perform. The camp-fire will close with Taps, which all will be asked to sing. To bed at 9:30; up, breakfast and away from the Camporee at eight o'clock Sunday morning to Church and Church School—and Norumbega's first public Camporee will be over!

Wants Big Oil Tank in Upper Falls

A public hearing was held before the Board of Aldermen on Monday night on the petition of the New England Pipe Company for a permit to install four underground fuel tanks at their property off Needham st. between Newton Highlands and Newton Upper Falls, and to store therein 40,000 gallons of fuel oil. The locus was given as the rear of 109 Needham st. Thomas Shepherd of Newtonville spoke in favor of the petition. He said he represented the Cities Service Company which would own the tanks. He stated that this company has built up a large fuel oil business in Newton and it was proved last winter that having to haul oil from Cambridge or Braintree is a great handicap.

Mr. Shepherd said he would not argue that the oil tanks will not make a fire hazard, or that they will not increase traffic, but his company has selected the most suitable site in the city. It is located 300 feet from the street and 250 feet from the nearest building. Alderman Temperley inquired if the charter of the Concrete Pipe Company permits it to engage in an oil business. A representative of that company said the charter of the company is very broad and does permit it to engage in such a type of business.

Alderman McKay said he did not recall the hearing having been authorized by the Board of Aldermen, and his first knowledge of it was only a couple of days previous. President Collins of the Board said that the City Clerk has the authority to advertise such hearings and that proper notices and advertisements had been sent out and printed in connection with this hearing. No persons appeared to protest against the petition.

Newton Police Stop Autoists In State Wide Drive

Last Sunday Newton policemen cooperated in the State wide drive for the purpose of detecting autoists who are operating cars illegally. The number of cars stopped in Newton totaled 2538 and of this number only 16 were found to be operated by drivers who did not have a license and registration in their possession. Names and addresses of these 16 offenders were turned over to the Registrar of Motor Vehicles. Some of them will be summoned into the Newton court. Each of the 2522 drivers found to have a license and registration was given a small windshield sticker on which was printed the magic letters—"O. K."

Slight Increase In Welfare Cases

During the month of September the number of families and persons applying for welfare aid in Newton showed only a slight increase. The aid given this city by Federal funds through the ERA has been a vital factor in keeping down the number. At present 134 persons are receiving old age pensions; 34 are getting mother's aid; and 276 are receiving aid either on doles or because of unemployment.

Gallagher Made Governor of New England Kiwanis

Newton Man Elected At Northampton Convention

At the 1934 New England Convention of the Kiwanis International held at Northampton this week, James P. Gallagher, prominent Newton attorney, was unanimously elected Governor of the New England District which includes all the New England states. There were 300 delegates present at the convention from the 100 different clubs which comprise the New England District.

JAMES P. GALLAGHER

Mr. Gallagher is a past president of the Newton Kiwanis Club and past Lieutenant Governor of the Fifth Division district in Suburban Boston. For several years he has been very active in Kiwanis affairs and is well and favorably known throughout the District as a result of his interest in Kiwanis.

Mr. Gallagher is a practicing attorney in Newton, a Trustee of the Newton Public Library, Director of the Newton Welfare Bureau, President of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, and Clerk of the Newton District Court.

Arrest Watertown Youth for Theft Of Automobile

James Kerrigan, 18, of 13 Oakland st., Watertown, was arrested about 3 o'clock Monday morning at Washington st., Newton Corner, by Patrolman Goddard for stealing an automobile. The car, owned by John Jensen of 52 Arsenal st., Watertown, was parked on Sunday evening about 8 at Centre st., near Pearl st. When Jensen went to get the car a few hours later it had been taken. He notified the police and Goddard observed the registration numbers on the car when it was being driven through Newton Corner. When Kerrigan was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday, it was learned that he was on parole from the Lyman School. He was returned to that institution. A young Newton man was in the car with Kerrigan when he was apprehended, and was also arrested by Patrolman Goddard. He convinced the court that he did not know the automobile had been stolen, so he was released.

Newton Police Capture Burglar Suspects

Three young men were arrested at Newton Corner about 1 a. m. yesterday by a squad of Newton policemen and charged with having burglar's tools in their possession. Fulvio Troiani of 507 Centre street, Newton, was walking home from a nearby garage when he observed a car on Centre street opposite the Elks Building. He saw a man walk behind the building. Troiani went back to the garage and notified police headquarters. A radio message was broadcast and picked up by a cruising car at Nonantum Square. This car with patrolmen Brayton, Foley and O'Donnell hastened to the scene and the policemen placed under arrest three men found in the car. These were Melvin Willett of Merrimack, Raymond Ennie and Frank Whitcomb of Lynn. A pinch bar was found concealed on Whitcomb's person. They also found a door forced open at the top of the fire escape leading to Elks Hall. In the Newton court yesterday Willett was held for the Grand Jury in $1000 bonds; the other two men were held for the Grand Jury in $500 bonds.

$2000 Burglary At Waban Home

The home of Gerald Sullivan, 5 Carlton road, Waban, was entered by burglars last Friday night while the family was absent, and the house looted. Sullivan reported that loot valued at $2000 had been stolen. It included clothing, jewelry and a radio set.

Entrance was affected by breaking the glass in a door on the first floor. Several rooms in the house were thoroughly ransacked. It is believed the arrival of members of the Sullivan family scared away the burglars, as some of the loot was found in the yard, apparently dropped there by the thieves as they hastened away.

Transfers In Newton Police

A number of transfers went into effect in the Newton police department on Monday. Patrolman Frank Monroe went from day duty at Newton Lower Falls to the day cruising car on the South Side. Patrolman Howard Carley replaces Monroe at Lower Falls, being transferred from night duty at Upper Falls. Patrolman Henry McDonough is transferred from the day cruising car on the South Side to the day cruising car on the North Side of the city. Patrolman Barry goes from day relief duty to day duty at Waban square. Patrolman Chadwick goes from night duty at Chestnut Hill to day relief duty. Patrolman Gaquin is transferred from day relief work to night duty at the South Side. Patrolman Lupien is shifted from night relief duty to the foot patrol route in the Farlow Hill-Waverly avenue section.

Patrolman Mullen is transferred from night relief duty to the night cruising car in the Chestnut Hill section. Patrolman McCormick is shifted from desk duty nights to the night cruising car at Newton Centre. He transferred assignments with Patrolman Geegan, who goes to desk duty. Patrolman Edward Hanlon goes from day duty at Waban to day duty at Newtonville. He transfers with Patrolman Thomas Dolan who goes from Newtonville to Waban. The latter is at present a patient in the Deaconess Hospital. Patrolman Mooney is transferred from night patrol duty at Newton Corner to similar duty at Auburndale, and Patrolman John Foley is shifted from Auburndale to Newton.

$16,500 City Job To Be Done By Private Contract

Aldermen Cronin and Sproat Vote Against Appropriation

The appropriation of $16,500 for the laying of a water main in Temple and Concord streets caused considerable discussion by the Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night. Alderman Sproat asked that this matter be voted on separately. He said that while the main is necessary, there should be measures taken to assure Newton's unemployed men doing this public project, and also that the wages paid shall be the same as paid on ERA projects, or by the city. He expressed doubts if the contractor who gets this job will employ Newton men. Alderman Gordon said that Public Works Director Ellis has stated that there are many Newton men employed on the ERA projects. Gordon added that some contractors have kept their promises and hired Newton men, while others have not. Alderman Collins said that City Solicitor Bartlett has stated that contractors cannot legally be forced to employ Newton residents. He said some have done so at the start of the contracts they received, but shortly discharged them and hired outsiders. Alderman Cronin said that there are 116 former city employees deprived of their former jobs and now is the time to show our sympathy for these men by giving them employment on this water main project. He said the city should do this job. Instead of some contractor who will pay low wages, work the men longer hours and make them work hard.

Alderman Jamieson said that Director of Public Works Ellis says it is necessary to have these water mains laid before the cold weather starts; that of the $16,500 only $7000 is for labor. Alderman Grebenstein asked why this job is not done as an ERA project. Alderman Collins replied that Newton's quota under the ERA grants is filled. Alderman Gallagher said that contractors had informed him that a fair wage on the project would be 50c an hour. When a vote was taken on making the appropriation of the $16,500, Aldermen Cronin and Sproat voted in the negative.

Assigned to Duty With Fleet Marines

Private Alfred G. Cassidy U. S. M. C. of Newton, has been assigned to duty with the Fleet Marine Forces stationed at the Marine Barracks Quantico, Va., according to information furnished the office in charge of the Marine recruiting station, post office building, Boston, by Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Private Cassidy enlisted in the Marines at Boston, on July 31, 1933, was transferred to the recruit training station at Parris Island, S. C., where he received his first instructions in the making of a "Leatherneck" as Marines are often referred to. He is a son of Cornelius Cassidy, 34 Carlton street, Newton, Mass., with whom he made his residence prior to enlisting.

More Money for Newton From ERA

Harold F. Young, ERA administrator for Newton received word on Wednesday that the ERA allotment for Newton this month has been increased from $25,000 to $30,000. This will permit work for 80 additional men. These will be given employment on projects already under way.

Newton Aldermen Transfer $42,132 From Water Fund

Make It Available For Other Appropriations

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday the Board voted to pass the recommendation of Mayor Weeks that $42,132 be transferred from the Water department funds to the surplus available for general appropriations. When the order relative to this transfer was presented to the Aldermen on Monday night, Alderman Cronin inquired how this $42,132 had been accumulated, and why was it being transferred from the Water funds to the general funds, instead of being used to reduce the water rates? Alderman Gordon said that inasmuch as this amount had been paid for pensions to former water department employees in past years from money raised by taxes, instead of from water revenue as it should have been, the Mayor believes it should now be returned to the surplus available for general appropriations.

Alderman Temperley said the water funds surplus should remain intact, as it belongs to the people who paid high rates for water. He related how in 1912, when there was a surplus in the water funds, the then Board of Aldermen voted to have the other city departments given free water. This was done until 1923 when a deficit in the Water Department funds caused the other city departments to again be charged for water used. Temperley said that during these 17 years about $500,000 worth of water was used by the other city departments without payment. He argued that if there is to be a raid on the Water Department surplus, why not go both ways and charge this large sum against the other departments and credit it to the Water Department? He said the people who pay for water should be treated fairly, and he commented that a great deal of money has been wasted on the Water Department in recent years. This last statement aroused the ire of Alderman Gallagher and he asked Temperley to specify in what way money had been wasted. Temperley declined to go into details and replied "We are discussing the matter of $42,132."

President Collins said the City Solicitor has ruled that the transfer is legal. Alderman Cronin asked for a detailed statement of payment of pensions to aggregate $42,132. Alderman Gordon read the totals of pension payments to Water Department employees from 1921 until 1932. A vote was taken on the transfer of the money and Alderman Temperley was the only member of the Board to vote in the negative.

Walker Chosen Ward Alderman From Ward 5

Clifford H. Walker of 711 Chestnut st., Waban, was elected on Monday night by the Board of Aldermen to succeed James Chandler as Ward Alderman from Ward 5. In nominating Mr. Walker, Alderman McKay said that he is a man of outstanding character and ability and is the choice of the Waban Improvement Association. The nomination was seconded by Alderman Temperley.

Mr. Walker was born in Cambridge, graduated from Cambridge High and Latin School; Harvard College in 1903 and Harvard Law School in 1906. He is a member of the law firm of Ropes, Gray, Boyden & Perkins. He has resided in Waban since 1914 and has taken an active part in community affairs there and in civic activities of this city. He is a member of Union Club of Boston, Brae Burn Club, Boston City Club, Newton and Boston Chambers of Commerce. He is married and has two children, Robert R. Walker, a student at Amherst, and Helen C. Walker, a student at the May School in Boston.

Rawson To Run For Re-Election

George E. Rawson of 22 Marlboro st., Newton, will be a candidate for re-election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 7 at the city election on December 11. Mr. Rawson was elected to this position on September 10th by the Newton Board of Aldermen at a special election held to choose a successor to former Alderman Joseph J. Murray. Mr. Rawson will be a candidate for the balance of the unexpired term of Mr. Murray, one year. The latter was elected in December 1933 to serve a two year term, but resigned in anticipation of being appointed Street Commissioner.

Arrest Alleged Stabber for Boston Police

Newton police on Saturday night arrested at 19 Simms Court, West Newton, a man charged by the Boston police with slashing his landlady with a knife. The man, Metzler Crockett, 38, resided at 749 Shawmut avenue, Roxbury. The Boston police got a clue that he was hiding at the West Newton address.

Many Newton Centre Residents Oppose Oil Tanks At Crystal Lake

Seventy-Five Attend Hearing At City Hall To Oppose Petition of Metropolitan Ice Company

Nearly 75 residents of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands journeyed to City Hall on Monday evening to attend a hearing on the petition of the Metropolitan Ice Company for a permit to install five underground tanks at the ice house property adjoining Crystal Lake, Newton Centre; these tanks to be used for the storage and sale of fuel oil. The capacity of the tanks would be 50,000 gallons. These citizens of the South Side were present in the hall at 7:45 o'clock and earlier, as the meeting was scheduled to begin at that hour. But, they had to wait until 8:18 before the meeting started.

Allen Rogers of 16 Stafford rd., Newton Centre, attorney for the Metropolitan Ice Company said a similar petition had been presented sometime ago by the company asking for permission to use its property near Beacon and Walnut sts., Newton Highlands for the storage and sale of fuel oil, and that petition was refused by the Board of Aldermen. He explained that the company was formerly engaged exclusively in the sale of ice, but several years ago it began to sell fuel oil during the colder months when there is little sale of ice. He said the company has built up a considerable business in the sale of fuel oil in the Newtons and that this oil has to be trucked from Somerville, which is not economical. Mr. Rogers stated that the Metropolitan Ice Company owns property in Newton valued at $130,000; pays more than $3000 yearly in taxes; and employs at times as many as 50 men, most of whom are Newton residents. He said that the storage of fuel oil at Crystal Lake will cause no fire hazard, will not raise insurance rates on surrounding properties, and will cause no more truck traffic in winter than is caused by ice trucks in the warmer months. He said the property is in a business zone and the company should be allowed to make reasonable use of it, or the other parcel of property at Newton Highlands.

Alderman Farrell took exception to Rogers' statement that fuel oil sold in Newton by the Metropolitan Ice Company is brought from the Somerville plant. Farrell stated this oil is delivered from the Watertown yard of the ice company. Farrell also commented that the company would probably sell oil to peddlers and this would add to the traffic at the Crystal Lake location should a permit be granted there. Alderman McKay asked Rogers if his company had considered any substitute location for the proposed oil station. Rogers replied that the company had considered the former Purity Ice plant at Beacon and Walnut streets. Alderman Jamieson asked where it is proposed to locate the big tanks. Mr. Rogers said in the deep hole near the Centre st. bridge.

Edward L. Hadley, General Manager of the Metropolitan Ice Company said the ice business has diminished rapidly in recent years and the fuel oil business has grown rapidly. He said that in severe weather such as last winter, it is very expensive to operate trucks from any distance, and his company would like to be allowed to operate one of its Newton properties. He stated that the oil would be brought to the Newton station by trucks from Everett. Francis Williams of Newton Centre said he is president of the Crystal Lake Ice Company. He said no harm would result from placing oil tanks near the lake, and these tanks would not cause pollution of the lake.

Stephen Burke of 43 Norwood ave., who had led the opposition against the petition for the oil tanks said he had received letters from 47 persons living near Crystal Lake who oppose the petition. He read several of these letters. Among the arguments offered in these letters were—that the oil plant would disfigure the lake, would constitute a fire hazard, and would be a disgrace to Newton. Burke said that there is no question but that through seepage, spillage and rain drainage, the oil would enter the lake and pollute it. He said the plan is only the beginning of an oil farm.

Charles A. Nevin of Tyler terrace, president of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, said the executive committee of the association is unanimously opposed to the petition. He stated that the taxes which will be paid in Newton this year by the Metropolitan Ice Company will total less than $600, rather than $3000.

J. Weston Allen of 219 Lake ave. said that more than 60 years ago a citizen of Newton began cutting ice on Crystal Lake, and was permitted to do so, although the lake is one of the Great Ponds of the Commonwealth, because there were but three houses between Newton Centre and Newton Highlands (then Oak Hill), and there was not a house near the lake. Now the district is thickly settled and for the past 50 years the ice house at the lake has been an eyesore. Mr. Allen commented that he was away from Newton when the last ice house fire occurred, but he was glad to hear of it when he came back as he was sure the city would take the property now. He said the city should acquire the land owned by the ice company before other unsightly buildings will be erected on it. He suggested that the cost can be amortized over a long period.

Harold Jacques of 15 Norwood ave. told of oil seeping into the Metropolitan water aqueduct at Wellesley from big oil tanks. This oil seeped through 40 feet of gravel, through bricks and cement. He said oil would surely seep into Crystal Lake from nearby tanks. Alexander Standish of 133 Lake ave. said that in 1933 over 90,000 admissions for bathers at the Crystal Lake were recorded. Alderman Holden asked for a showing of hands to ascertain how many present favored and how many opposed the petition. Four of those present were in favor; 70 were opposed.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON FACES STIFF GAME WITH LYNN ENGLISH TOMORROW

Newton High will meet a stiff opponent tomorrow afternoon at the Dickinson Stadium oval when Lynn English High comes to Newtonville in the first of a home-and-home two year agreement between the two schools. Although the Lynn English team was defeated in its first start last Saturday by Revere in a 6 to 0 game Coach Sanborn and his charges have the highest respect for any eleven coached by the veteran mentor, Tom Whelan. The latter has been turning out many fine teams and although handicapped somewhat this season by the lack of veterans and by material less rugged than usual he has put together a game, lightweight outfit that will give or take no quarter.

Coach Sanborn of Newton looks for a hard game and has worked diligently with the Newton squad in an effort to bring them along to meet the test. Two weeks ago Newton opened against a powerful Arlington eleven and tasted defeat. Showing no liking for such medicine the orange and black came back last Friday to drub the Cambridge Latin outfit in the opening Suburban League encounter. The squad this week hopes to take Lynn English in stride and keep right on to meet the strong Everett outfit on Columbus Day afternoon.

While little comparison can be made as to the play of the Newton team against its two opponents thus far there is no doubt but what considerable improvement has been made. Against Arlington the locals looked woefully weak. Against the Cantabs the Newton team showed considerable promise and found it unnecessary to resort to little but straight football to walk off with the victory. The Cambridge offence, however, was so far inferior to that showed by Arlington that it was only natural that the Newton defence should be notably better. The same is true of the opposing defences. Where Arlington stopped the Newton team in play after play it was far easier to role up the yardage against the Cantabs.

In tomorrow's set-it is probable that the odds favor the Newton outfit by a small margin due in great measure to the fact that Lynn English will be playing its second game against the third for Newton. The Lynn defeat by Revere last Saturday may move to help the Newton team. Whelan coached outfit needs to stimulate on the victory path against Newton.

No change will be made in the Newton line-up from that which took the field against Cambridge Latin last week. The line-up against the Cantabs was the same as started against Arlington with the exception of Howard Milner at right tackle in place of Galen Cleveland. Milner will start against Lynn English with Ben Grow as his tackle mate on the left of the line. Sam Miller and Gale Wisbach will be at their regular guard positions with Melvin Swig at centre. Captain Gus Castoldi and Joe Byrne will hold down the ends as in the past two games. The Newton coach will also start his regular backfield of Gilbert Myers at quarterback, Earl Savignano and Paul Treanline at the halfback posts, and Sargent Moore at fullback.

Y. M. C. A.

Boys' and Men's Gymnasium classes opened at the Newton Y. M. C. A. this week with an enthusiastic response by both men and boys.

Five boys' classes meet on the "Y" athletic field two days a week and one day a week in the gymnasium. Soccer, football, and running relays are featured in the outdoor workouts, with calisthenics, tumbling, indoor baseball and basketball, mass games, and relays making up part of the indoor program.

The Employed Boys' classes are held in the gym twice a week. Each boys' class is followed by a twenty minute swim in the ever popular "Y" pool with five minutes of instruction on the correct method of kicking, stroking, and breathing while swimming. This is followed by all kinds of fancy dives from the official spring board which is a popular part of the swimming equipment at the "Y."

The Men's classes which include Seniors (young men) and the Business Men's class meet in the gymnasium on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday of each week. The business men start their chestweight drill at 5:15 p. m. followed by a great deal of fun during their volley ball games. The senior class start their calisthenic drill at 8:15 p. m. with a varied program following, including indoor baseball and basketball.

The squash and handball courts are much in demand with the tennis courts serving another source of exercise. The swimming pool is open from 9 a. m. to 9:40 p. m. and is continually in use.

Many of the representative teams are reporting for early conditioning and practice with the boys' and men's basketball teams the first to start. The wrestling team, Y. M. C. A. champions, holds its first practice Monday evening at 8 p. m. with practice every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday thereafter from 7:30 to 9:30. The wrestling team is coached by Dr. F. E. Simm who has coached the team to four Y. M. C. A. championships in six years of coaching, coming second the other two years.

The Senior and Junior swimming teams practice Monday and Wednesday evenings from 8 to 9 p. m.

The basketball team practices Tuesday and Saturday at 8 p. m. and Thursday at 7:30. Many new players have reported for the team and there is every indication of a fine team.

SPORT NOTES

Huston Scores Twice

Warren Huston made his debut in as a halfback on the Springfield College varsity eleven. On a muddy field Huston showed flashes of the individual brilliance which carried him to high scholastic heights. He scored the first two touchdowns made by Springfield in its 18 to 0 win over East Stroudsburg Teacher College of Pennsylvania. Springfield meets Boston College tomorrow.

Newton Boys in Brown Lineup

Perry Elrod and Norman Appleyard started at the halfback positions in the Brown backfield against Boston University last Saturday. Brown scored three touchdowns to win, 18 to 0, with Capt. Karaban, fullback, tallying each time. The two Newton youths, however, played a considerable part in the game making consistent gains through the Terrier's frontier. On one occasion Elrod pulled the B. U. secondary out of position on a fake play to permit Karaban to score on a spinner play. Bob Chapin of Newton Centre got into the game as a reserve end for Brown.

Kevorkian to Start
Alexander Kevorkian, 210-lb. tackle, will start for the Harvard freshman in its opening game tomorrow. The big Newton Centre lad was a star on the Newton teams a few years ago and last year played a consistent game for Exeter Academy.

On Williams Squad
Bob Patterson, former Newton High and Taft School athlete, is a centre on the Williams varsity football squad.

Wood at Colgate
Horace Wood, former Newton High athlete who later went to Roxbury School in Connecticut, is now at Colgate University where he is on the football squad. He is staging a hard fight for a position as centre under Coach Andy Kerr.

Country Day Wins

Country Day School scored a 6 to 0 win over Taber Academy last Saturday at Cabot Field, Newton. The local outfit scored early in the second period with Captain Miller counting on a pass from Perry. The Country Day team then resorted to defensive football and protected its margin.

Butler Forsaking Football

Charlie Butler, towering athlete at Brown, has forsaken football and intends to devote his attention to hockey and baseball. The Newton Centre youth, who was one of the outstanding athletes at Newton High a few years ago, has an arm which is subject to injury and in order to protect it for other sports he decided to give up the gridiron game.

Tuscher Not to Start

Francis Tuscher of Northeastern University football team last Saturday against American International College of Springfield has been relegated to a reserve position. Bill Benjamin will probably replace the Newtonville youth although Merton Rice of Chelsea is making a strong bid for the berth.

Widow and Son

Provided For
In Vaughan Case

The will of Dr. Walter W. Vaughan, prominent Newton Centre dentist, who died in July after an appendicitis operation, came before the Middlesex Probate Court last week on jury issues. The widow, Mrs. Margaret Vaughan, alleged undue influence and fraud on the part of the sister, Dr. Lillah M. Vaughan, of Waltham, Professor of Economics at Boston University for many years, to whom most of the $90,000 estate was willed.

Defence counsel argued that Miss Vaughan was a woman of honorable record in whom the brother had always had confidence. He told the court that Miss Vaughan had provided ample funds for her infant nephew and maintained that the brother had left his money to his sister in order that his wife, from whom he was divorced in June, should not handle the funds for the upbringing of the infant son. Under the law, Mrs. Vaughan receives a widow's share in the estate, the divorce decree not becoming absolute for six months.

Judge Leggat took the case under advisement and two days later handed down a decision denying the contestant's motion for a jury trial. Dr. Vaughan's aged father had not recovered sufficiently from the shock of the death of Dr. Vaughan's mother last January to be told of his son's death.

NEWTON TAKES FIRST STEP IN DEFENSE OF LEAGUE TITLE

Newton high took the first step in defence of its Suburban League football title last week Friday defeating a game Cambridge Latin eleven, 19 to 6, at Russell Field, North Cambridge. The orange and black showed some improvement in play over that of the week previous when defeated by Arlington in the opening game of the season. Despite the fact that there was considerable fumbling and ragged work in the Newton backfield the offence clicked smoothly at times for extended marches into Cambridge Latin's territory. During much the latter part of the game Coach Sanborn used an entire second eleven to give them experience for the games to come. The Newton defence also was markedly improved with the line men taking out the Cambridge Latin interference and enabling the Newton backs to come up fast, make the tackle and hold the Cantabs to small gains. The lone Cambridge touchdown was the result of a long run-back of a Newton punt. Paul Mahoney, Cantab fullback, shook off many tacklers and once underway broke for the sideline to race nearly 80 yards for a touchdown. His teammate, Joe Stankunas, quarterback, took out two Newton men as they were about to overhaul Mahoney near midfield. After that there was not much of bringing him down. The point was missed and Cambridge had a 6 to 0 lead. This run came midway of the first period and set Newton right back upon its heels.

Newton came right back fighting and marched right down into Cambridge territory. Center Melvin Swig of the Newton team received the ball on the kickoff and got an unusual chance to rush the ball. He was downed near the Cambridge forty-five. A few plays later a long forward pass was intercepted by Saultier at the Cambridge thirty-yard stripe to stop Newton's march. The following punt was poor and Newton again had the ball on Latin's 47. From there it took three rushes to make six yards and on fourth down Gil Myers broke through an eleven-yard gain to the Cambridge 30. It was first down as the quarter ended. Starting the second period Newton continued its march. Sargent Moore plaved for two yards and Earl Savignano went through for fifteen yards to the 12-yard line and another first down. A pass fell incomplete and another gained but two yards as Cambridge stiffened. Myers went back to rushing and sent Moore off the left end. The speedy Negro outraced the Cantab secondary to score in the corner of the field for the tying touchdown. Castoldi put Newton ahead, 7 to 6, pickelicking the point after touch-down with Myers holding the ball.

Early in the second half Newton forced the issue to get a break for its second touchdown. Latin had recovered a Moore fumble on the Cambridge 30-yard line with Mitchell, Cantab right end, the alert recoverer. Trying a pass the Cambridge outfit lost a little yardage although the toss was complete. A punt was then called with the Newton ends crashing through to partially block the ball. Treanline recovered on the line of scrimmage and raced for the goal-line. He was downed on the 12-yard line but illegal use of the hands brought the ball back to the Cambridge 27-yard line where Newton put the ball in play. Moore twice made gains of nearly five yards but was a foot shy of a first down when Treanline took the ball for four yards and a first down on the 14-yard line. Savignano almost got clear but was hauled down near the five-yard mark. Treanline then took it over. The point after was missed.

The third Newton touchdown came midway of the final period after Coach Sanborn had sent in his reserves for while and then replaced them with the regulars. Latin was on its 20-yard line as the result of a Newton punt. Attempting to gain by the air route, but one pass out of four was completed and Newton took the ball on downs on the Cantab 27-yard line. The Newton backs were held to small gains until Savignano broke through to the 13-yard line for a first down. Myers was stopped as were two other Newton rushes and then Savignano took the ball again. Gathering speed as his offence was spilled, the Newton halfback raced across the goal for the final counters as the point was missed.

Doll Festival Features Unique Affair of B. U. Council

A venture such as never before has been attempted by the Boston University Women's Council in their attempt to keep their "budget balanced" will be promoted during the week of Oct. 11 to 21 at their new Woman's Building, 146 Commonwealth ave., Boston. One thousand dolls of all nations, races, color and historic importance, together with a choice collection of models of ships, boats, stage coaches, aeroplanes, toy banks and doll furniture will be on exhibition for old and young. Dolls are invading the new headquarters at 146, by the car load. It will be a feast for the kiddies and a joy to the grown-ups. Many unique features are planned for in the unveiling of this very unique venture by the members of the University Women's Council of which Mrs. Everett O. Fisk is president. The exhibition opens Thursday morning at ten o'clock, Oct. 11. This Doll Festival will precede the Annual Series of Six Plays for children which opens at the Repertory Theatre, Oct. 13, at which time Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp from the Arabian Nights will be presented. A splendid series have been chosen for this season. Nov. 10, Pocohontas will be presented which will be followed on Dec. 15 by Hector Mallot's "Nobody's Girl." The plays are under the direction of Clare Tree Major of the Children's Theatre Company of New York. A splendid Executive Committee with a large number of prominent sponsors have been secured for both endeavors.

Among the Newton women interested in the affair are Mesdames Henry I. Harriman, F. M. Butts, William C. Huntington, J. F. Hollis, Metcalf Melcher, Francis Flagg, Leo D. O'Neill, Mark Lawton, Percy E. Woodward, Addison C. Burnham, D. F. Barber, Herbert F. Blair, Harry W. Dunning.

Weeks Junior H. S.

The John W. Weeks Junior High School has four new members on the teaching staff this year.

Miss Marjorie G. Dunstan, Colby '27, who has been teaching in New Britain, Conn., has joined the English department.

Mr. John H. Coleman, who has received an M.A. and Ph.D. from Columbia has replaced Mr. Haydn Pearson, now principal of the Bigelow School, in the social studies department. Before coming to Newton, Mr. Coleman was principal of an elementary school in Huntington, Long Island.

Mr. Ralph O. Samuelson, Minnesota '31, will teach social studies and English. Mr. Samuelson has been teaching in the Bellows Falls, Vt., High School.

Mr. Carl C. Peterson, Norwich '24, who also came from the Bellows Falls, Vt., High School, is a new member of the English department.

The new student council held its first meeting last week and elected the following officers for the first half year: President, Paul Newcomb; Vice President, Donald Bell; Secretary, Virginia Brown; Captain Boys' Student Patrol, Leland Sosman; Captain Girls' Student Patrol, Ada Merriam.

The first meeting of the year of the Girls' Athletic Association was called last week with Ruth Randolph presiding. Miss Maxim, girls' physical director, gave a short talk on the purposes and activities of the association. The following officers were elected: President, Ada Merriam; Vice President, Geraldine Basler; Secretary, Caroline Perry; Treasurer, Constance Linberg.

During the counting of the election ballots Sylvia Eaton played a piano selection, and a tap dance was given by Jean Jewett and Ruth Calligan.

The assembly program on Wednesday, October third, was of the nature of a "friendly get-together" with the idea of stimulating school spirit. Ellis Dierdorff conducted the program. Joy Wingett played a violin solo, Jane Elwell, a clarinet solo, and Marjorie Coughlin gave a cello solo. Paul Newcomb, the newly elected President of the Student Council, gave a talk on the organization and functions of the Student Council and asked the school to lend its loyal support in all activities that will promote a better school spirit. A talk on school spirit as evidenced through the various club activities was given by Robert Nicholas. Following these talks, Jane La Motte and Virginia Brown led the school in cheers and Mr. Parker directed the singing of the school songs. The program was concluded with a novelty number, a drum duet, by Virginia Brown and Thomas Peebles.

Warren Jr. High

The pupils of Junior I had an assembly on Sept. 19, which was in charge of Mr. Regan, grade adviser for Junior I. The program consisted of speeches by Junior III members, who took subjects relating to Warren activities, both in the class room and in project work outside. The speakers were: Ellen Duggan, Binney Tower, William Burns, Wells Brown, Dugal Macdonald, Peter Ayer, Jean Kenison, Loraine Stickney, Duncan Rogers, Juliette Harvey and Silvia Pierce. Warren cheers were practiced under the direction of cheer leaders. Ellen Duggan played two very enjoyable piano solos during the assembly.

The boys are looking ahead to another year of varsity and intra-mural sports under the coaching of Mr. Converse. Basketball, soccer, track and baseball will be featured.

The girls are preparing for volleyball, hockey and basketball. Miss McLean, coach and director, has started training for a track meet to be held for the color division team.

New teachers at Warren are Miss Dudley, Miss Miles, Mr. Onthank, Mr. Hardy, and Mr. Giles. Mr. Canfield is substituting in the absence of Mrs. Hasty. Miss Titcomb is substituting in the classes formerly taught by Miss Marion Gray.

The teacher of the Levi F. Warren Junior High School spent a very pleasant afternoon and evening last Thursday Sept. 27, at River Bank Lodge, owned by the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation. Among the guests present were Miss Hasty, Miss O'Connor and Mrs. Butler, former teachers of the school.

Day Jr. High School

The first broadcast of the Radio Club took place on September 28th. It was characterized by some clever sound effects, such as the arrival and departure of a train, which were created by Norman Ross and Carlos Cook. Members of the club presented bits of school, city, state, national, and world news. The main feature of the broadcast was an interview of Mr. Julius Warren, the new superintendent of schools. The interview covered such a variety of topics as Mr. Warren's impressions of Newton, the effect of the depression on the schools of the mid-west, the value of pupil broadcasting.

The movies held last week netted about sixteen dollars for the library fund. Members of the Visual Aid Club operated the machine under the guidance of Mr. E. W. Gustavson.

The Newton E. R. orchestra conducted by Dr. Stone, played for the first assembly of the year on October 3rd. The program consisted of classical music and medleys of well known songs.

The election of Student Council members took place in the home rooms on Monday. Results are as follows: Grade Seven, Donald Koughan, Claire Silva, Edith Reynolds, Anthony Gentile, Nina Coletti, Malcolm Broderick, Dick Rennard. Grade Eight: Gilbert Galvagno, Richard Van Arsdale, Annette Belsanti, Robert Hunter, Albert Everts, Edmund Miller, Joseph Masella, Grade Nine, Sally Cushing, Barbara Stewart, Donald Emig, Doris Mergendahl, John Van Arsdale, George Hutchings, Harry Bond, Arthur Cavanaugh, Frank Hines, Barbara MacCormick.

Eighth and ninth grade boys have started their fall soccer practice under the direction of Mr. E. W. Blue.

The seventh grade met on Wednesday morning for a short assembly at which the subject of safety was brought up. Daniel Needham and John Van Arsdale demonstrated the danger of two children riding on one bicycle. Mr. R. V. Burkhard led a discussion about safety for bicyclists.

Several fire drills have already been held this year. At the last one the building was cleared in one minute forty-nine seconds. It is hoped that future drills will be at least fifteen seconds speedier.

Men's Club of Newton Highlands Aviation Meeting

The first meeting of the Men's Club of Newton Highlands took place Wednesday, Oct. 3rd. President Charles C. Dasey presiding. Following the dinner Miss Evelyn Ford, Mezzo-soprano, sang two groups of semi-classical songs. The evening's programme was devoted to Aviation, the speakers being: Mrs. Theodore W. Kenyon of Waban, who in August ascended to 17,500 feet from the Boston Airport and who won $5000 and a beautiful trophy in national competition at Roosevelt Field, L. I., in October 1933; George Mason, governor for the National Aeronautic Association in Massachusetts, Vice president of the Aero Club of Boston and aviation editor of the Boston Transcript; Emmons J. Whitcomb, New England representative of the United Air Lines.

It was announced that the speaker for the next meeting of the Men's Club on November 7th will be President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University.

The Gamewell Company Elects Officers

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Gamewell Company of Newton, the following officers were elected: William G. Besler, Chairman; Vincent C. Stanley, President; William Gellatly, Vice President; Warren J. Miller, Vice President; Mathew Porosky, Vice President.

Mr. Besler, long a member of the Gamewell board, is also chairman of the board of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Mr. Stanley, who has served the Gamewell Company for more than 30 years and who for the last ten years has been President and General Manager, was again reelected President. He continues also as a director of the Gamewell Company.

Mr. Gellatly, a resident of Fairfield, Conn., has been connected with the Gamewell Company in various official capacities. He will take up his new duties in the New York office of the company.

Mr. Miller, who has served the company as Vice President for the past two years, was also reelected. Mr. Porosky, who was formerly connected with a well-known Boston electrical manufacturer, is chairman of the Signaling Apparatus Section of the National Electrical Manufacturers' Association and was recently nominated to the Board of Governors of this same association.

Colored Man Found Dead on B. & A. Tracks

At 5:50 Tuesday morning when Martin Coffey of 1015 Washington st., West Newton, went to the Newtonville railroad station to begin his duties as baggage man, he discovered the badly mangled body of a young colored man lying on Track 3, the west-bound local track. From a letter found in the dead man's clothing, he was identified by Balcolm Taylor, proprietor of a drug store at 922 Tremont st., Roxbury, as Robert L. Henderson. It is supposed that Henderson, who was on his way to Bellevue, Ohio, fell off a train which went through Newtonville at 4:30 Tuesday morning.

St. John's Church To Hold "Open Road" Harvest Bazaar

The entire personnel of the St. John's Episcopal Church of Newtonville has been making unusual preparations for a Harvest Bazaar to be held this month. Thirteen committees have been organized to make the affair tantamount to a social affair of this type. Of unusual interest will be the riding of real ponies. A most elaborate scenic arrangement will be installed transforming the entire parish house into a lovely "open road" effect. Twelve big booths will be maintained throughout the two days of the bazaar, Oct. 19 and 20. Family dinners will be served both evenings. Receipts will be used towards defraying expenses of necessary general repairs.

The committee in charge of the various features of the bazaar are as follows: L. J. Steltz, chairman, Col. Commerais, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Hampton, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Uline, Mrs. L. J. ## Sunday Evening Meetings For Young People Begin

The young peoples' Sunday evening societies and clubs of Central Congregational Church open the fall season this coming Sunday evening, October 7th. At 5:00 o'clock the Junior High Society will meet in the Social Hall and hold an important election of officers. Mr. Robert Weaver, student at Andover Newton Seminary, will be introduced to these Junior High School boys and girls and will act as advisor to group for the coming year.

The Young People's Society which is composed of 50 High School pupils open their season's activity under the leadership of David Eddy who is president of the society. Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Ladies Parlor, Mr. C. Leslie Updegraph, of the Boston Y. M. C. A. will speak to the group. The worship will be in charge of the officers who include James Stewart, Grace Banglow, Fred Fairfield, Priscilla Eddy and Robert McCormick. Refreshments and a social time will follow the formal part of the meeting.

One of the largest college age groups in Greater Boston has been meeting on alternate Sunday evenings at Central Church and is known as the Sunday Evening Club. This coming Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock the club has as its guest speaker, Mr. Herbert C. Mayer, World War flyer, author and formerly of the Boston University Faculty who will address the club on "Aviation and Life." The devotionals are in charge of Ernest W. Kuebler, the educational director of the church and a social half hour closes the two hour session. Officers of the club are Rickard Jarrell, Miss Dorothy Schipper, Miss Helen Brown and George Maynard.

Newton Students on Dean's List at M. I. T.

The Dean's list of students of high scholastic standing at M. I. T. for the second term issued recently includes the names of several Newton students. Fifteen Newton youths, seven men and eight women, of the class of 1937, three sophomores last term and five juniors are students of first, second or third honor ranking. Karl P. Goodwin is the only freshman of first honor rank followed by Frederick R. Clafie, John M. Gallagher, and Harry Udin with second honors and David S. McLellan, David A. Richardson, and Gordon B. Wilkes with third honor rankings. All are graduates of the Newton High School. Elmer W. Davis attained a second honor rating and Stanley T. Johnson and Robert Van Pattensteiger ranked with the third honor group as sophomores. The three graduated from Newton High School and Pattensteiger also attended Exeter Academy. The five juniors on the Dean's list are George W. Barrett, Richard F. Jarrell, and Randall C. Smith in the second honor group and Vincent P. Cook and Richard Lawrence in the third honor group. These five youths are also graduates of Newton High School.

Rotary Club

The Newton Rotarians omitted their weekly meeting at the Braeburn last Monday in order to be the guests of the Needham Club on Tuesday. "People speak of a man being down and out," said the guest speaker, Brigadier Frederick P. Osmond, divisional officer of the Salvation Army for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, "But that is not the way our Army puts it. With us a man may be down but he is never out, for it is our work to save him. It is no use to preach salvation, however, to a hungry man, and so we first give him material food." According to Mr. Osmond, human derelicts are roughly divided into two classes, those who are down because of misfortune and those who are down because of misconduct. For the former the Army tries to change their environment and to give them a chance. The spark of human goodness is there and in many cases the Army is successful in redeeming the man who is down. In the cases of the second class, those who are down because of misconduct, the problem has to be attacked from a different angle. A new coat will not make a good man. Here the gospel of Christ alone can work the change. From its origin in London in 1865 the Army along with its social service work has preached the gospel, and so it continues today.

In simple but effective manner the Brigadier touched upon the many kinds of rescue work done by the organization from the beginning until now its far flung battle line extends into 81 countries, and more than 60 languages may be heard at its meetings round the globe. Before the talk, Rotary songs were sung to the accompaniment of an instrumental quartette of Salvation Army men from Boston. After the talk, a special selection was rendered by the Quartette in excellent fashion. The Needham Club is an off-shoot of the Newton Club and therefore a close bond exists between them. Thirty Newton men drove to Needham for the joint meeting.

Lucy Jackson Chapter D.A.R. To Hold First Meeting

The Lucy Jackson Chapter of the D. A. R. will hold the first meeting of the season at the Chapter House in Newton Lower Falls on Monday, October 8, at 2:30 p. m. There will be a paper on Silhouettes, with an interesting exhibit, followed by tea and a social hour, Mrs. S. R. Comer, chairman of hostesses. Members who have completed knitting for the World War Service committee are requested to bring it to the meeting, also interesting old epitaphs which have been collected. The annual card party has been postponed until later in the fall.

BUILDING REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER

Forty-four permits for building construction were issued by Public Buildings Department of Newton in September. Of these 7 were for single dwellings, estimated to cost $65,000; 5 were for private garages, estimated to cost $1650; 34 were for alterations on buildings, this work estimated to cost $37,716. The total number of permits issued by the department for the first nine months of 1934 were 434; for the same period in 1933 the total was 436. The estimated cost of the work done under these 1934 permits was $1,823,864. The cost of the work done in the first 9 months of 1933 was $1,246,958.

$25 Reward for Reporting Hit and Run Driver

Henry Dunn of Traverse st., Newtonville, employed at the Newton Cemetery, has been awarded $25 by the Highway Safety Committee of Massachusetts for taking the registration numbers of an automobile which hit a Newton Highlands boy. The boy, Richard Palmer of Alberton rd., Newton Highlands, was hit on the afternoon of September 11th, by a car driven by a Newton Centre youth. The driver of the car did not stop, but as a result of Dunn's alertness in taking the numbers, the driver was identified, brought into court and convicted.

Women's Club Activities

Newton Club Plans Many Activities

On Thursday, October 11th, at 2:30 p. m., at the Underwood School Hall, the Newton Community Club will hold its first meeting, with the president, Mrs. Steven Bayard Wilson, presiding. Mr. Edmund Bradley, pupil of the famous Russian master, Mordkin, will be presented in a program of modern dances. He will be assisted by two women and an accompanist.

The Club is planning a busy year with many classes, among which are the following:

Dressmaking and Dress Renovating, Miss Frances Head, instructor; Tray and Furniture Painting, Mrs. Ralph Angier, instructor; International Events Class, Mrs. LeRoy Cullen, chairman; Book Club, Mrs. Shirley Kerns, chairman, and Art Lectures, Miss Florence Bacon, chairman.

There are also tentative plans for a Class in Parliamentary Procedure. An exhibition of Mrs. Ralph Angier's work will be held in October, in her barn at 316 Franklin street. And a trip to the First National Stores is planned for November.

Mrs. David Black, chairman of the Community Service committee, is making a plea for children's and adults' cast-off clothing. This is to be distributed to the needy, and as the supply is almost exhausted there is immediate call for replenishing. The Federated Clubs of Newton are helping the City in this project. Those who have articles may telephone to Newton City Hall and a truck will call.

Attractive Entertainment For Children

Mrs. Austin Benton is in charge of a series of five Saturday morning entertainments, sponsored by the Newton Centre Woman's Club, providing unusual and clean amusement for the children. "Mora," the eccentric wizard and comedian; and "Billy," the boy artist of the Boston Sunday Globe, are two of the entertaining features. Tickets for the series of five may be obtained for only one dollar. There will be further information on this series at a later date. The Club Chorus has resumed work under the leadership of Madame Apolline Blair, with Mrs. Kirtley Matherson, Accompanist.

An interesting announcement is that of the re-decorating of the social hall in the basement of the Newton Centre Club House, and the installation of a new dance floor. With the very attractive new color scheme of decoration and the dance floor, this hall should make a delightful place for social gatherings, and for dances for the younger set.

State Press Chairman Will Speak on Radio

Tomorrow morning, Saturday, the 6th, Miss Grace Parker, the new chairman of Press and Publicity of the State Federation, will speak during the half-hour broadcast over Station WBZ, 11:30 to 12 o'clock. All Press chairmen and committees should listen to her for advice and suggestions. Mrs. Seavey P. Swan will talk on "Club Bulletins" which will be of equal value to all who are working on these bulletins for Newton clubs. Miss Alice F. Titus, known to all who have been readers of Federation Topics during the past few years, as its editor, will speak on "The Value of Publicity." Alton Hall Blackington, former staff photographer of the Boston Herald, will be on the program. He has appeared as speaker before many Newton Clubs in the past two or three years. Mrs. M. H. Gulesian, whom Newton claims as one of its talented clubwomen, is now State chairman of Music, and she will arrange for the musical program of the period.

Appeal For Used Toys

The Christmas Party committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club has been busy through the summer purchasing, sewing, and knitting clothes for the little ones who will be guests of the Club at the annual Christmas Party. Mrs. J. Walter Allen, chairman of this committee, makes the following appeal: "For several years a company of Newton firemen has assisted the committee greatly by re-conditioning used toys, thereby providing pleasure at Christmas for many little ones in this city. The firemen again are ready to help, and the committee desires to allow them ample time for their work. The Club needs many used toys to add to the number of new ones that their budget will allow. Those who can contribute such toys are asked to telephone to Mrs. Allen for further information."

Drama Reading To Be Program

On Monday, October 8th, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. Robert E. Clark and Miss Thalia Clark of Erie avenue. There will be a Drama Reading by Mrs. Ernest G. Haggood. Mrs. Mark H. Ward and Mrs. Francis A. Rugg will present Current Events.

Arctic Lands Year's Topic

The Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its first meeting of the coming Club year on Monday, October 8th, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Wilfred C. Church, 353 Valtham street, West Newton, with Mrs. Frances E. Nowers the assisting hostess. Meetings of the Class, of which Mrs. George D. Thomas is this year's leader, will occur on the second and fourth Mondays of each month throughout the year, at the homes of the members. The Class is looking forward with a great deal of interest to the year's study of the subject "Western Arctic Lands and Canada."

Significant Remarks Made at Recent Conference

The New England Conference celebrated its twenty-fifth birthday in the Conference held during three days of last week, September 25th, through Thursday morning, the 27th, at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. One of the most fitting events that could have been featured was the presence of Miss Georgia A. Bacon, its first chairman, and founder. She told them humorously, entertainingly, briefly, of her experiences at that time, and gave information that was worth hearing. The president of the General Federation was present and a speaker. Grace Morrison Poole needed no introduction to a group of Massachusetts clubwomen, whom she led as president in 1922-1924. Miss Bacon, too, had been the president of the State Federation, 1908-1911. And yet a third former State president presided over the Conference as chairman, Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, whose term was 1924-1926. And a fourth acted as general chairman of Arrangements, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, the last president.

Account of those three days with the many delightful social events and the many business matters necessary for function and of interest as marking progress and plans can not be given here. The entire program arranged was announced in advance, so all are aware of its scope. But a few of the noteworthy remarks of speakers are quoted for information and for the thoughtful consideration of clubwomen who seek to keep abreast of problems that are before the club world.

Mrs. Poole, guest of honor at the banquet of Tuesday evening, declared that "the Recovery Act is foolproof, in theory, and the NRA goal is commendable." She praised the efforts of the New Deal to find a common platform on which labor, capital, and the consumer could work together. She called upon clubwomen to let nothing prevent them from voting in the November elections. As representative of the great middle class of the country the women's clubs, she stated, should work for old-age pension laws which would assure everyone enough to exist on in his or her last years.

In regard to unemployment she reported that the General Federation this year is asking clubwomen to pay particular attention to those who are physically or mentally unfit. "There should be, and there can be, a place for them. They do not need to become public charges and in the last analysis beggars. We can do much to restore their self-respect and confidence, and I make a special plea for your help in this direction."

Mrs. Elizabeth Pigeon, chairman of the department of Education in the General Federation, and just-defeated candidate for State Auditor, on Tuesday afternoon, declared the strike of the Brockton High School students an appalling example of the need for putting a clamp on institutions of higher learning, who, she claimed, are attempting to tear down democratic government.

She emphasized the desirability of a protecting oath of allegiance to the Constitution and deplored such "higher education" as that described in a news item which quoted a professor in a Massachusetts college for girls as circulating a questionnaire, one of the milder passages of which was: "Which do you prefer for yourself: A companionate with marriage. A companionate without marriage. Marriage with children. Children without marriage."

Such alarming propaganda in the schools and colleges, she asserted, struck at the very fundamentals of the Constitution.

James Ernest King, editorial writer of the Boston Transcript, speaking Wednesday morning, made statements of timely appeal and of arresting logic as to conditions in which we find ourselves today:

"Recently we have heard a thousand voices shouting that 'capitalism has broken down,' that 'the old order of American life has collapsed.' Many who raise this cry do so for the particular purpose of starting a panic, of making us think the ship is sinking, so that we will hurry up and desert the American Constitution and climb aboard the big red steamship whose name is Communism. Others who say that capitalism has collapsed are not so fanatic. They are sincerely worried. As a matter of fact the hull is still sound. The United States has run into uncharted seas and must run half-speed to avoid hidden rocks and sharp collisions with untried social forces."

Wednesday evening featured the big event of the three-day program—Governors' Night. And as one facetious news writer stated it, "the Gov-

Announcement

Announcement is made that John J. Jackson, D.D.S., for many years a well known practitioner of dental surgery in Boston, has purchased the offices, equipment and practice of the late Dr. Walter W. Vaughan at 70 Langley Road, Newton Centre.

Dr. Jackson has for several years lived in the neighborhood of his new location and already numbers among his patients many Newton residents. To the equipment of the office, already known as one of the most complete in suburban Boston, Dr. Jackson has added modern appliances for the production of porcelain restorations, thus avoiding the display of gold in crown and bridge work. Particular attention will be given to regulating children's teeth and the treatment of pyorrhea. A dental hygienist will be in constant attendance.

Signal Lantern Society Meets At Newton Home of President

For their first fall meeting, members of the Signal Lantern Society, Children of the American Revolution, were guests at the home of the Senior President, Mrs. William H. Beal, 234 Bellevue st., Newton, on Saturday, Sept. 29. Junior President Elizabeth Wyman presided. After the patriotic exercises and reports of officers, readings were given by various members of the society. Mrs. Beal announced that the next meeting would be in the nature of an entertainment, "Vest Pocket Editions of 1934," to be held at the Hotel Touraine, Boston, on the afternoon of Thursday, November 1. William H. Beal, Newton, Mrs. F. Allen Burt, Brookline, and Mrs. Harry Wiggins, Newton, will be in charge of tickets. After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed by members and their guests.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

The annual trip to Plymouth will be made on Thursday, October 11. On the way to Plymouth the party will call at the shore cottage of President Winslow on Green Hill and later at the summer cottage of Mr. Amesbury at Duxbury will have a clam-bake, ocean bathing and boating. Rev. Garfield Morgan of Lynn will be the Vesper speaker on Sunday evening, October seven. Mrs. Victor Gilbert of Medford will sing.

The first meeting of the year of the Dramatic Club was held on October first, Janice Piper of Windsor, Vermont, the new president, presiding. Programs for the coming year were discussed. The other officers of the club are Barbara McKellogg of Cambridge, vice-president, Denise Gile of Tilton, N. H., secretary and Caroline Smith of Hyannis, treasurer.

Aldermen Meet

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night was featured by two public hearings on petitions for permits to establish stations for the wholesale storage of fuel oil; one at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre; the other at Needham st., Newton Upper Falls. A large number of citizens were present to protest against the first petition. Detailed accounts of these hearings are printed elsewhere in this issue of the GRAPHIC.

The first hearing announced at the meeting was on the petition of the Peabody Home for Crippled Children at Oak Hill to install a tank for the storage of 7500 gallons of fuel oil. No opposition developed against this petition. Another petition was from Dr. Cecil Clark for a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank at 363 Walnut st., Newtonville; for private use only. There was no opposition against this petition. Other hearings announced were on orders to grade and accept the following streets — Bound Brook, Brush Hill, Danehill and Lee-wood rds.; and to take land for a drain and sewer between Bound Brook rd. and South Meadow Brook.

Appropriations made by the Aldermen included — Playground Department, material for ERA projects at Edmonds Park, Cold Spring playground, Auburndale and Bowen playgrounds, $5200; Water Department, main on Amherst rd., $1400; fee for water supply expert, $1000; water mains in Temple st. and other streets, $16,500. Considerable discussion was caused by the large appropriation for the water main in Temple st. This is printed in another column. Alderman Temperley voted against the $1000 appropriation to pay fees to the water supply experts. Alderman Gordon said the experts, Weston & Sampson, have been retained for years and have saved the city much money.

Petitions received by the Aldermen included the following — Gilbert Burns, construction of sidewalk on Daniel st., Newton Centre; Edward Shea, construction of sidewalk on Hope st., Auburndale; Catherine Breslin, grading and accepting Nathan rd., Newton Centre; Jeremiah Coleman, drain in Islington rd.; Catherine Nangle, drain and sewer in Linwood ave., from Fair Oaks ave. northerly.

Still more claims for alleged blasting damages in connection with the sewer excavated going on two years ago were received. The latest are from H. E. Wilson, 14 Walden road; Mrs. Dorothy Perkins, 34 Larchmont road; Mrs. Julia McQuirk, 231 Cabot street. Other claims for alleged blasting damages resulting from work done by city employees at Newton Highlands, were received from Amy Sweatt, 121 Carver road; William J. Gould, 4 Mayflower terrace.

A petition was received from Philip Woodbridge for a permit to store 50 gallons of motor benzol in a drum underground at 170 Collins road, Waban.

On recommendation of the Licenses Committee leave to withdraw was given the petitions of William H. Carpenter to store 500 gallons of gasoline at Wallace street, Newton Highlands; of Elizabeth Rodenhiser for an employment agency at 18 Pearl street, Newton; Acme Tailors to sell second-hand clothing; the petition of Harry Robart for a license to buy old gold and silver. The Carpenter petition was turned down because Wallace street is in a residence zone, and the gasoline tank would be used in connection with a business; the Rodenhiser petition was refused because the locus is in a residence zone; The Acme Tailors and Robart petitions were refused because they did not receive the approval of the Chief of Police.

A license was granted to John L. Grant, 327 Washington street, Newton, for a second-class taxi. A permit was given to Peter Hanson, 196 Auburndale avenue, Auburndale, for the enlargement of a grocery store at this locus. The store is operated as a non-conforming use in a residence zone.

Alderman Gallagher called attention to traffic congestion on Walnut street, Newtonville, and suggested that State Route 128 be diverted from this street. Route 128 some years ago went along Chestnut street at Waban and West Newton, but was changed so that it followed Walnut street through Newton Highlands and Newtonville.

On recommendation of the Traffic Committee it was voted to prohibit parking on Union street, Newton Centre, adjoining the railroad station property. Alderman Grebenstein said that between 300 and 400 Newton Centre families commute from this station to Boston, and it has been difficult to drive automobiles close to the station platform because of all day parking there by some motorists. Alderman Temperley suggested that only half of the length of the street alongside the railroad station be closed to parking, and the rest be reserved for limited parking so that business men on Union street can have facilities for parking for their customers. He said the police can deal with all day parkers. Alderman Holden said that Newton Centre residents have protested at not being able to drive to the station platform, and he commented that only two business places on Union street seek to have the space continued for parking purposes.

The trustees of the Cousens Fund were authorized to sell bonds valued at $75,000, the proceeds to be used for mortgage loans on Newton real estate.

Claims for damages to automobiles were received from Lillian Kenna of West Roxbury and Matthew Brown. The former asks for $6. A spring on her car was broken when the car sank into a depression on Commonwealth avenue near Washington st. on August 13. The depression was caused by soft ground where a trench had been dug by city employees. Brown asks for $10. A tire and tube on his car were ruined by a piece of metal projecting from a sidewalk at Glendale rd. and Ashford st.

Mrs. H. I. Harriman General Chairman Of Children's Play

Mrs. Henry I. Harriman of Centre st., Newton, General Chairman of the Six Plays for Children, sponsored for the fourth consecutive season by the Boston University Women's Council, of which she is vice-president, is assisted by many Newton women. Mrs. Metcalf Melcher is one of the assistant chairmen and of the forty Suburban chairmen the Newtons are represented by Mrs. F. Marsena Butts, Newton, Mrs. J. Fern Hollis, Newton Centre, Mrs. Howard C. Thomas, Newtonville, Mrs. Herbert F. Jordan, West Newton and Mrs. Harry Dunning, Waban. Mrs. Ernest Rallsback, of Foster st., Newtonville, is again assembling the program.

MRS. HENRY I. HARRIMAN

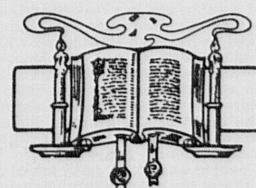

Newton Life members of the Boston University Women's Council, of which Mrs. Everett O. Flisk, of Brookline is president, are Mrs. William T. Rich, Mrs. S. T. Emery, Mrs. Edwin P. Brown, Mrs. William E. Huntington, Mrs. Mark A. Lawton, Mrs. William J. Lowstuter, Mrs. Lucius H. Thayer and Mrs. Percy E. Woodward.

Miss Betty Stidger, of Highland avenue, Newtonville, is the official hostess at the Doll Festival, which the Council is sponsoring at their new Woman's building, 146 Commonwealth ave., for two weeks beginning October 11th. The festival is an educational exposition through the centuries with an unusual collection of models of ships, boats, stage coaches, aeroplanes and toy banks.

The series of the Six Plays for Children include this year such well known favorites as Aladdin and his Wonderful Lamp, Pocahontas, Dick Whittington and His Cat, The Prince's Secret and Under the Lilacs. The first play, Aladdin, comes to the Repertory Theatre, Boston, produced by the Clare Tree Major Theatre Company, an adult company of New York, with the same cast, settings and costumes as Mrs. Major shows at the Alvin Theatre, New York.

Tickets for the Six Plays for Children and the Doll Festival may be had at the Woman's Building, 146 Commonwealth ave., Telephone Circle 6826 Doll Festival, 25 cents for children, 50 cents for adults. Includes mid-morning coffee and afternoon tea.

Single tickets for Plays—50 cents to $2.00. Season tickets advantageous.—Advertisement.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Church School workers of Newton will be interested to know that the Norumbega District School of Religious Education is to open for its fourteenth season on Monday evening, October 8th, at 7:30 P. M., in the Newtonville Methodist Church. Ten Monday evening sessions will be held, as usual, with two periods each evening and three courses for each period.

Dr. Herbert W. Gates of Newton Centre will teach two courses in this training school, one on "Old Testament Religion" and the other on "The Message and Program of the Christian Religion." Dr. Gates is the General Secretary of the Congregational Education Society, and Dean of the Northfield Summer School of Religious Education.

The Junior Department course will be given by Miss Alice M. Nelson of Newtonville, a retired public school teacher who is the experienced and successful superintendent of the Junior Department of the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Mrs. Frank N. Chamberlain of Medford, Field Secretary of the Massachusetts Universalist Sunday School Association, will give two courses, one for Primary Department workers and another on the topic, "A Study of Christian Personality." Mrs. Chamberlain has had a rich experience in teaching and has much to offer to all who take her courses.

We announce with pleasure also that Mr. Clyde G. Hess of the Newton Y. M. C. A. will give a course for teachers and leaders of teen-age young people. His course will be called "Teaching and Leading Youth," and will be based upon his wide experience in a variety of church school situations. Mr. Hess has always been active in church school work as well as in the Y. M. C. A.

Church Nursery School Arouses Much Interest

The Second Church Nursery School, which was opened only a year ago as an experiment in religious education, has already been imitated. The school, open to the community, was designed to promote the physical, mental and emotional growth fostered by all nursery schools. However, both the minister, Dr. Boynton Merrill, and the director of religious education, Frank H. Grebe, felt that the church had a unique contribution to make to the life of the child.

The church was, it seemed to them, the logical and inevitable place in which to help small children toward religious growth and spiritual integrity, and to practise the attitudes upon which Christian living rests. Through stories, pictures, handwork and song the children have come to love the boy Jesus. Regular visits to both Church and Children's Chapel are made, to help the children love and reverence the church. As a part of worship, regular services for the school are conducted in the Children's Chapel by the minister. These are designed to give the children the feeling that they have as much a place in the church as adults.

Because of the school's tremendous possibilities for service, the school has already in its brief existence aroused widespread interest. Because there were so many inquiries about the school, the Executive Committee of the church voted at its last meeting that the privileges of the school be extended to a limited number of children outside the parish.

The idea of the school has already been adopted by other churches. The first church to put the Second Church's plan into active operation is the Lynn Methodist Episcopal Church, of which Rev. Robert John son is the minister. Miss Hazel Young, who was last year assistant to the principal of the Second Church School, Esther Colby Sweet, is in charge of the new school.

Spanish American War Vets Hold Vicinity Council Meeting

Vicinity Council No. 2, of which Burnett Camp No. 10, is a part, met at Memorial Hall, Newton Centre, Sunday afternoon at two-thirty P. M. The meeting was called to order by President O'Brien, of Natick with about sixty-five veterans in attendance. After a short business session, Senator Arthur Hollis, Congressman Richard D. Wigglesworth, Past Commander Sawyers of Council No. 1 and Vice Commander Arthur H. McCarthy of the American Legion, No. 48, spoke on Veterans affairs. After the meeting lunch was served in the Cafeteria, by the Ladies' Auxiliary U. S. W. V. of Camp 10.

"Dames" Comes to Paramount Theatre as Feature Sunday

Starting at the Paramount Theatre, Sunday, for four days, "Dames," with an unusually large and talented cast headed by six stars, is the feature offering. Joan Blondell heads the list of principals, playing the part of a gold-digging chorine while Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler provide the romantic interest. The two screen lovers appear opposite each other for the fourth time in pictures.

The other stars include Zasu Pitts, who has a comedy role as Ruby's mother, Guy Kibbee in the role of her husband, and Hugh Herbert as an eccentric millionaire who promises to leave them his fortune on condition that they prove to be of fine moral fibre. This picture is a mammoth musical comedy spectacle with hilarious situations, glamorous romance, and catchy music and lyrics.

On the same program will be shown "Hat, Coat and Glove" with Ricardo Cortez, Barbara Robbins, the screen's latest prize from the Broadway stage. She makes her picture debut as Ricardo Cortez's leading lady.

Starting Thursday, Robert Montgomery and Maureen O'Sullivan in "Hide-Out" is the feature picture. Here is one motion picture that will find favor in every eye, no matter how critical. This picture brings Robert Montgomery back in one of his most entertaining characterizations, that of a smart city guy who thought he had everything in life — money, romance, pleasure—until a lovely country girl crossed his path.

On the same program will be Lee Tracy in "You Belong to Me" with Helen Mack.

Baptists To Hold Annual All-Day Association Meeting

Baptists of the Boston West Association will meet at the First Baptist Church, Jamaica Plain, on Tuesday, Oct. 9, for their annual all-day association meeting. A varied and well balanced program, with a number of prominent speakers has been arranged beginning at 10 a. m. Among the chief speakers will be Professor Henry K. Rowe of the Andover-Newton Theological School.

During the afternoon program Mr. Harry Gilman of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre will lead a conference on denominational finances. Mr. Gilman is one of two laymen of Greater Boston on the program to bring the viewpoint of the church member before the association. Rev. John Shadish Franklin of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton is moderator of the Boston West Association, the first pastor of the local church to hold this office. This year is also the 25th anniversary of the admission of Lincoln Park Church to the association.

GETTING DOWN TO BRASS TACKS

The gubernatorial campaign between Lieutenant Governor Gaspar G. Bacon and former Mayor James M. Curley is a campaign in which the unthinking voter may readily be led off the right track. It is one in which the appeal to sympathy, the call to rally to the endorsement of remote issues, and the suavity of political oratory is paramount. The thinking voter should take the time to view all of the angles which are involved in the contest.

In the first place there is far more to the campaign than the regular party issue of Republicans versus Democrats. The trend of times, economic conditions, and other factors have brought the voters of Massachusetts to the point where the party designation after the candidate's name does not mean all that it did a few years ago. Many voters ignore the party affiliation and vote strictly upon the dominant issues and the records of the candidates. Setting aside the party designation of the two foremost candidates for the governorship of the Commonwealth it comes down to a question of issues and records.

Much as ex-Mayor Curley would like to make the voters believe it, national issues and the endorsement of President Roosevelt's policies fade into insignificance beside the outstanding need for wise handling of the Ship of State. Massachusetts stands today among the first in the nation when it comes to sound financing, legislative leadership and foresight, and good government in general. It is extremely important that this position be maintained. The traditional heritage of our forefathers must be carried on by a program of progressive, humane government in which the citizens of the State have unbounded faith. A blanket endorsement of national policies might well prove detrimental to the State of Massachusetts. There can be little question but what some of the national policies are meritorious but there are others which we look upon askance. Constructive criticism under these conditions is far more to be desired than the attitude of "try anything once."

When the records of the two candidates are studied the first thought which comes to mind is that both have been public servants for many years. Lieutenant Governor Bacon has reached his present position through service in the State Senate and is well acquainted with State problems. Mayor Curley has served the city of Boston for a number of terms and has retained a considerable measure of popularity despite constant adverse criticism and unpleasant rumors.

There is much more that could be written on the relative merits of the two candidates and the deeper one delves into the situation the more marked is the desirability of electing Gaspar G. Bacon as the Chief Executive of the State. In such critical times as these the Bacon candidacy inspires far greater faith than that of his opponents. Massachusetts needs Bacon.

THE NEW TAGGING SYSTEM

The new system of tagging illegally parked automobiles has aroused considerable indignation and criticism, particularly in large cities such as Boston where the situation has been steadily growing more acute. Sober reflection and a thorough tryout of the new system should reveal its advantages. It is our opinion that much of the disrespect for laws is an outgrowth, at least in part, of the ease with which motorists have been able to "fix" minor violations of motor regulations. This was more or less of a natural attempt in order to avoid a criminal record. The intent of the legislature was to remove this stigma for minor violations and also aid in speeding up the court dockets. We believe that a thorough tryout of the new tagging system will create a growing respect for the law, relieve traffic congestion in many congested places and prove a boon in many ways.

THE FIRST STEP IS TO REGISTER

Although there are some thirty thousand registered voters in the Newtons there are a considerable number of citizens who are not enrolled upon the voting lists and therefore are not entitled to cast their vote at the coming election. The Registrars of Voters are holding daily sessions at city hall for this purpose and have also announced a schedule of sessions in various parts of the city at specified times enabling these unregistered but otherwise eligible voters to become enrolled with the least inconvenience possible. It is the duty of all good citizens to vote. The first step is to register. If you are not registered do so at the earliest opportunity.

NEWTON REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that they have sold in the Hunnewell Hill district of Newton the frame ten room home located at 91 Hunnewell avenue, corner of Willard st. With the house there are 14,000 square feet of land and a two car garage, and the total assessment on the property is $13,500. This property was originally built by Henry S. Bothfield, former mayor of Newton, and later occupied by Henry I. Harriman, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. It has been conveyed by Martha W. Tufts to Charles M. S. Foster, who after extensive improvements will occupy as a home.

Burns and Sons have also sold in the West Newton district the two-family twelve room home located at 215-217 Cherry st. With the house here is a two car garage and 7500 square feet of land, and the total assessment is $5,500. The Newton Savings Bank was the grantor and Guy DeStefano the purchaser. The property is purchased for home and investment.

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that final papers have passed conveying the estate located at 727 Centre street, corner of Cabot st., in the Farlow Hill district of Newton to Margaret L. Fallon, who purchases for a home. The property comprises a colonial brick residence of eleven rooms and four baths, which was built seven years ago by Robert A. Gauvreau at a cost of $55,000. With the house there is a third of an acre of land and a two car garage. Irving I. Green was the grantor, and John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., were the brokers.

NO HAY FEVER HERE

People suffering from hay fever, or catarrh, may combine pleasure with relief, by visiting the tiny island of Heligoland, in the North Sea, near the mouth of the Elbe and Weser rivers. It is a veritable paradise for sneezers. The absence of certain grasses and plants, the pollen of which is believed to cause hay fever, led to the choice of this location.

Already a popular summer resort, it has recently drawn a congress of bronchial experts. The place virtually has been overrun with sufferers from summer catarrh—and all seem to have found happiness.

About Town

By Edward H. Powers

In England the Minister of Transport some time ago issued an order prohibiting the sounding of horns on automobiles between the hours of 11:30 p. m. and 7 a. m. And in England the laws are enforced and orders are obeyed. Such a prohibition might well be placed in this country. As the English official said—"It is as easy to put your foot on the brake as your hand on the hooter."

We reside on a street where the traffic is quite heavy. About 100 feet from our home is a street intersection. There is not much cross-traffic at this intersection. In fact, it is quite light. But, night after night, at 1 a. m., 2 a. m., and other wee hours, autoists speed along Pearl st. and as they approach Jackson rd. toot the horn. Fortunately there are only a comparatively small number of autoists who show this lack of consideration for persons residing in the neighborhood, but such pests annoy people in all sections by unnecessarily blowing automobile horns.

Talking about automobile horns, another restriction on these noise makers should be—the prohibiting of sirens on any vehicle except ambulances, fire truck and police cars. There is a growing practice among youths who like to "show off" of equipping their cars with sirens so that they can speed by other cars on the road. And the same thing applies to the important young men and women who have big "nerve wracking" horns of the bus type placed on their cars. These ear splitters should not be permitted on busses or any other type of vehicle. They are obviously used on automobiles which travel faster than any car or bus should travel on highways, and their purpose is to intimidate other operators of motor vehicles.

The publishers of the Newton Directory made a number of radical changes in this year's edition. Herebefore the house directory section of Newton directories was printed as one unit for the whole city. This year the House Directory section was split into several units. These are Newton-Newtonville, Newton-Chestnut Hill, West Newton-Auburndale, Newton Highlands-Upper Falls, Waban-Lower Falls. Each of these units has a map of the sections included. In all probability, the publishers thought the new method would provide greater ease for users of the directory in finding names in the House Directory. Our experience is that it is much less convenient than the old method. And from comments made by a number of Newton business men, they also find the dividing of the House Directory undesirable.

The intent of the "non-fixing" tickets which are now given by policemen to autoists who violate parking rules is good. Undoubtedly these tickets will assist in correcting parking abuses. But, they will not stop all day parking in large cities such as Boston if any policeman accepts a weekly or monthly stipend from autoists as a bribe for permitting them to park in restricted or prohibited areas.

Columns and columns of slush in the newspapers about the alleged misconduct of Mrs. Vanderbilt. Columns and columns about the sordid murder trial details of a quite ordinary young man in Pennsylvania who is charged with having killed his former sweetheart. Lots of publicity and photographs of an unconventional female who went to Reno to get a divorce, and whose fame has been gained because she has been traveling about that city clad only in a man's shirt and abbreviated shorts, and with her feet as well as her legs uncovered. And in striking contrast, the Boston and other big city newspapers give only three or four lines to chronicle the death of the average person murdered by some speeding or drunken autoist. To me we are a great people and it is quite amazing that affairs in this highly civilized and intelligent land are in such a mess.

We listened to President Roosevelt's speech over the radio last Sunday night. We approved his statement that—he will stand or fall on his policy that there shall be no permanent class of unemployed in this country. But, Mr. Roosevelt, his advisers, and the financiers, industrialists and proletariats of this country have a tremendous problem ahead of them to create employment for all able and willing to work. And those fortunate enough to now have steady employment, and this includes the millions holding Federal, State and municipal jobs, are vitally concerned in this problem. Before it is solved, big changes in our political, social and economic structure will have to be made. Just as big changes had to be made in past centuries. We have had society evolve from one form to another, from patriarchal, tribal, despotic, monarchical, feudal—to democracies; forward and backward. With manual labor largely eliminated by modern machinery, with the "rugged individual" business man pushed aside by chain stores and big financial combinations, those individuals who persist in contending that radical changes from the old order of things are not necessary, are only imitating the alleged habit of the ostrich of burying its head in the sand, or the proclivity of the Bourbons, to forget nothing and learn nothing.

Major Harold Daniels of Washington street recently brought to our office a copy of the Newton Directory published in 1884 at the office of the NEWTON GRAPHIC by the then publishers of the paper, Henry M. and Frank H. Burt. The latter is still a resident of Newton. The population of Newton in 1884 was 19,483; divided as follows: Newton, 4251; Nonantum, 1839; Newtonville, 2297; West Newton, 3206; Auburndale, 1943; Lower Falls, 621; Chestnut Hill, 239; Newton Centre, 2710; Newton Highlands, 744;

Upper Falls, 1436; Oak Hill, 197. Waban, as a village, was not then recognized. It was considered as part of West Newton, Lower Falls or Upper Falls and apart from a few houses, contained only the poor farm and the Pine Farm School. The South Side of the city certainly has increased in population since 1884.

In the 1884 directory is listed 15 blacksmith shops, 7 carriage makers, 51 dressmakers, 6 harness makers, 7 hay and grain dealers, 20 milkmen (who owned their cows), 2 soap manufacturers, 11 livery stables, 8 stove dealers, 7 wheelwrights. There were no automobile dealers or garage repair shops listed in that directory. Neither were there any electricians, radio shops or moving picture theatres.

Coming events cast their shadows before them. The next Newton Mayoralty election is over 14 months away, but its shadows are already appearing.

Held for Grand Jury for Taking Automobile

Joseph Pendergast of 24 Chestnut st., West Newton, was arraigned in the Newton court yesterday on charges of stealing an automobile, larceny of a tire and operating a car after his license had been revoked. He was held for the Grand Jury in $2500 bonds. It is alleged that on the night of Aug. 25, Pendergast took a car owned by Archibald Barron, a spare wheel and tire which were missing when the car was recovered were left at a filling station in Framingham as security for gasoline purchased, according to Pendergast. A Belmont policeman testified that he noticed the car in that town after receiving information of its theft and its registration numbers. He chased the car into Watertown before capturing Pendergast. The latter claimed that the owner of the car had allowed him to take it.

Hold Shower For Mary E. MacDonald

On Tuesday evening a shower was held for Mary E. MacDonald of 377 Linwood ave., Newtonville, at the home of Mary D. McDonald, 16 Church-st., Newtonville. She received many useful and valuable gifts. A musical program was enjoyed, games were played and a collation served. The house was decorated in pink and white. Miss MacDonald is to marry Christopher Atkins of Newton on Oct. 20.

Annual Gathering of Needlework Guild Oct. 18

The annual ingathering of the Newton Branch of the Needlework Guild will be held Oct. 18, at 2:30 at the Channing Church Parish House, Vernon and Eldredge sts., Newton. The speaker will be the Hon. Herbert Parsons, Director of the Massachusetts Child Council. There will be music and tea will be served. The officers of the Newton Branch are: Honorary President, Mrs. John W. Byers; President, Miss Margaret Ball; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Mary T. Bushnell, Mrs. Samuel Thurber, Mrs. Samuel F. Brewer, Mrs. Samuel T. Douglas; Treasurer, Mrs. James D. Bennett; Secretary, Mrs. John M. Powell. This organization is non-sectarian, open to all, and holds a very important place in the welfare work of Newton. It is the charity which helps other charities. All of the articles which are collected are used in Newton, being distributed throughout the various welfare agencies. The only requirement to become a member of the Needlework Guild is the donation of two new articles of wearing apparel or household linen or a sum of money once a year. No gift is too small to make one a member.

Local News

Every business man and business firm that believes the conspicuous display of the Blue Eagle has played a prominent part in the nation's progress towards recovery, will wish to secure one of the new lithographed posters which are now being distributed by the Local Retail Code Authority. The poster is a striking one, in three colors, designed by Charles Colner, the artist, who sketched the original Blue Eagle.

Each firm or individual, possessing a Blue Eagle Card, is entitled to one of these posters. There is no cost connected with securing your poster. Call in person or write or telephone to Local Retail Code Authority, 277 Washington St., Newton, telephone Newton 4077, and upon presenting evidence of possession of the Code Eagle, the poster will be delivered to you. Because of its beauty, the poster will prove a welcome addition to advertising in window displays. It is anticipated that within a short time, its use will be almost as general as was the spontaneous showing of the original Blue Eagle, when it was first released to the country a little more than a year ago.

You cannot make too much display of the Blue Eagle. That it has great value, when intelligently used, is beyond dispute. It is a constant reminder that continued co-operation is essential if we are to continue to advance along the road to complete recovery.

PRESIDENT GOMEZ GREETSS MAURETANIA'S PASSENGERS

When the Mauretania calls at La Guaira, Venezuela, most of her passengers ascend to the country's mountain-top capital, Caracas, high above the level of the sea. On her recent cruise the passengers visiting Caracas were greeted by President Gomez, who not only delivered an address of welcome but also dined with them.

ONE THING... AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Sweeping glances and burning indignation alone won't remove fallen leaves from the front lawn.

Chivalry is not dead, although it has received some terrible wallops. The incident I am thinking about might have had a happier ending. Life, however, is life—in Newton and elsewhere. Returning from Boston by trolley late one night, a young married woman expected to find her husband in Nonantum square, as they had planned. He was delayed—legitimately, and therefore not on hand. No taxi in sight, the wife decided to walk. Brave enough among the stores she proceeded up Centre street. The only person in sight was a man she had frequently seen exercising his dog and who at that moment was doing that very thing. Mustering up courage she asked the man if he would accompany her to her door. He was glad to do it. The grateful woman told her husband and suggested he thank the man. Meeting the modern knight a day or two later, the husband began his speech of thanks and appreciation with a facetious reference. Unfortunately, he was mistaken in his notion that the man knew his wife's identity. "You came to the aid of a lady in distress the other night," the husband started off. "Yeah," interrupted the other. "I walked home with a woman who said her husband was going to meet her and didn't. And what a homely mug she was."

Regard this as a slur if you will, it's bound to make you think. A friend of mine who lives in London wrote me of his visit this Summer to Aberdeen. After praising the people he says, "Here on the street I inadvertently jostled a youth of about 18, and when I apologized in my best West End manner by saying, 'So sorry, old chap,' the bright-eyed Scottish lad replied, 'That's O. K., chief.' What marvelous educational advantages your Hollywood does give the world!"

Holiday Harvest

Few can remain in the country or at the seashore the best part of the summer, or travel either, without getting a collection of this or that. It may be only some new ideas. However, upon return to Newton there is usually something which shows, in part at least, how the holidays were spent. Frequently the accumulation is exhibited. It gratifies one's vanity and may edify the neighbors.

The baby of the family—the most important member and therefore first on the list—gathered seashells. Flat, round, white, cream, black and brown they were fragile and awkward to handle when it came to packing up for home. But baby insisted and so they were no part of the luggage. "Sonny" gathered toy boats, implements for big boats and a quantity of fishing tackle. He was persuaded to leave them behind when assured they would be safely stored and easily available next summer.

Mother picked up some wonderful cooking suggestions from the natives. In fact, she paid liberally to learn how to prepare some of those delicious and mysterious dishes which have brought fame to some New Englanders and indigestion and dyspepsia to many others. But Mother believes a true housewife should be an accomplished cook.

As to Father! He's not proud nor ashamed of his Summer. Let him tell the story: "What did I collect this Summer? Huh, I picked up all the tacks on the road driving back and forth. I also got a couple of summonses for speeding. And I don't know how many 'thumbers' I could have picked up and didn't. Oh, I wasn't stingy. There were several hitchhikers who looked deserving. Most of them were disappointing. Told hard luck stories and tried to touch me for anything from 10 cents to $5."

"My principal collection this year, as every year, was bills. How they jack-up prices for everything in those summer places. Food, water, gas, electricity, telephone. The garage had its schedule of summer prices and so did the drug store. If you could see the pile of bills on my desk you'd say it was great vacation for collecting."

The Postman Rings Once

The provisions of the law against illegal parking have been changed and among other things the letter carrier has become a sort of assistant policeman. It isn't going to make things any easier for him or for us to have court summons sent through the mails. As a matter of truth I'd much rather have a policeman after me than a letter carrier. The latter keeps posted on addresses and is not as easy to fool. A policeman may have a summons for you and if he doesn't find you he returns it and explains that the person was not known there or was not to be found at his last place of abode. He wants to get the communication off his hands. He'll hunt day and night until he learns the proper address. You can't lie to a letter carrier; besides he might have a letter that you really wanted.

The next change that is going to make a difference to some of us is the elimination of tags. Although most people preferred to avoid them there were those who courted them in order that they might tear them up in defiance of the law and to show that they had a pull with the police or influential politicians who are close to friends with the chief. The most successful tag racket was that operated for years with success but which now seems a thing of the past. A person whose car was tagged preserved the tag. It wasn't required that he turn it in so there was no reason he should not hang on to it if he wanted. Having paid the penalty for a single offence he made sure it never happened again. His method was simple. Driving into a restricted area where he was practically certain to be tagged he produced the ancient tag from his pocket, tied it to the driving-wheel and went about his business. If a snooping policeman came along he would see that the car had already been tagged, which was O. K. by him. When the "parker" got ready to leave he would take the tag off and put it away for use another day. This scheme, however, is apparently blown-up since the tags are to give way to valentines.

Three Injured in Crash at Centre

Cars driven by Robert Morse of Harvard, Mass., and William Bransfield of South Natick collided at Beacon and Walnut sts. on Wednesday night at 8:20. This is an intersection with a clear view from all approaches. Morse and his wife received fractured shoulders and other injuries. Bransfield received an injury to a knee. They were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 7.

The Golden Text is: "All that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever" (1 John 2:16, 17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God; but he that doeth evil hath not seen God" (III John 1:11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Evil is a negation, because it is the absence of truth. It is nothing, because it is the absence of something. It is unreal, because it presupposes the absence of God, the omnipotent and omnipresent. Every mortal must learn that there is neither power nor reality in evil" (p. 186).

MORTGAGEE'S SALE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by William Regan, as Trustee of the Needham Realty Trust, under a Declaration of Trust dated February 9, 1933, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5713, Page 255, to David H. Dane, which mortgage is dated April 5, A. D. 1934, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5807, Page 533, of which mortgage the undersigned is the owner and holder, for breach of the conditions in said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on Saturday, October 27, 1934, at two o'clock in the afternoon, on the mortgaged premises, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage and therein described substantially as follows: "The land in that part of Newton, Massachusetts, known as Waban, comprising the whole of Lot 5A and the larger portion of Lot 4 as shown on the plan entitled 'Relocation of Homewood Road in Waban, Mass.', dated Nov. 1929, drawn by Everett M. Brooks, Civil Engineer, which plan is filed with said Deeds, Book 5522, Page 478, and said parcel is bounded and further described as follows: Southerly by Homewood Road as shown on said plan, one hundred and forty feet; Westerly by the remaining portion of said Lot 4, one hundred and thirteen feet, more or less; Northwesterly by land of owner unknown, eighty and 24/100 feet; Northeasterly by land now or formerly of Matthews, Locke and Gilmore, one hundred and seventy-two feet; and Southeasterly by Lot 6A on said plan, one hundred and thirty-seven feet, more or less; containing 21,010 square feet, more or less. Being a part of the same premises conveyed to me by deed to be recorded herewith. The above described land is now conveyed subject to the restrictions contained in the title deeds, so far as the same are now in force and applicable, and subject also to the Zoning Ordinances of the City of Newton. This conveyance includes all stove ranges, furnaces, radiators, plumbing goods, gas and electric fixtures, shades, screens, pipes, boilers, tanks, screen doors, awnings, storm doors and storm windows which are now or may hereafter be on or wrought into or affixed to said premises; and the grantor covenants that nothing above named or referred to has been or shall be purchased upon a contract of conditional sale. Together with and subject to all usual rights of way in, to and over Homewood Road as shown on said plan, in common with others having similar rights therein."

The premises will be sold subject to any unpaid taxes, tax titles and other municipal liens and assessments, if any. Five hundred dollars in cash will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale; other terms will be announced at the sale.

New Telephone Service For West Newton

Starting next Monday, October 8th business transactions affecting the West Newton telephone exchange will be transacted through the Waltham office, 5 Crescent street, Waltham, under the management of James R. Poach. The Waltham office has been enlarged to provide for this service, which will include the payment of bills, applications for repairs and service, entering of claims and other business. Such business has heretofore been transacted through the Brookline office and the change is expected to provide added convenience for subscribers of the West Newton exchange. The new service will also relieve conditions at the Newton North exchange. This exchange will continue, under the management of Eugene Campbell, to handle the business of Newton North, Middlesex and Brighton exchanges.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Governor Brann discussed the three problems facing his State: "We believe," he declared, "that revision of the tax system is absolutely necessary, and I feel convinced we shall work it out during the next legislative session. We must organize also to protect the industries in New England that have made New England great, or we are in danger of losing them in this era."

The other speakers made similar points, and it is to be regretted that they cannot be quoted, due to lack of space.

Professor Robert E. Rogers, of the Institute of Technology, as might have been expected, aroused his audience into agreement and disagreement on Wednesday afternoon, discussing literature, writers, and conditions.

"New England," he said, "is still interested in real people. As far as I know, we have no important psychologists. We have not much satire, and we have no propaganda fiction. I believe we have produced nothing of the sort of thing particularly concocted for the Hollywood scenario or the New York drug store."

"The poets of New England," he felt, "had exceeded the novelists when it came to ranking as great writers in the United States, although, he believed, that Kenneth Roberts was outstanding and deserved special mention for his tremendous research, enormous capacity for detail and knowledge of background, and he declared that Gladys Carroll should have had last year's Pulitzer prize for "As the Earth Turns."

On Thursday morning, at the closing session, two speakers made telling points—perhaps one of these being the outstanding speaker in presenting his ideas. A. Lawren Brown, of the American Association for Economic Education, urged—and he must have inspired—the clubwomen to pioneer for courses in money management in their local schools.

He cited Brookline as the sole community in the United States or Canada "in which a completely co-ordinated course on scientific money management is enforced."

"Information about stocks and finance is more necessary for children's future welfare and happiness and for the stability of the nation than all the information a child will ever get about the color of a bird's legs or the length of a bird's tail," he protested. "We are graduating 2,000,000 financial illiterates each year. We teach how to earn money but we do not teach what to do with money after they have earned it."

He recommended a program of money management instructing children to open checking accounts in sound banks, operate savings accounts in the same types of banks, establish reserves to protect their families, invest in life and other forms of insurance, and to buy good bonds and stocks over a sufficient geographical area and variety of industries to prevent total paralysis of income by a single or regional failure.

He declared: "You all know families that never had an income of more than $1500 a year, yet they have been able to buy and pay for a home, educate a number of children, attend good plays, good concerts, read good books, take good magazines, contribute to all worthy causes, lay up something for a rainy day."

"You also know other families that have had an income of $5000 or $10,000 or $20,000 a year for many years, who have done none of these things, are always in debt, and always unhappy."

"What is the difference? Simply a matter of money management."

"Our experience in 1929 proves two things: The great need of education in money management; second, the fact that the more money American people make the less money they have at the end of the year. In 1929, every single group earning income, beginning with those who made a million dollars and over to those who had a thousand dollars and under, spent more than they earned."

"No group saved, no group lived within its income, every single group plunged head over heels into debt. Let us not fool ourselves that we are going to start to save money when times get good. We never do. Times are bad. If the American people had been trained in money management, we would have saved a great deal of money, and we would not have contracted debts, because we would all have lived inside our incomes."

The Conference came to a close with the presentation of the officers for the next year, all of whom were re-elections, except Mrs. William J. McDonald, of Boston, chairman of the Publicity committee, who steps out at her own request, and is replaced by Mrs. Clifton Thornley, of Rhode Island, where the Conference of 1935 will be held. Mrs. Smith continues as chairman; Mrs. Albert E. Chittenden, vice-chairman, Maine; Mrs. Lewis J. Hathaway, secretary-treasurer, Vermont; Mrs. Thornley, publicist, Rhode Island; and Mrs. Frank J. Olson, auditor, Rhode Island. Mrs. Smith appointed Mrs. Joseph S. Leach of Walpole head of the Nominating committee for 1935. Mrs. Wayne S. Smith of Connecticut was nominated by the Board as a second member of the Nominating committee and Mrs. George Morris of New Hampshire was named from the floor as the third member of the committee.

Several Newton Portias, both graduates and students of Portia Law School, attended the Portia Supper and Rally held on Tuesday at the Twentieth Century Club. Among those present were the Misses Virginia Hanscom of Waban avenue, Carol Hansen of Sheswick road and Mrs. Margaret H. Bauer of Winchester rd.

Housecleaning Time!

"Century of Progress" improvements are very evident when housecleaning begins. Modern homemakers . . . in greater numbers than ever before . . . are taking advantage of the specialized help that is instantly available at the Lake Waban Laundry.

Blankets

Creamy suds of pure soap . . . many changes of water . . . thorough rinsing . . . properly controlled and uniform water temperature . . . slow drying . . . gentle brushing and finishing . . . these are the secrets that make Lake Waban Laundered Blankets a delight. No matter how carefully the work is done at home . . . it is impossible to give blankets the benefit of this scientific care that prolongs their warmth and beauty.

Rugs

Proper cleaning and shampooing now will remove the accumulated dust and dirt of summer . . . brighten the rich colors . . . to add pleasure to indoor hours. Estimates gladly given.

Curtains

There's something about Lake Waban Laundered Curtains that catches the eye. "How lovely your windows look" is praise our customers often hear. Each fabric is given special care . . . measurements insure the correct size when finished. Edges are straight. The curtains drape softly . . . yet are crisp enough to stay clean longer. Try them . . . and you'll agree your curtains never before looked so well.

Pillows

Dreams are . . . saner on pillows that are fragrantly sweet . . . free from dust . . . perspiration . . . and other evidence of daily use. Have yours Lake Waban Laundered now.

Sanitane Cleaning for overdraperies and hangings of all sorts . . . the cleaning of lamp shades and upholstered furniture . . . the laundering of bedspreads and other things that add beauty to the home . . . all these are among the Housecleaning Helps that are as close as your telephone.

None of this work is costly. Ask the Lake Waban Man to tell you how inexpensively you may enjoy it!

Mrs. Walton S. Redfield, Commissioner for the Newton Girl Scouts, is entertaining the Newton Girl Scout Council, committees and troop officers at her home on Wednesday afternoon, October 10th. Miss Alice Conway, member Girl Scout National Staff will be the principal speaker. Her subject will be the Girl Scout National Convention to be held at the Hotel Statler, Boston, October 24-26. A Girl Scout troop with Miss Margaret E. Adams as Captain, is meeting at Newton Headquarters. This troop is for Senior High School girls only, from Newton, Newton Centre, Auburndale, and West Newton villages where there are no senior troops at present. This troop will go to Camp Mary Day on Friday, October 5, for an overnight hike. This will start the fall overnight program which is always such a popular part of the Girl Scout program during the spring and fall.

Chestnut Hill Apartments Being Extensively Remodeled

The Chestnut Hill Apartments at 219 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, are located in an exclusive, single residence neighborhood just beyond Lake street, near Boston College, and located among private estates of character and quality.

This building is now being remodelled into efficiency apartments of one to four rooms, with 1934 improvements. Nearly all the apartments have two exposures and log burning fireplaces.

Keeping all the old world charm of its Chateau Frontenac exterior, the interior is 1934. There are two "Studio" apartments consisting of a large living room, and a large studio chamber, with north light, atelier type. Each bathroom is equipped with shower. Air-cooled Electrolux refrigeration, and high speed insulated gas ranges feature the rubber-tiled kitchens. Clever new decoration ideas increase the attractiveness of these model apartments.

All the piping in the building is iron sized copper for clean water. The hot water system is of the Ever Ready type—instantly available at the turn of the faucet. New Kohler and Standard plumbing fixtures.

Closets galore! Some are ten feet wide and are electrically lighted. Many have built-in chest of drawers. Many of the bathrooms contain special built-in linen closets. The medicine cabinets are three times as large as the average. The rooms are large. Some of the living rooms are 20x15 and the chambers 22x12. Many of the apartments look out on the Manet road Reservoir, and those on the Boston College side have excellent exposure. The building is rapidly nearing completion and several model apartments are now ready for inspection.

Prohibition Party To Hold Public Meeting

ASTHMA? Read This—

Somerville, Mass., July 5, 1932.
Dear Sir:—Having been a sufferer from asthma for the past twenty-five years and during that time have used dozens of other remedies with very unsatisfactory results I am writing to tell you of the wonderful benefit that Overseas Asthma Preparation has been to me.

During the months of June, July and August for the past twenty-five years I have spent at least half of the time in bed.

About a year ago a friend of mine gave me a bottle of your medicine and ever since then I have noticed a steady improvement in my health.

Club Season Opens Actively At Highlands

Mrs. H. Herbert Hale, first vice-president, presided at the opening meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, Tuesday, October 2nd, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Chester W. Tudbury, who is ill. Brief report was given by Mrs. F. Lyman Wells of the State Federation meetings held at Swampscott in May and September. The Scholarship committee reported that the successful contestant for the scholarship, Miss Martha Silveira, expecting to enter Wellesley College, has been forced to abandon her intended program for the coming winter because of sickness, so the scholarship is being withheld for this year. However, a scholarship for fifty dollars was awarded to Miss Elizabeth Stone who will attend Framingham Normal School.

Mrs. Odin C. Mackay, adviser to the Junior Club, stated that the Juniors would hold an evening meeting at the Workshop on October 9th, at which time Mr. Ernest Beaufort, of the Christian Science Monitor, would be the speaker. A Bridge Party is also scheduled for the afternoon of October 19th.

Three soprano solos were rendered by Mrs. Ray S. Kelley, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond A. Simonds. Following this, Mrs. Hale introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Stone MacDonald whose topic was "Happier Living." Mrs. MacDonald is well remembered as the founder of the famous Priscilla Proving Plant, as well as the author of many books on economics and research subjects as relating to the operating of a successful home. At present she is manager of the Consumers' Research Division of General Motors Subsidiary, and consultant for the Tennessee Valley Authority, which is a project touching more than eight hundred families living in seven different states, for which the United States has appropriated several millions of dollars, in an endeavor to establish a means of livelihood and of better living conditions for the coal miners and others whose industries are now in peril. Mrs. MacDonald emphasized the fact that the art of happier living is denied to no one if he will but take advantage of what lies before him. Art is not a misty something that a few people have. It is a desire to grow. It is an integral part of one's existence—that something which enables one to get a fresh viewpoint on one's own life, and takes one into the realm of human personality leading to adventures in human relationship. Science, art, life, and religion are all one life is happy, and they cannot be torn apart. Every day is a fresh space in which one may employ the principles of fine design, giving ever a great privilege for the tomorrow. She stated there are three degrees of appreciation essential if we are true artists—recognition, romance and lastly revelation, and we must learn to see below the surface manifestation to understand what a man does, rather than what he says.

After Mrs. MacDonald's talk, refreshments were served under the direction of Miss Marion H. Dorr, hostess, and Mrs. Ernest R. Adams, chairman of Hospitality.

October 30th, November 13th, and November 27th, at 10 o'clock, are the dates for the Book Reviews by Dr. Miriam Franc Skirball, at the Workshop, the Course tickets for which are one dollar.

Organists' Club Holds Meeting in West Newton

The Women Organists' Club of Boston met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Laurence A. Sprague, 17 Perkins st., West Newton. Following the business meeting Mrs. Harry Belmont Hill, soloist of the Newton M. E. Church rendered several songs. She was in attractive colonial costume. Mrs. Sprague, organist and director of the Newton Church, gave a short resume of her visit to English Cathedrals this summer. The next meeting of the club will be held in the Copley M. E. Church in Boston in November, where a travelogue recital on Oberammergau will be presented. Mrs. Marion P. Louisell, the president, in charge.

Woman Claims Tenant Pushed Her Down Stairs

Richard Whoolley, 30, of 105 Pearl st., Newton, was arrested Monday morning by Inspector King and Special Officer Feeley following a complaint by Mrs. Dennis Coffey of 105 Pearl st. Mrs. Coffey alleges that Whoolley, who was a tenant in her house, pushed her down a flight of stairs, causing her to receive injuries. Whoolley, who had been a tenant in the house for a couple of years, was moving out and Mrs. Coffey went to collect some rent which she claims was owed. Whoolley was arraigned in the Newton court Monday on a charge of assault and battery. The case was continued to October 4.

F. A. Day Is Elected Pres. of Newton "Y"

Succeeds Mr. F. D. Fuller, 13 Years President

At the October meeting of the Directors of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. Frank Ashley Day was elected President to succeed Mr. Frederic Dana Fuller who tendered his resignation after thirteen and a half years of faithful service. Mr. Frederic B. Eastman was chosen Vice-President.

Both Mr. Day and Mr. Eastman have been active in work for boys and young men in Newton and are well qualified to assume the leadership of Association activities.

The Directors pledged their loyalty to the new officers and expressed to Mr. Fuller, retiring President, their appreciation and the appreciation of the members and officers of the association for his long and faithful service.

Mr. Fuller, while retiring from the responsibilities of office, will continue to serve the Association as a director.

Paul Fitzgerald Badly Injured In Auto Crash

Paul R. Fitzgerald of 86 Jewett st., Newton, a well known Newton undertaker, was seriously injured shortly after midnight last Friday morning when his car swerved on a curve on Route 128, during the heavy fog, left the highway and crashed into a tree. The accident happened in Canton near the intersection of Green Lodge rd. and Route 128. The force of the impact shattered the steering wheel of the car and caused Mr. Fitzgerald to have his chest bone fractured and several ribs broken. He was pinned in the car and before he lost consciousness he sounded the horn on the car a number of times to attract attention. Passing autoists noticed the wreck and after being extricated from the car, Mr. Fitzgerald was taken to the Newton Hospital. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

Burglary at West Newton

The home of Lieut. Walter E. Holden of the United States Navy was broken into and ransacked over the week-end. Entrance was effected by forcing a rear door at the house at 71 Walden street, West Newton. The loot included some jewelry and medals which Lieut. Holden had received. The family was away when the burglary occurred.

Another Ward 1 Candidate For Alderman

Richard H. Lee of 15 Weldon rd., Newton, has announced that he will be a candidate for Alderman-at-Large from Ward 1 at the city election in December. He was born at Foxcroft, Me., 32 years ago, and graduated from Bowdoin College in 1924. He taught school for a year at Colby Academy, and then entered Harvard Law School, graduating in 1928. He is associated with the law firm of Brickley, Sears & Cole in Boston and is a member of the faculty of Northeastern University. He holds the rank of Captain of Coast Artillery in the Officers' Reserve Corps. He is married, has one child and has been a resident of Newton for 5 years.

F. O. Stanley In Auto Crash On Pike at Danvers

Freeland O. Stanley of 337 Waverley avenue, Newton was involved in a collision on Wednesday on the Newburyport turnpike at Danvers. The car he was driving, and a car driven by Mrs. Lena Joyce of Danvers collided. Mr. Stanley was not injured. Mr. Stanley and his twin brother, the late Frank E. Stanley, were among the pioneer automobile manufacturers of this country. They were the first to make automobiles in quantity; having parts made for 200 steam carriages of a similar model. Mr. Stanley is 58 years of age; one of the oldest automobile operators in Massachusetts, and probably the first man, now living, to drive an automobile in this State.

Another Burglary At Farlow Hill Section, Newton

The residence of Edward O. Loring at 8 Shorncliffe rd., Newton, was burglarized on last Friday night and loot to the value of several hundred dollars stolen. The articles taken included clothing and jewelry. The family was away when the burglary occurred and was discovered by Mr. Loring when he returned to the house on Friday at midnight. Mrs. Loring is visiting in California and the extent of the loot will not be known until she has been communicated with. Entrance was made by breaking a pane of glass in a rear door. The home of Mr. Loring's sister, Miss Rose Loring of 115 Shorncliffe rd., was burglarized about a month ago. Two Brighton youths were convicted for this theft.

Auto Insurance Law Is Burden On Car Owner

Insurance Counsel Tells Rotarians of Rackets Created By It

"The Compulsory Insurance Law of Massachusetts has created the most gigantic racket that this state has ever had," declared John W. Downs, Boston lawyer and legislative counsel for the Insurance Federation in his talk to the Rotarians at their weekly meeting on Monday at the Braeburn Club. "What has happened since the bill became law in 1927 is exactly what Henry Shattuck, treasurer of Harvard College and member of the legislature so accurately foretold in his fight against the bill." Year after year, from 1918 to 1925, a compulsory insurance bill was rejected on Beacon Hill until the present bill became a law. The insurance companies continuously argued against its adoption.

"Theoretically," said the speaker, "the compulsory insurance legislation reads all right, but in practice it has certainly been a great failure. Deaths and injuries have increased instead of decreased due to the irresponsibility of drivers which the law engenders. Exaggerated claims and illegal registrations have increased the cost of insurance and imposed a burden on the average owner. The speaker presented many figures to back up his statement. No other state has a compulsory insurance law and the plan has been rejected by one progressive state after another and a financial responsibility has adopted instead. A Canadian commission sent to Boston to investigate the workings of the Massachusetts law went back to Canada strongly advising against it and the Dominion wisely acted according to these findings. "When this whole matter of accidents is put back to where it belongs, on the shoulders of the operators themselves, then we shall have some relief," said the speaker in conclusion.

Donnell Carr, manager of the Woolworth store of Newton Centre, was welcomed into the membership of the club. Among the nine present, one—Basil Matthews—is a member of the Folkestone, England, club, a lecturer at Andover-Newton and Boston University this semester.

Mail Truck Hits Boy At Newton Centre

A U. S. mail truck driven by John Vahey of Watertown hit Robert Oaks, 10, of 14 Crystal street, Newton Centre, on Monday afternoon at Beacon street and Hancock avenue, Newton Centre. The boy was slightly injured. Vahey reported that the Oaks boy was being pursued by other boys and ran off the sidewalk into the side of the truck.

Reception And Banquet for New St. Commissioner

On next Thursday evening, October 18th, at the Continental Hotel, 25 Garden st., Cambridge, a reception and banquet will be tendered Street Commissioner Charles A. Mahoney by his associates and friends. The reception will start at 7 o'clock and the banquet at 7:30. A large gathering is assured to honor the popular new Street Commissioner. The general committee is headed by A. Leslie Moriarty, chairman, and Richard A. Murphy, secretary-treasurer.

Protest Against Liquor License At Lower Falls

The Newton License Commission has received protests from pastors and members of churches at Newton Lower Falls against the granting of a liquor license to Max Talent of 192 Townsend street, Roxbury. Talent has applied for a license to sell malt and wine beverages in connection with a restaurant to be located at 2297 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls. The protests have been made by Rev. Edwin Fairweather of the Perrin Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church and members of that church, by members of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The village of Lower Falls is partly in Newton and partly in Wellesley. The business section of the village is contiguous, separated by the Charles River at Washington street. The Methodist and Episcopal churches are on the Newton side, but the majority of their parishioners reside on the Wellesley side. Wellesley voted against granting licenses for the sale of liquor at the election last year. Some months ago many of the persons now protesting against the granting of the license to Talent, protested unsuccessfully against the granting of a license for the sale of liquor in packages at Newton Lower Falls.

Gets Jail Term For Starting Row At Nonantum

Nicholas Lupo of 60 Capitol street, Watertown, was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in Middlesex County prison on the first charge, and fined $10 on the second. John Keaveney of 299 Centre st., Newton, was found not guilty of disturbing the peace. Patrolman Walker testified that he had investigated the case after having arrested both, and found that Lupo had assaulted Keaveney.

Public Course in Current Events At Newtonville

A committee of Newtonville women, in conjunction with the activities of the Newtonville Women's Club, announces a series of eight current events lectures to be held on Thursday mornings at the clubhouse on Washington Park at 10:15. Admission will not be restricted to club members but is open to all women of the Newtons. Mrs. J. Mace Andrews of Clyde st., Newtonville, is in charge of tickets. The lectures will be given on Oct. 18, Nov. 1, 15, and 22, Jan. 17 and 31, and Feb. 7 and 28.

The lecturer will be Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor who has a first-hand knowledge of her subject and information through contacts and officials in all parts of the world. Her unusual personality gives to her course an added measure of interest.

Accuses Newton Police of Brutal Assault in Arrest

Mayor Exonerates Policeman On Newton Man's Charge

Following complaints made by Irwin F. White of 23 Cabot street, Newton, that he had been brutally assaulted Sunday night by Patrolman Harold Hoyt of the Newton police, an investigation was conducted by Chief of Police Hughes, the findings submitted to Mayor Weeks, and Hoyt was exonerated by the officials of the charges made against him by White. The latter is 35 years of age and a man of slight physique. He was arrested on Sunday night about 11:20 by Patrolmen Barr and Hoyt on the charge of drunkenness, while the policemen were on Peabody street in a cruising car.

White, in letters to the Mayor and Chief Hughes stated that he was taken to the cellar of Engine 1 fire station on Washington street, where there is a sub-police station, punched several times in the face by Hoyt, thrown to the floor and kicked, and then grabbed by the throat and his head knocked against the wall. He said that as a result his forehead was split, he received a black eye, his face was injured, his legs bruised and he was rendered unconscious. He appeared in the Newton court on Monday before Judge Bacon with face bandaged. He said that he was not drunk when arrested, but had drunk several glasses of beer.

Patrolman Barr's report of the case states that White was running away from Patrolman Thomas Whelan when arrested, and was drunk. It further states that while the prisoner was being detained in the entry at the fire station, he tripped Hoyt, ran out the door, tripped and fell on the cement walk and thus received the injury to his eye. A report made by Sergeant Michael Sullivan of the Newton police substantiates the report made by Barr. He states that when he approached the station he saw White running off, pursued by Barr and Hoyt, and saw him thrown to the sidewalk. Sullivan stated that he tried to give first aid to White for his wound near his eye, but that the prisoner struggled and would not let him attend to the cut. Sullivan said he did not see White abused.

Judge Bacon continued White's case from Monday to Tuesday. On Tuesday the judge commented that he did not think the police would have beaten White unless there was provocation. He imposed a suspended sentence to the State Farm.

Drunken Driver Fined $100

In the Newton court on Tuesday Andrew Sitar, Jr., of Plain st., Natick, was fined $100 for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. He was arrested on the Worcester pike by Patrolmen Cummings and Smith.

Mayor Weeks Asks For Traffic Signal At Newton Hlds.

He And Other Officials Appear At State House

On Wednesday the State Department of Public Works held a hearing at which officials of the City of Newton and the Town of Wellesley protested against certain conditions on the Worcester turnpike. Those representing Newton included Mayor Weeks, City Solicitor Bartlett, Alderman McKay and Senator Hollis. Mayor Weeks told of the tremendous amount of traffic on the pike and the great speeds at which vehicles are operated. He stressed the need of a traffic signal at the intersection of the pike with Walnut street, and the opening of Walnut street across the pike, and the need of a traffic signal at Woodcliff rd. Alderman McKay and Senator Hollis also spoke.

Investigator On Outside Aid To Continue

Arthur McDonald, an employee of the State Department of Public Welfare, who has been investigating "outside aid" cases the past couple of months for the Newton Welfare Department, will continue this investigation the remainder of October and Mayor Weeks has asked the Aldermen to appropriate $110 to pay McDonald's salary for the balance of this month. McDonald has discovered a number of cases of persons residing outside of Newton who have been receiving aid from this city to which they were not entitled.

City Must Pay Part of Cost of W. Newton Bridge

The expense of building the new bridge over the Boston & Albany railroad tracks at Washington street, West Newton will not be borne entirely by the financially burdened railroad. As a result of a decision by the Superior Court, the railroad will pay 55 percent of the cost, the city of Newton 35 percent and the County of Middlesex 10 percent. The city must also pay for the cost of removing and replacing the water main at the bridge. The estimated cost of the rebuilding of this bridge is $54,000.

C. H. Walker Delivers Dedication Address

The sunlight of a beautiful October day was a most appropriate setting for the dedication of the Chancel Window in the Union Church in Waban, Sunday morning last. The theme of the new chancel window is the Living Christ and His Relationship with People, or as it might otherwise be expressed, the Universality of Christ's Appeal.

Mr. Clifford Walker made the dedication address and the Rev. Charles H. Cutler offered the prayer of dedication.

Mr. Walker spoke as follows:

"One ancient letter from the Archbishop of Power describes the building of Chartres Cathedral in the 12th century. The work was done with an intensity of religious fervor which has seldom been equalled. Rich and poor, young and old, princes and subjects, harnessed themselves to the wagons which drew from the quarries, five miles away, the huge blocks of stone of which the church was built. In great processions marched men, women and children, each bringing to the site of the building his offering of materials or of provisions for the workers."

"I like to think that the window in our chancel, the glorious blue of which resembles that of some of the windows in Chartres was made possible by a similar effort of our congregation."

"First of all, the idea of having a new window was not the conception of any one mind, but the result of almost simultaneous expressions of hope or desire on the part of various persons who had the church often in their thoughts."

"Then the assembling of the required funds has gone on for several years, and has involved general and widespread effort on the part of many. In this has joined every organization of our church—the Women's Association, the Church School, the Forum, the Comrades of the Way, the Choir. The project appealed to all, the response was cordial and enthusiastic. Small gifts were volunteered by many, some in memory of former members of the congregation. The few who were asked to complete the fund did so rather as the sharing of a privilege than as the result of any persuasion."

"Finally, the working out of the plans, the selection of the material, the choice of an artist and the approval of a design were entrusted to a committee representing the church, the Society, the Women's Association and the Trustees. This committee consulted frequently with your ministers, with the architect of the Church, with associate architects and with those in our midst, such as Prof. (Continued on Page 3)

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

GOAL LINE STAND STAVES OFF DEFEAT FROM LYNN ENGLISH

Newton High and Lynn English High battled to a scoreless tie game Monday afternoon at the Dickinson Stadium, Newtonville, when the heavy rain on Saturday caused postponement of the scheduled affair. Neither team was in scoring position until very late in the game when the visitors received a loose ball in the shadow of the Newton goal. With a first down on the eight-yard line and a five-yard plunge, it seemed as though three more rushes would surely produce the score that would give Lynn the game. The second play put the ball on the one-yard line and the third carried it within inches of the goal as the Newton forward line stiffened to meet the attack. That third play caused some confusion in the minds of some who thought that Lynn English had scored. Szumski had taken the ball, hit the line hard and his head and shoulders had crossed the line. The referee ruled however that the ball had not reached the goal line, making it fourth down and one more chance. The ball was again snapped back to Szumski and when he fumbled it as he tried to tuck it under his arm, two Newton linemen pounced upon it to save the day. With but a few minutes of play remaining, Newton took to the air in an attempt to shake a runner loose for a long gain. The second pass was intercepted and Lynn had another opportunity which was thwarted when several passes were incomplete and Newton took the ball again on downs at its own 20-yard line after a fourth down pass over the goal. A few minutes later play ended.

Newton had two possible chances to score. The first came early in the game when the Newton line crashed through to block a Lynn punt on the third play after the kickoff. Lynn recovered the ball and its next kick set Newton back to midfield. The second opportunity came early in the final period. Coach Sanborn sent his second stringers in at the start of this session and a march was started. Reeling off three first downs in a row from the Newton 35-yard stripe to the Lynn 27-yard line, the Newton team finally surrendered the ball on downs. Coach Sanborn sent his first team back in again but they could not hold the advantage and a long punt by Harmon, Lynn end who dropped back to do the kicking, sailed over Moore's head to the Newton 10-yard line. Moore ran it back to the 22, but on the next play a lateral pass to Savignano went wrong and McCullough, Lynn guard, won in the scramble for possession of the ball to set the stage for the unavailing assault on the Newton goal line.

Newton had much the better of the game from a rushing standpoint gaining a total of 88 yards to but 2 for the visitors. Newton also had a 6 to 2 edge in first downs with one of the Lynn first downs coming on a 25-yard pass and the other on two successive offside penalties against Newton. Five of Newton's first downs were made by rushing the ball, one because of a Lynn penalty and none by the air route. Newton attempted but five passes of which none were completed and two were intercepted. Lynn tried thirteen passes, completed one and had one intercepted by Myers, Newton quarterback. Lynn had the edge in the punting end of the game which was a great aid in offsetting Newton's rushing advantage. Repeatedly the Lynn punter would boot the ball over the Newton safety backs heads. On one occasion Sargent Moore, Newton fullback, chased a ball to the two yard line where it looked as though it might have had enough momentum to carry it over. A Lynn end was coming down fast, however, and Moore picked up the ball and rushed it out to the 10-yard stripe. Earl Savignano did some good punting for Newton though he could not match the Lynn punter's efforts. One of the Savignano's boots was good for 56 yards putting the visitors out of a threatening position.

Much of the game was played between the thirty yard line with but few thrills. In the second half Gilbert Myers got away on a long run and had a clear field ahead only to be pulled down from behind by Churmisk. The efforts of both were nullified when the officials called the ball back for an offside penalty. Numerous penalties helped to slow up the game considerably and while both teams were offending Newton was set back considerably more than the visitors.

SPORT NOTES

Huston Has Little Chance
Warren Huston had little chance to shine for Springfield last Saturday in its 14 to 0 defeat by the Boston College Eagles. Huston, the regular left halfback, was one of the four leading performers for the gymnasts but Preston Cushing of Brockton, his understudy, playing such a brilliant kicking and defensive game forced Coach Rothacker to keep him in the line-up.

Appleyard Shifted at Brown
Norman Appleyard, former Newton and Worcester Academy athlete, now starring at Brown, has been shifted from the post of a blocking back to that of a ball-carrier. He will probably play in this role against Harvard on Saturday. Last Saturday the local youth started at right halfback but later played in the fullback position.

Steers at End for Cushing
George Steers of Newtonville started at left end for Cushing Academy last Saturday in its 32 to 13 win over Huntington School.

Newton Seconds Win
The Newton junior varsity football team defeated Lexington seconds last Friday afternoon, 32 to 0.

INJURIES WEAKEN NEWTON ELEVEN FOR GAME WITH EVERETT

The postponement of the game with Lynn English from last Saturday to Monday on account of the heavy rain may have a bearing on the outcome of the annual Newton-Everett gridiron conflict this afternoon. This year the orange and black squad will travel to Everett to meet Coach Gildea's high-powered outfit which in its first two games has rolled up a total of 81 points while keeping its own goal line inviolate. Playing against Lynn English on Monday weakened the Newton squad considerably. Melvin Swig, Newton centre and a potent cog in the local defense, will probably witness most of the Everett contest from the sidelines. He suffered a bruised muscle in his side against the Lynettes and although it is possible he may be able to get into the game, Coach Sanborn will start Stewart at the pivot berth. Stewart has been constantly improving since the first of the season and against Lynn contributed his share in staving off a defeat by the visitors. Swig, a heavier and more experienced player than Stewart, nevertheless may be missed. Another local youth who will probably see the Everett contest from the sidelines is Joe Byrne, rangy right end. Byrne has a thigh injury which is handicapping his play. Coach Sanborn will take no chances and will call upon McLean to start at Byrne's position. McLean relieved Byrne quite early in the Lynn game and although the Newton coach used other players at this position McLean showed enough to warrant his chance to start against Everett.

Sargent Moore, the dusky Newton fullback, whose playing has contributed much to the Newton offence spent two days in bed since the Lynn game suffering from a severe cold. Whether he will be able to take the field against Everett will probably not be determined much before game time. The Newton coach will probably start Tommy Reardon in Moore's place unless the colored youth is in shape to go. Captain Gus Castoldi, Newton left end, has an elbow injury which is bothering him somewhat but he will probably start in his usual position.

Although forced to use an alternate starting line-up because of these handicaps the Newton squad is not dismayed. It is natural that there is little optimism in the Newton camp but it is a certainty that there is no pessimism. No Newton squad as yet has entered an Everett game the underdog and taken defeat lying down. The games between Newton and Everett many times have been historic battles and a traditional rivalry has been built up between the two schools that is close to the existing rivalry between Newton and Waltham or Newton and Brookline. The 1934 Newton squad is like every other team to wear the orange and black, full of grim determination and fight, ready to give all they have to stop the heat that Everett can throw at them. With Everett a favorite the local fans who make the journey to the Everett field will see a game Newton team forcing the issue, perhaps making the breaks come their way and possibly turning in one of the biggest upsets of the season.

Newton has one more game under its belt than Everett as the latter team postponed its scheduled contest with Salem last Saturday to the Saturday before Thanksgiving. Neither Everett nor Salem wished to play Monday and take its chances with an other hard game today with but three full days' rest. But on the other hand the postponement may have a reaction upon the Everett team play today. Facing but light opposition in its first two games against Warwick High from Rhode Island and Keith Academy, the Gildea outfit was ready for a stiff battle with Salem. The enforced idleness may do it no good. There are many chances where the postponement of a game has caused a team to let down a little and then found it hard to get going again.

A feature of the game today will be a celebration in honor of Coach Dennis Gildea of Everett. The school and Everett fans are planning to give the coach, long a popular mentor there, a "day." As a part of the ceremonies an attempt is being made to have the Redskins, Boston professional football league outfit, stage an exhibition of professional football. With many stars in the Redskins line-up an interesting feature will be presented.

SPORT NOTES

Elrod Defeated for Brown

Brown defeated Rhode Island State last Saturday, 13 to 0, after a grueling battle in the rain and mud. Perry Elrod, former Newton star, scored the first Brown touchdown. Elrod and Spiney carried the ball much of the way in a march of nearly forty yards with Elrod going over from the one-foot line. Elrod then passed to Ball at right end for the point after the touchdown. This score came in the second period. Elrod's kicking for an average of 43 yards was another feature of the game. The former Newton star was the third largest ground gainer for the Bears with 28 yards to his credit in the first half of the game. Elrod also intercepted a Rhody pass when the Nutmeggers threatened to score.

Sostilio Is Double Winner
Joe Sostilio of Newton Centre was a double winner in the automobile races at Dover, New Hampshire on Sunday. He won the five-mile race in 4 m. 24 3-5 s. and then captured the 25-mile race in 21 m. 51 2-5 s.

Y. M. C. A.

Public Speaking Class
The Public Speaking Class of the Newton Y. M. C. A. got off to a good start last Friday, October 5th, with fourteen business and professional men registered for the course. There is still room for a few more men in the class.

The second session will be postponed a week to Friday, October 19th, on account of the holiday falling on the 12th. Men may attend this second session without charge.

Wrestling
The Wrestling Team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. held its initial workout of the season Monday evening with a turnout of sixteen members. Dr. Fred E. Slimm, coach, is starting his ninth year in this capacity at the "Y." Newton "Y" holds the Y. M. C. A. Two-State wrestling championship and the squad will defend its title at the championship meet to be held at the Lynn Y. M. C. A. in March. The first big event of the season for the team will be the Open Meet which comes on Saturday, December 1st.

Among those present at the meeting Monday evening were Leo Cormier, captain for this year, Joseph I. Arsenault, Leonard Morrison, Wesley and Hardy Curran, Henry Vachon, Robert Young, Salvatore Graceffa, Tony Paglia, Guy Meyer, Ronald A. Day, and Robert Buzelle.

Track
The Newton Y. M. C. A. Cross Country Team will meet the Northeastern University Freshman team in a five mile run over the Franklin Park course on Saturday afternoon. Coach Henry C. Pierce of the "Y" plans to run Warren C. Lewis Jr., Arthur M. Jacobs, John C. Alden, Arthur Linthwaite, and John K. Morris.

Hi-Y Club Starts Season
Under the leadership of Gilbert Myers, newly elected president of the Hi-Y Club in Newton, the 14th season got under way at a fine start last Tuesday night at its first meeting this fall. Many projects were discussed and the following committees appointed:

Membership Committee: Sanders Sloan, Chairman, Caleb Roehrig, and Gus Castoldi.
Social Committee: Franklin Tower, Chairman, Robert McLean and Ben Grow.
Service Committee: Frank Johnson, Chairman, Harry Hartley and Charles Dunn.

The projects which the Hi-Y Club will undertake for the year were announced including the organization of the Junior Hi-Y consisting of Sophomore and Junior students in school and the advisability of having a Gospel Team.

A report of the Party Committee was given by Warren Witten and announcement made that the first Hi-Y dance would be held November 23, at the Charles River Country Club.

The officers for the coming year are: Gilbert Myers, President; Ellis Donovan, Vice President; Warren Witten, Treasurer; Gale Wisback, Secretary. At the next meeting new members will be considered and a group of eight or ten admitted.

Newton Church League
The Newton Church League, composed of eleven churches of Newton and vicinity, will hold their first Managers Meeting on October 18, at the Newton Y. Schedules for the coming year will be drawn up and committees appointed to carry on the League. The following managers and churches are associated with the league:

Stanley Goodrich, Immanuel Baptist Church; Everett B. Keeler, Brighton Congregational; Harold B. Ham, Newtonville Methodist; Clifford Kirkredge, Grace Episcopal; Sylvester Loring, Phillips Congregational (Watertown); William Murray, Jr., First Baptist of Watertown; Arthur E. Haynes, Lincoln Park Baptist; Gordon K. Bass, Eliot Congregational; Frank W. Weatherbee, Central Cong. Church; Curtis M. Church, Second Cong. Church; Edward Armstrong, St. John's Methodist; Robert Card, Newton Highlands Methodist; Arthur H. Clarke, Newton Methodist.

Three games will be played on Thursday evenings at 7:30. Last year the Eliot Church won the League and was presented a very beautiful cup which they hold for one year. Other churches are invited to join the League this year and application should be made to Clyde G. Hess, Chairman of Board of Managers.

Boys' Division
The younger boys clubs of the Newton Y. M. C. A. held their first meeting on October 5 under the supervision of the Boys' Division. Five members of the high school class who have volunteered to serve as leaders of the clubs are Edwin Foster, Newtonville; Thomas Sundborg, Newton; Matthew Billings, Newtonville; Paul Landers, West Newton; Kenneth Rogers, Newton.

The Red Feather Club formed in charge of Kenneth Rogers, elected Paul Dunn president, Robert Martin vice president, Warren Strange secretary, and Harold Martin treasurer. The club under the charge of Matthew Billings elected John Martin president, Albert Shapalis vice president, James Martin secretary, and Paul Holmes treasurer.

Edwin Foster's group elected Philip Tescier president, Raymond Holmes vice president, Edward Tescier secretary and Ralph Ellis treasurer.

These two clubs will be named at one of the early meetings which are held Friday evenings at 7:15.

Sunday Singing
The first in the series of Sunday Singings will be held for the members of the Boys' Division on Sunday afternoon, October 14, at 3:00 P. M. These have been very popular during the past winter and the boys themselves have asked for their con-

BREAKING INTO NEWTON SOCIETY

THE EXTRAORDINARY STORY . . . . . OF A SOCIAL SUCCESS

In a very quiet and unassuming way, Bostonia Beverages first came to Newton — Lime and Lithia, Ginger Ale (Pale Dry and Golden), Lime Rickey and Sparkling Water—all "by Bostonia."

Unheralded, Bostonia Beverages hoped that they would be invited into the homes of those people of Newton who recognized character in a beverage whether it was to be drunk "straight" or as a "mixer."

Today no party is complete without the gold and silver labels for which "by Bostonia" is noted. A welcome guest at any party, its sparkling life and good taste are winning loyal friends.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D.A.R.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, of the D. A. R., Newton, met on Monday, October 8, at 2:30 p. m. The regent, Mrs. Edward B. Parker presided. The chaplain, Mrs. Amos R. Wells opened the meeting, followed by the salute to the flag and the recitation of the American's Creed. Reports were given by Mrs. Holcombe J. Brown, recording secretary, Mrs. J. Walter Allen, corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. H. Veo, treasurer, and Miss Emily F. Jordan, historian. A period of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. James H. Rand, mother of Mrs. Liverus H. Howe, former regent. Mrs. F. L. Sherman announced the card party which will be held October 22, and Mrs. John P. Holmes the all day sewing meeting in preparation for the Christmas sale. She asked especially for new ideas from members. Various summer events were noted, the card party of June, the Flag Day observance and the visit to the Hillside school which had made a very favorable impression on those attending, especially the friendliness of the small boys who showed their chickens with much pride. The Chapter were hostesses at the Fall Conference and 12 members were in attendance. Invitations were extended from Chapters in Amherst and Weymouth to send delegates to observances they are holding this fall.

The subject, "Silhouettes," was presented by Mrs. Merritt A. Potter, associate member and former regent of the Caroline Scott Harrison Chapter of Indianapolis. She read from "Shades of Our Ancestors," by Alice Van Leer Carrick. The writer preferred the term "Profiles" as more inclusive, and descriptive of work done in color, also as the black and white. George Washington was a favorite subject of the early artists and many celebrities and beauties of bygone days are preserved for us. Of William Henry Brown it was claimed that he could produce profiles of people some time after seeing them. Silhouettes were brought by members of the Chapter, among them one of Mr. John W. Byers.

Congratulations were extended to Miss Emily F. Jordan on her article in the October D. A. R. magazine. Mrs. A. D. Saling distributed boxes in which money commemorating the national holidays could be placed. These are to be opened at the annual meeting. Tea was served, Mrs. Sarah R. Comer, chairman of hostesses.

NATHAN FULLER CHAPTER, D.R.

The Fall meeting of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, D. R., was held on the 9th of October at the home of Mrs. Seth D. Tucker, 18 Edmunds rd., Wellesley Hills. The regent, Miss Barbara Estabrook, presided and opened the meeting with the salute to the Flag. The minutes of the May meeting were read and accepted.

Two letters of thanks for recent donations were read by Mrs. E. P. Leonard, Jr., one from the Veterans' Bureau and one from the M. S. P. C. C. Plans were discussed for the Evening Bridge to be held at the home of Miss Barbara Estabrook on November 23. The November meeting will be held at the Children's Library in Newton on November 13. At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Alden Clark presented an interesting word picture of the Modern Woman in India. During the social hour which followed Mrs. Richard Lee and Mrs. Ernest J. McKenna assisted the hostess.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

Dr. and Mrs. Guy M. Winslow attended the annual Luncheon and Meeting of the Connecticut Valley Lasell Club in Hartford on Saturday, October 6. There were about fifty Alumnae present. Officers of the Lasell Alumnae Association were also the guests of the Club. On Tuesday, October nine, the Assembly speaker was Dr. Herbert V. Neal of Tufts College. He told of a recent trip to California. The speaker today will be Mr. Henry A. Wentworth of Auburndale whose subject will be "Home Life in Japan."

On Saturday afternoon Lasell students will attend Eugene O'Neill's play, "Ah, Wilderness." Dr. Boynton Merrill, pastor of the Second Church in Newton, will be the Vesper speaker on Sunday, October 14.

A Question
many people are asking

—AND THE ANSWER

THE QUESTION

Now that the Edison Company can no longer supply free lamps to customers, will the Edison Shops sell lamp bulbs?

THE ANSWER

Yes. We are carrying a complete supply of lamps to be sold at standard prices. Thus, you may buy lamp bulbs of all sizes, styles, and varieties at any Edison Shop—for the same prices you would pay at any reliable dealer's.

All lamps we sell are American-made,
of standard quality and known value,
trade-marked with a name of a manufacturer you know and whose reputation you recognize. These lamps will not blacken early nor burn out quickly. They will give you all the light you pay for.

Bandits Rob Liquor Store at Newtonville

Take $302 At Gun Point At Walnut St. Store

Three bandits staged a hold-up on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Vilage Beverage Shop, 312 Walnut st., Newtonville. While one of the bandits stood guard at the door of the liquor store, two others, brandishing revolvers, entered the store, forced John Borges, manager of the store, and
R. M. Fairbanks of Bonwood rd., Newtonville, a salesman for a distillery, into the back room, and robbed them. From Borges they took $92 and from Fairbanks $210. They then seized the cash register which contained about $150, ran with it to an automobile which had been parked outside the store, and with their companion made their escape.

Edgar Allen of 20 Clyde st., Newtonville, came along Walnut st., observed the two robbers seizing the cash register, and commented to the man who was standing guard at the door that it looked like a robbery. The latter replied that the pair taking the register were probably employees of the store. Allen took the registration numbers on the automobile as it was driven away. The police learned that the number plates had been stolen on Oct. 1 from a car in Boston.

Hospital Parking Rules To Be Enforced

New regulations with respect to parking of automobiles at the Newton Hospital are being put into effect. Ever since the new building has been in operation many of those visiting the institution by auto, park their cars on the driveway leading to the main entrance and the driveway therefore in disregard of the numerous signs prohibiting such parking.

Parking on the drive not only frequently makes it impossible for an emergency caller to get his car to the front steps, but many times children and others will sound the horns of the parked cars and running engines will emit fumes carried by the west wind into the sick rooms, all of which may well be dangerous to the patients, particularly in cases of deperate illness.

Hospital surroundings must be absolutely quiet. A convenient parking space on hospital grounds has been provided ever since the new building was erected. A police officer will hereafter see that the "No Parking On Driveway" regulation is observed and enforced. The trustees ask the willing co-operation of the public in observing the rules, all of which have but one object,—better care and comfort of the patients.

NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The president, Mrs. Hattie E.
Shuts, presided at the October meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held in the Parish House of the Baptist Church in Newton Centre, October 4th. Mrs. Mabelle M. Groves, former President of the Newton Union, in an informal talk suggested ways in which the women of the W. C. T. U. may help "Promote the general welfare". Brief reports from the Department Directors gave evidence of the many fields in which the W. C. T. U. is working "For God, and Home and Native Land."

Inquiries received by W. C. T. U. members regarding the location of eating places in Newton wherein alcoholic liquors are not served make it apparent that there are in Newton many people who do not care to dine where liquor is served.

Refreshments and a pleasant social hour followed the meeting. Mrs.
Blanche G. Norris and Mrs. Sarah H.
Herrick, 2nd, and 3rd vice presidents of the Newton W. C. T. U. were the hostesses.

Fredleys Open Beautiful New Shop On Boylston Street

Fredleys, smart specialty house, formerly on West Street, has moved uptown to 350 Boylston street, near Arlington street, Boston. This shop is well known for the ultra type of apparel they feature and the new shop makes an admirable background for their unusual clothes.

It is undoubtedly one of the most beautiful shops in Boston, modern in feeling but with a restraint that serves to enhance the charming simplicity of it all. A pale soft green is the general color scheme contrasted with ebony black and some silver and crystal. The shop is arranged on two levels, with the dressier clothes on the upper level.

The Chancel Window in Union Church

Prayer, whose acquaintance with foreign cathedrals gave them knowledge of the fundamental traditions of church decoration. The trips of your committee to other cities and towns to study materials, designs and the work of various artists were often participated in by other members of the congregation whose interest in the problem was inspiring and whose views were of great help in enabling us to select as our medium the traditional stained and painted glass of the Charters or 12th century type, and as our artist, Mr. Wilbur Herbert Burnham of Boston, whose windows in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York, All Saints Episcopal Church in Worcester and elsewhere, have made him a nationally known craftsman in glass.

"The general interest and the widespread co-operation which the project received, developed in our minds the idea of a design which should express the universal appeal of Christ to all groups and types of people."

"With such skill and enthusiasm, your two ministers worked out this thought in the form of a central or basic theme, which one might call the Universality of Christ's appeal, with illustrations of incidents from the life of Christ, bringing out with striking clearness the message which the window was to convey."

"Their plan was reviewed by the artist in consultation with the committee, minor revisions suggested and the preparation of a pictorial representation of the theme left to the artist. A sketch in color was then made and submitted to us, and comments received, not only from the ministers and the committee but from other friends of the project. Finally the design and the color treatment were agreed upon. There the mechanical execution of the work lay before us, and the greater portion of our work was done."

"To all who have helped us to realize our dream, by their gifts, their counsel and their devoted service, to our ministers, the members of our committee, particularly Mr. St. Lawrence, who acted as its secretary, our trustees, our architects, our consultants, the many friends whose comments and criticism developed new ideas, to the artist whose unfailing patience and courtesy lightened our labors, to all of these we now express our grateful appreciation."

"It may interest you to know how the design was carried out in glass.
The process has, moreover, to me a certain meaning or symbolism. After a life size drawing was prepared from the colored sketch, a copy was made dividing it into the multitude of tiny pieces each of which represents in the final work a bit of colored glass. From this, paper patterns of each individual fragment were prepared and from these the separate pieces of glass were cut.
These bits of glass were then, with infinite patience, assembled into a complete picture in glass of each scene in the whole design. Faces, hands and details were painted in.
The whole was then covered with a shading wash or paint which an artist later removed in varying degrees, under the supervision of the designer, to give the necessary variety of tone and gradations of color. Then the medallions were fired or baked, refired again, and perhaps again, retouched, leaded and a section installed in the church to be studied here under different conditions of light. Here we tried to arrive at the right intensity of color under conditions which might be considered a fair average of the entire year, during the hours of our usual services."

"In considering the present brightness of certain colors, we gave thought to the future effect of what might be called 'weathering,' that is, the gradual softening of the shades by the action of natural forces and conditions. In stained glass, colors soften and grow richer with the years, and what today may be brilliant may become a soft, mellowed glow."

fore long ripen into precisely the shade most desired. If I may borrow an apt expression from Dr. Park, 'Age adds the mellowing touch which the finger of man cannot produce.' When our study of color was completed, the whole window was assembled in the studio, studied, retouched where necessary, and at last installed as you see it. In design and in color, our effort has been to obtain as the main decorating feature of our chancel, a window the beauty and significance of which will grow upon us as we come to know it better. I like to think that not only does the design well typify the fundamental doctrine of a Union Church—the appeal of Christ to every type of person—but that the assembling into one united object of beauty of myriads of bits of glass—a result made possible by the gifts and the service of many worshippers—again symbolizes the life of this Union Church. As I look with you at this window, each bit of glass represents to me the thought, the help, the service of some one of our own congregation. In this window somewhere is your bit of glass, dear old Grandma Wiley's bit of glass, a fragment for every child in the Church School. It is your window, our window, just as this church is your church and our church."

"As the fusion of many individual particles has produced in this window

a glorious whole, so may the devoted effort and the common love for God of each one of us make of this Union Church a thing of beauty and of inspiration in the life of our community."

"To the trustees of the Union

Fined $50 For Drunken Driving

Charles French of 203 Park Drive, Boston, was fined $50 in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor.
He was also fined $10 for drunkenness.
He appealed. French was arrested on the night of September 23rd at Newton Highlands by Patrolman John Green after the latter had received a radio message from police headquarters giving the registration numbers on French's car. French had collided at a river street, West Newton, with a car driven by Sebastiano Caruso of

CONGRESSMAN LUCE MUST BE RETURNED

Congressman Robert Luce of Waltham is opposed at the coming election by Mayor Richard M. Russell of Cambridge. There are many who believe that it will be one of the closest campaigns for the veteran Congressman in many years. This does not alter the fact that it is of paramount importance that Congressman Luce should be returned to office. He is one of the ablest members of the National House of Representatives and having served long has not only considerable party influence but is one of the few high ranking Republican members.

We realize that many voters have the feeling that Congressman Luce did not go through with them on the prohibition question. Briefly resuming the situation of a few years ago a statement by Congressman Luce informed the voters that he would not vote for the repeal of prohibition unless there was a guarantee against the return of the saloon. At the National conventions in 1932 neither party adopted a platform which included such a guarantee. Thus, when the repeal question came up in Congress there should be no criticism because of his vote against repeal which failed to guarantee against the return of the old evil of the saloon. Congressman Luce is to be congratulated for maintaining his stand in the face of the overwhelming sentiment in favor of repeal. With him it is never a decision based upon political expediency, but a decision based upon the merits of the question involved. We trust that the voters who have been wont to criticize Congressman Luce on the prohibition question will realize that as far as the pending campaign is concerned it is not now an issue.

In the present campaign there will probably be considerable ammunition fired at Congressman Luce for his criticism of the "new deal" policies. Here again the average voter is very apt to be led astray by the sympathetic appeal to "rubber stamp" all acts of the administration. Congressman Luce knows the effect of new policies far more than the voters themselves. His criticisms are leveled only against those policies which he fears will prove of detriment to the country as a whole and to the district and State which he represents. We wonder if the average citizen and voter expects that Congressman Luce will take the same viewpoint of every question that the voter does? Such a thing is clearly impossible and would lead to demagoguery almost immediately. Progressive legislation can only be carried out by a combination of opinions and viewpoints with the final plan selected from the most desirable conclusions. Congressman Luce through his years of experience, his knowledge of finance and legislation, and his ability must be returned to Congress from the ninth district.

About Town

By Edward H. Powers

Comment has been made about the length of time the big excavation has been open on Commonwealth ave. at Washington st., West Newton. This excavation was in connection with the work of laying sewers in Day, Hope and other streets in the neighborhood nearby. There were two reasons for the slowness of this job. An excavation 22 feet in depth had to be made and a ledge of rock was struck. But the principal obstacle was the appearance of a large stream of water which has kept four pumps going to prevent the big trench from becoming flooded. In Commonwealth ave. are two large water mains; a 20-inch main of the Newton water system and a huge 60-inch main of the Metropolitan water system. It was supposed that the stream of water flowing into the sewer trench was caused by leakage from one or the other of these two big water mains. A number of tests were made by employees of both the Newton and Metropolitan water departments, but no leaks were found. It is now supposed that the stream of water which has been deluging the sewer job comes from some natural source. It is expected that the trench will be filled within the next couple of weeks.

Since Massachusetts compels all automobile owners to carry compulsory liability insurance, and the high cost of this insurance is caused in large part by damages awarded for mythical injuries, why should not the State have official medical examiners for persons who claim to receive injuries in automobile accidents? Possibly, if this were done hundreds of thousands of dollars would be saved yearly for automobile owners who have to pay insurance claims to accident "victims" who complain of strained backs and other injuries that are neither apparent nor real.

Section 191 of the Ordinances of the City of Newton reads—"No person shall place, or cause to be placed upon any sidewalk, any lumber, iron, coal, trunk, bale, box, crate, cask, package, article or thing whatsoever so as to obstruct free passage for travelers."

For some years this ordinance has been flagrantly violated. Since chain stores became common in this city, they have resorted to the use of public sidewalks in business sections for the display and sale of fruit, vegetables, groceries and other articles of merchandise. They have received permission from at least one city official in the past to so usurp public sidewalks, permission that legally cannot be given. The use of sidewalks in our business sections for the display and sale of merchandise not only obstructs free passage for travelers but is objectionable from the standpoint of health. Dust gathers on food so displayed; dogs and flies contaminate it. One cut-price market at Newton Corner not only uses the sidewalk in front of its store for the sale of food articles but has salesmen on the sidewalk hawking, similar to Blackstone st. in Boston. The other day this market had eleven 100-pound bags of potatoes piled six tiers high on a wooden box. If this heavy pile toppled over onto some pedestrian the City of Newton would be liable for damages. We have heard the City Solicitor state that the city is liable for injuries to anyone resulting from an obstacle placed on a sidewalk. It is about time that city officials stopped the illegal use of sidewalks as stores or adjuncts to stores.

Monday we received a letter from "Bob" Evans, formerly a well-known automobile dealer and garage owner of Newton. "Bob" is now owner of Rancho del Sol at Palm Springs, California. The letter read as follows:

"Dear Ed: A few weeks ago in the NEWTON GRAPHIC you scoffed at the idea that Communism had anything to do with strikes, or was gaining a foothold in this country. I only wish you were here in California right now. Please read the enclosed pamphlets which are being circulated by the hundreds of thousands, and Sinclair has not applied to the courts yet to stop them. Why? On the radio they have time and again invited the writers arrested and haled into court. But what you will read is taken from his own writings. So, what is your answer? If Sinclair is elected Governor of California on November 6th, 1934, look out!"

Enclosed with Mr. Evans' letter were two leaflets attacking Upton Sinclair and containing statements made by him, as well as his alleged activities in the Communist movement. In these leaflets Sinclair is accused of being a "defiler of all churches and all Christian institutions."

The item we wrote and to which Mr. Evans referred was published under "About Town" in the July 20th issue of the GRAPHIC. It read: "Propaganda spread for the purpose of giving the impression to the public that the trouble on the Pacific coast is a Communist uprising will do much more harm than good, even to the interests which resort to such propaganda. The widespread strikes at San Francisco and elsewhere are participated in for the most part by workers who are opposed to Communism. It would be well for those who are trying to drag a 'Red' herring across the trail to remember that while you can fool some of the people all of the time, you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

We do not question Mr. Evans' sin-

Bacon vs. Curley

Four weeks from the day this column is being written, the voters of Massachusetts will ring down the curtain on a political drama such as this State has never before witnessed. One of two things is bound to take place on Election Day, Tuesday, November 6. Either, Gaspar G. Bacon, as fine and capable a public servant as Massachusetts has ever produced, will receive his just reward, or else he will be repudiated, and to a certain extent, humiliated by the very same voters who for over a decade have helped him along the pathway to political success. The stakes involved in Bacon's case are tremendous. You may, therefore expect to witness the most spectacular, the most bitterly fought and, parenthetically, one of the most expensive campaigns in many years. Absolutely no effort will be spared to put Bacon across; but the balance of the State ticket will be obliged to carry on more or less under its own steam. Even Congressional candidates, Governor's Councilors, and important legislators will be left to their own devices. If the Governorship which the G.O.P. wants and needs desperately, if it hopes to keep Massachusetts in the Republican column, no longer is Massachusetts a rock-ribbed Republican State.

One expert, a former Speaker of the House, figured out within the year that the actual margin between the two major parties was only 8,000 to 10,000 votes in favor of the Republicans, and that the independent voter reigned supreme. I keep hammering on this point because the average Republican cannot be made to realize that Massachusetts threatens to become a Democratic State within five or ten years' time. If you do not relish that thought, you should get out on the fringe-line and register your friends and neighbors who are not now on the registration list. Bacon can be saved in just two ways: first, by piling up the biggest G.O.P. registration in history; and second, by getting out every conceivable Republican vote on Election Day. And there is not one minute to lose! The time to start work is now!

I said in my September 28 column that the crying need in this campaign was a master mind who would dictate the entire strategy of the campaign, compel adherence to the policies he might lay down, and provide with Bacon, a militant and enthusiastic leadership. Curiously enough, I encountered a veteran New England columnist at the State House yesterday, and discussed the campaign from all angles, incidentally quoting the statement just made. Said he: "You have put your finger right on the spot. We have at least seven headquarters, including public and private meeting places. When a man asks where to go for information or conference, he is routed to one of the seven places, depending on whether his errand is personal or pertains to finance, registration, organization, etc., etc." Not a healthy situation, is it? Centralization, unification of control, and something akin to dictatorship would seem to be required right now.

What of the campaign to-day? What progress has been made by the G.O.P. Victory parade? It was good psychology to stage it. Bacon, apparently, got the jump on Curley and assumed the offensive, striving earnestly to force his antagonist to debate State issues.—The G.O.P.'s only hope in the campaign, Curley, beaten to the mark, adopted a different type of psychology and remained relatively inactive,—at least as far as rallies and hally-hoo were concerned. He made it apperity in this matter. But we still contend that the dock workers' strike on the Pacific coast last July was not a Communist uprising, any more than the textile strike in New England and the South last month was Communist. These strikes were labor troubles backed by the labor organizations, a large majority of whose members are not in sympathy with the Communist movement. Undoubtedly the Communists were delighted to see these strikes start and would have been glad to have seen them become nationwide. Members of the Communist party endeavored to take advantage of the conditions caused by the strikes.

There is no question but that Upton Sinclair is a radical. He became nationally known as a radical many years ago when he wrote his famous book exposing rotten conditions in the Chicago stockyard district. He was then prominently identified with the Socialist party. Although the circulars mailed to us from California contain numerous paragraphs which show Sinclair's affiliations with radical movements allegedly Communist, we have heard Communists bitterly denounce Sinclair, asserting he never was a member of the Communist party, and that he had, as a Socialist, attacked the Communist party. He is now a registered Democrat and the nominee of that party for Governor of California. We believe that his shift from the Socialist party to the Democrats was made for the purpose of expediency, and not sincerely. We believe the huge vote given to Sinclair by the Democrats of California is a parallel of the big vote given James M. Curley by the Democrats of Massachusetts. Both promise to lead the victims of depression in their respective States from poverty to work and wages. We believe both to be full of baloney, inasmuch as neither can fulfill the promises made.

We believe the political opponents of Sinclair in California, sincere though some of them may be, are giving a tremendous amount of free advertising to the Communist party, advertising which, naturally, is welcomed by the Communists. It must be expected, because of the continuing adverse economic conditions, that there will be a trend toward radicalism on the part of the millions affected by the depression. And if the conservatives desire to assist in diverting this trend toward Communism let them continue to label all radical movements as Communist.

pear (and is still doing so) that the weary voter needed a rest from politics after the heat of the primary contest. He is exceedingly busy on organization work and registration, and will probably succeed in rolling up the largest pre-election registration in Boston's history. His real campaign, however, starts about October 15. He will stage three large Sunday evening rallies in Worcester, Springfield, and Boston, and hopes to reach 40,000 voters in that way. His experience with Sunday evening rallies has been highly successful for some years.

This campaign would have a very humorous angle were it not for the utter seriousness of the issues involved. Here we have Bacon assiduously covering the State with his political entourage, discoursing on State issues, attacking Curley's record, and doing everything in his power to force his opponent to answer him. But James Michael has suddenly become deaf, though by no means dumb or blind. He cannot seem to hear what Bacon is saying. He is now firmly impinged on President Roosevelt's coattail, and he proposes to stick there until the President changes his suit. However, the suit is all Trumps, including the New Deal Relief act, so it will not be changed until after Election Day, anyway. To hear Curley talk, you would gather that he thought up the New Deal himself, and was its sole representative in Massachusetts.

This brings me to the Three Musketeers of the G. O. P. campaign: former Governor Alvan T. Fuller, former District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell, and Major Judson Hannigan. Bacon is properly aggressive and militant, but he needs shock-troops and heavy artillery, and that is where the Three Musketeers fit in. Bushnell, a strong, two-fisted fighter, has already delivered some powerful blasts at Curley and has started to tear off his mask. Hannigan is inserting a punch here and there where Mr. Curley doesn't enjoy it, and it is up to the Hon. Alvan T. Fuller to get upon the firing-line and give Curley some of the poison gas he fed him in 1924 when he slaughtered him by more than 150,000 votes in Curley's battle for the Governorship. Yes, Mr. Fuller did an artistic job on Mr. Curley ten years ago, and he can do it again. For the sake of the G. O. P., we hope he commences firing soon. It is doubtful if Curley can afford to ignore both Bacon and Fuller if they team up on the platform and on the air and challenge him to defend his public record of waste, extravagance, and something else besides. As Senator Wragg of Needham sagely remarked a short time ago,—"At least we know where Bacon got his money!" Now, if my good friend Robert M. Washburn will make a few of his rapier-like thrusts through the Curley armor at the same time the Three Musketeers and the heavy artillery are in action, Mr. James Michael Curley's prospects will not loom so brightly.

Finally, and for the sake of emphasis, if you feel that the picture I have painted is a trifle gloomy, remember that there are three important contributions which you may make to the Republican cause in Massachusetts: First, get your friends, neighbors, and business associates to register, before the closing date, Oct. 17. Second, contribute money for campaign purposes when asked. Third, help to get out a 100% Republican vote on Nov. 6. Do not wait until the day before Election if you want to help save Massachusetts for the Republican party.

P. W. C.

This week is "National Pharmacy Week." The pharmacists are calling attention to the fact that they are members of an extremely important profession. The trouble with the pharmacists in the United States in past years has been too much humility. They have been, and are, the goats for the public because their profession became too much mixed up with a sort of variety or department store type of business. And this change was brought about by the intrusion into the ownership of pharmacies on a large scale of men who possessed no professional pride, who were not concerned about co-operating with the medical profession in relieving the sick, whose only interest in pharmacies or drug stores is that of profits.

We know of no class of men in this country who receive so little compensation for the knowledge they must acquire, for the hours they must labor, as pharmacists. In England, France and other countries the pharmacists are held in esteem. The value of their profession to humanity is given proper recognition. The American druggists have not bragged as much about their importance to society as have members of other professions. It is about time they were given due credit for their real value to their fellow men.

ONE THING... AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

It may cause a preliminary chill; nevertheless one Newton man has his snowshoes already for use.

Oddments

Here's a new way to head off a chronic "kicker." In an office where they do plenty of business as efficiently as the average clerical crew, one of the regular visitors is a man, who, for some reason or other, is always finding fault. As a customer his account does not amount to a great deal. Therefore, the frequent objections he raises to this or that seldom register. They do, however, get on the nerves of the help. The other day the man came in and started his usual bellow when one of the clerks pointed to the waste-basket. On it had been tied a large painted sign, "Complaint Department." The visitor was mute and is expected to remain so for some time.

No doubt you've met the man who may seem a picture of good health and yet, regularly declares he is not feeling quite up to snuff. If he annoys you, this incident of how one hypochondriac was checkmated may be of interest. Informed by a genial friend that he "certainly looked in the pink," the gloomist sighed, "Yes, but you never can tell from the looks of a tire what the inner-tube may be." With a cheering laugh and slap on the back the optimist retorted, "Ah, but a couple of patches and some air will make it all right."

Useful Gifts for Voters

It pleases me to record that a utilitarian note has been sounded in the political campaign. Possibly my choice of metaphor is misleading and I'd better clarify my effort at word-painting and say bluntly I am gratified that candidates are giving away something useful instead of mere buttons to interest voters. Buttons are more spectacular and will always remain so but they never will inspire me as did a recent gift from a seeker of State office. Coming upon him suddenly I received a grasp of his hand, which, when disengaged, was plunged back into his coat pocket. In another instant he had produced a lead pencil. It took me by complete surprise but I was grateful, although I stammered my thanks. Here was I the possessor of an implement intended to serve a useful purpose. I cannot say that all that I may write with it will prove of value and I do not feel any such obligation. That would be asking too much. Nevertheless, here is a wooden pencil, painted with a delicate white enamel and lettered in red. The inscription, as you may have guessed, emphasizes the importance of electing the candidate whose name is boldly painted thereon, together with the name of the office he seeks.

The legend does not interfere with the use of the pencil, or at least it should not. But I have learned that each time I start to make a note with it someone who has not seen it before says, "Let me see that. It's a new wrinkle in campaign advertising, isn't it?" Of course I hand it over for inspection. Then I am asked, "Is it a good one?" After giving assurance that it is O. K., comes another query, "Are you going to vote for this man?" Now ordinarily I strive to be patient but when these questions are fired at me each time I would write, the matter is becoming complicated. Instead of scribbling I am "selling" a candidate.

However, I suppose my appreciation of a good pencil, with an eraser on the end, should offset any inconvenience. It occurs to me that I would prefer to receive a token intended for the guidance of a voter and yet of such a character that it could be used in the privacy of his home. Therefore, I suggest that instead of pencils, political candidates give to men, razor blades or shaving soap, suitably inscribed, and to women lip sticks or facial cream. It might cost more but it would make a bigger hit.

"You Should Have Seen Us"

Come the hours of merry reminiscence. The earlier descent of the shadows of night, accompanied by the after-sunset chill of Autumn, and the social instinct that never fails to inspire genuine suburban folk have caused to be resumed that delightful custom of neighborhood calls. In many homes people are dropping in on each other. Everywhere the theme is, "Well, what kind of a Summer did you have?" and the cascade of rollicking recollections sparkles with joyous mirth.

Nevertheless, the conversation inevitably becomes a trifle standardized. No matter where the group is formed practically the same topics automatically bubble up. That cannot be avoided. And for that matter it provides a good arrangement for host and hostess need make no effort to entertain when their visitors are bursting to tell their experiences and they themselves know they also will have their turn.

Sometimes the callers have the floor for the first half of the evening while the host and hostess dominate the second. Frequently the latter cannot contain themselves and, once having let down the bars, romp with their guests in the playground of fresh memories. Thus they begin with an exchange between the men in one corner and the women in the other.

The male members of the party discuss automobile mileage and the marvelous endurance of the old car. The feminine group tell of the sunburn or tan acquired by the children. Then comes news of the physical improvement, the taking-on of weight, the many hours spent in the sun or the water. Both groups are in on this and declare that it was a "perfectly lazy life." The seashore devotees proudly boast they were seldom out of their bathing suits while the rus-

Mayor Weeks Endorses Luce For Congress

Whole-hearted endorsement of Congressman Robert Luce for re-election in the Ninth Congressional District on next November 6th was announced today by Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton, in a public statement in which he declared that the "ability and fearlessness of Robert Luce is more needed in Washington now than at any other time in our generation."

"Republicans in Newton and in every city and town of this district owe a duty to their party to work for and to vote for Congressman Luce," declared the Newton Mayor. "For there isn't a man in the Congress of the United States who surpasses Mr. Luce in knowledge of Legislative procedure. He is fearless, he is independent, he has served us well for 16 years, and he is a staunch Republican."

"During such troublesome times as the country is now passing through, there is great need in Congress for a balance-wheel, for a constructive critic, for Congressman Luce, who is unafraid to oppose harmful legislation when it is presented and who is just as ready to support President Roosevelt and the Administration, as he did on Housing laws, when they are right."

"The ability, the experience, the fearlessness of Robert Luce, which is freely admitted by men of all parties in Congress, is more needed in Washington now than at any other time in our generation, and I strongly urge his election and the defeat at the polls on November 6th of Richard M. Russell of Cambridge, his democratic opponent."

Scout Camporee Is Postponed

Scheduled For This Coming Week-End at Cabot Woods

The weatherman said "rain," but the Scouts hoped and prayed for fair weather over the last week-end, so that the big public Camporee scheduled for the 6th and 7th in Cabot Woods might be held. However, they awoke Saturday morning to a down-pour which grew steadily worse during the day, till it was almost a cloudburst. That meant no Camporee, for nothing is proved or gained by setting up camp in the pelting rain and sleeping in a mud puddle!

Accordingly, the Camporee, on demand of many Scouts and Scouters has been postponed to the 13th and 14th. It is to be held in Cabot Woods, with tent inspection at 3:30 Saturday, demonstrations and exhibitions at 4:15 and campfire at 7:45. All are invited to visit the camp at any time.

tic sojourners tell how they revelled in the privilege of "not having to dress for meals."

Then comes an exhibition of snapshots, together with explanations that you can't get any idea of the grandeur of the scenery from a mere tiny print. As many photographs contain strange faces it is necessary they be identified. This leads to the description of some charming acquaintanceships formed, with promise of an exchange of calls this winter and how wonderful it was to find they were friends of very good friends of ours.

Gaily the chatter runs on. Sometimes one, often two and frequently all are speaking at once. You'd think they could go on indefinitely. Evidence that the last reel is on comes, however, when the conversation reverts to home affairs and what the children are doing in school; how Marjorie likes college and what ambitions Randolph has now that he has become a man of business. All in all, the evening has slipped by pleasantly and the door is closed. Safely out of ear-shot of each other both groups observe, "Did you ever see such people for talking about themselves?"

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 14.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us" (Isaiah 33:22).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Art thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? we shall not die. Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity" (Habakkuk 1:12, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "What can be the standard of good, of Spirit, of Life, or of Truth, if they produce their opposites, such as evil, matter, error, and death? God could never impart an element of evil, and man possesses nothing which he has not derived from God" (p. 539).

Hit Cemetery Watchman; Gets 30 Day Sentence

William J. Burke of 25 Wamsutta avenue, Waltham, was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday charged with trespassing in the Newton Cemetery, and with assaulting Henry Gould of Newton Centre, a watchman at the cemetery. Gould testified that when he ordered Burke and two other young men away from the cemetery, the defendant assaulted him. Burke claimed that Gould hit him first with a billy. Judge Bacon placed the trespass charge on file. He gave Burke a 30 day prison sentence for the assault, and then suspended the sentence. The judge said he showed this leniency because he is the president of the cemetery corporation, and did not want to sit on this case.

Women's Club Activities

West Newton Club Offers Opportunities

The Garden Club of the West Newton Women's Educational Club has planned an all-day outing for Monday, October 15th, to the Blue Hills. Members who are intending to go are to meet at Houghton's Pond at 10:30 a. m. A short business meeting will precede a picnic lunch, and in the afternoon those who enjoy climbing will join in a hike over the trails to the top of Great Blue Hill. The members of the Educational Club are invited to this outing, to which the Garden Club members are looking forward with a great deal of pleasure.

This year a new study group has been formed for those members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club who would be interested in the study of problems pertaining to International Relations. Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader and Mrs. William S. Tufts will be the leaders of this class, and the meetings will be held on the third Tuesday of each month beginning October 16th, at the home of Mrs. Dockstader, 303 Highland avenue, West Newton.

Fashion Show To Be Presented

The opening fall meeting of the West Newton Community Service Club promises to be unusually brilliant. It will be held on Wednesday, October 17th, at 2:30 p. m. at the Parish House of the Second Church, West Newton. "A New Frock for Pierrette" is the attractive name for the Dramatic Revue and Fashion Show, presented by Mrs. George S. Fuller as chairman of the afternoon, by the R. H. Stearns Co. Mrs. Austin H. Decatur will preside as president of the clubs in the Newton Federation. The guests of honor, and tea will be served by Mrs. Thomas Cooper, Jr. and her committee.

The motto for this year of the West Newton Community Service Club explains its purpose: "This span of life was lent for lofty duties, not for selfishness; not to be whiled away in aimless dreams but to improve ourselves and serve mankind," and the Club hopes to interest every West Newton woman in its aims.

Health Program For State Broadcast

Dr. Louise Leverone, State chairman of Public Health, will present the program for the State Federation Radio half-hour over Station WBZ tomorrow morning, the 13th of October, at 11:30 to 12 o'clock, the subject being "Public Enemy Number Two."

Mrs. Robert Harper, director of the Sixteenth district, will have as her topic "The Baby Marks Time." Marjorie Possett, violinist, accompanied by Roy Frazee, will give the musical selections. Mrs. Edgar B. Richardson, Radio director, who arranges the programs, will introduce the speakers.

Attractive Events At Highlands

Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor, of Boston, will talk to the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands on Tuesday, October 16th, at 2:30 p. m., about "History in the Making." During the early summer Mrs. Taylor traveled through Mexico and adjacent Central American countries, and she comes to the Club Tuesday direct from an extensive Mediterranean cruise.

The Junior Woman's Club has chosen Friday evening, October 19th, for the Bridge Party at the Workshop, proceeds of which are to be applied to the operating expenses of the new Club. Mrs. Odine C. Mackay is most anxious to contact young women who are interested in becoming members.

On October 19th and 26th, at 2:30 p. m., in the Workshop, Mrs. Lucy Simonds will present the first two lectures in a series of four, on the Wagner Ring Opera. All Club members and guests are welcome.

The Drama committee, with Mrs. Robert Allingham in charge, has planned a series of Play Readings again this year, to be held Friday and Saturday evenings, October 26th and 27th being the beginning dates. Refreshments will be served after the readings, and on Saturday evening there will be informal dancing. A voluntary contribution of silver is the only admission charge.

Dr. Carl L. Schrader, supervisor of Physical Education for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, will speak to Club members and friends at the Workshop on the evening of October 25th. His topic will be "Training for Good Citizenship Through Physical Education."

The recent Exhibit of Arts and Crafts arranged by the Art committee was regarded as most successful, because of the increase in interest. Already several classes in handicraft have been signed up to start at an early date, under teachers who are artists in their own particular field. Mrs. Edward D. Wallace, telephone W. 9955-W solicits inquiries from Club members or their friends who may desire to enroll in these classes. Among the types of artistry and handicraft work represented, all executed by Newton talent, were the following: oil paintings, water-colors, pastels, etchings, photography, pottery, weaving, both tapestry and Persian rug type, pencil drawings, exquisite painted screens, lamp shades, portfolios, decorated trays, jewelry, crocheted coverlets, knitted afghans, hooked rugs, tooled leather, batik dyeing and block prints.

Officers Reception And Other Plans At Newtonville

The Newtonville Woman's Club will open its fifty-first year with the Annual Reception on Tuesday, October 16th, at 2:30 o'clock at the Club House on Washington park, when members will have the opportunity to greet the president and officers. Mrs. Edwin P. Cawce, president, will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. Mace Andrews, Mrs. Frank E. Morris and Mrs. George H. Tracy, vice-presidents, and Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, House chairman. The other officers will serve as ushers. Mrs. James D. Elliott will be in charge of the afternoon and she will be assisted by the members of her Social committee. Music will be provided by the Ruth Trio.

The Club will continue its custom of including in its program four current events lectures free to its members, and open to the public upon payment of an admission fee. Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor, whose series last year proved very interesting and popular, again will be the lecturer. The first of this series, presented to Club members, will be given on December 13th.

Also of interest to Clubwomen, an extension course of eight additional lectures has been arranged to be given by Mrs. Taylor under the sponsorship of a group of Newtonville women. These lectures also will be held at the Club House at 10:15 in the morning, the first one being on October 18th. For this series of eight, a course

Two of Mrs. Densmore's co-chairmen for this gala day and evening are Mrs. Thaddeus Freeman, of West Newton, who will be in charge of the Food Table of the Bazaar; and Miss Sara B. MacKinnon, of Newton Centre, who will be in charge of the Mystery Table. Proceeds from the Bazaar will be applied to the Charity Fund of the Club.

Pertinent Remarks From Washington

The chairman of International Relations of the General Federation of Women's Clubs appeals to clubwomen nationwide for assistance collectively and individually in asking Congress to pass legislation this winter which will destroy the menace of munitions manufacture and sale, so that war may be outlawed. Her remarks pertinent—and to the cannibal only will they seem impertinent—show the deep place the effort has in our leaders' mind and heart, and recall Mrs. Poole's message at Hot Springs. Mrs. Laura Waples McMullen of New York City, the chairman, says: "Arma-ment makers have the power to send nations to war only because millions of people respond emotionally to false and dangerous ideas. Race prejudice, fanatical 'isms', hatred of the foreigner and even of our countrymen when they differ from us provide the soil in which the merchants of death, the world's munition makers, plant their own propaganda to keep alive the institution of war for their own profit. "We are interested in the Congressional investigation of the munitions industry now going on in Washington. It is important for us to know what has been done by this industry to promote war for profit. "Does the world continue to go to war only because armament makers order it? Have these 'fifty obese old gentlemen sitting in board rooms,' as Norman Angell calls the English armament makers, the power to force the English people of fifty million persons to proceed on a path of known self-destruction? They have had that power, yes, but only because millions of persons in England responded emotionally to false and dangerous ideas. "Cannibalism died slowly because of the tribal patriotism which the cult priests fomented. Will war die as slowly because these modern priests of the war-cult control the minds of men and women with their tool of psychopathic nationalism? "As in the days of cannibalism, so now with war, there is a group who profit by the continuance of the custom. More ominous too is the presence in society of an emotional fervor, a revival of the old tribal patriotism—this mad nationalism—when it is fanaticism—which struts across the stage of certain modern nations. "Our government is undertaking the only honest effort which has ever been made by any country to investigate thoroughly and completely the activities of the munitions industry in promoting war. Last May, our president, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, said in her radio address at Hot Springs, 'I wonder what would happen if two million women said to the United States Government, "We demand that profit be taken out of war-making. We demand that all resources be commandeered by the Government if war comes to this land of ours. We demand that no aid of any kind whatsoever be given to nations engaged in war.' "Under Mrs. Poole's leadership we stand solidly as an organization behind our Government in its effort to investigate the munitions industry. I wonder what will happen now when two million women are on the march."

Warren Jr. High

Day Jr. High School

The F. A. Day Orchestra made its initial appearance of the year at the October 10th assembly. The main feature of the program was a talk by Mr. Bragdon of the Christian Science Monitor who outlined a few qualities which a good news reporter should possess. Mr. Bragdon's visit came at a most opportune moment since it followed announcements by Walter Crane and Frank Scheel that the first issue of the "Daytonian," the school publication would appear on October 11th.

Two Reasons For National Pharmacy Week

1. To proclaim to the public the extreme importance of the profession and seek the recognition of being more than a merchant.
2. This period is set aside to impress upon the minds of the public the professional training and experience necessary to qualify the druggist to render to his community the service demanded by modern advance in medical science.

TRAVEL NOTES

The most important news that has come for a long time from the big steamship companies operating the Trans-Atlantic lines is that which was released this week. To stimulate business for the next six months the Cunard-White Star Line, Hamburg-American-North German Lloyd, United States and Red Star Lines, in addition to the other big companies, offer alluring excursion rates in third and tourist classes. From October 22, 1934 to April 30, 1935 a round trip rate, allowing a 15 days stopover in Europe of Great Britain and Ireland, can be had for only a fare and a third of the one-way Eastbound rate. Thus, one can travel to England, Ireland or Scotland and return in third class for a round-trip fare of only $109.33. For further particulars consult the Newton Steamship Agency at 11 Centre avenue, Newton, in the Post Office Building, or phone Newton North 4501.

The Italian Line will run some very attractive cruises to the Mediterranean this winter, using its magnificent new ships. The ROMA sails from New York on January 26 on a cruise of 40 days, covering 12,972 miles, visiting 16 ports and arriving back at New York on March 7. The first class fare for this cruise is from $485 up; the tourist class from $275. The ports to be visited include, Madeira, Gibraltar, Algiers, Naples, Palermo, Piraeus, Haifa, Port Said, Trieste, Dubrovnik, Patras.

The CONTE di SAVOIA and the REX sail on February 13 and February 27 from New York on 25 days cruises, covering 11,464 miles and visiting 12 ports—Gibraltar, Cannes, Monte Carlo, Genoa, Naples, Haifa, Port Said, Phaleron and Nice among them. The first class fare on these two cruises is from $560 up; the tourist fare from $285.

The SATURNIA will sail from Boston on March 28 on a 42 days' cruise covering 11,550 miles, visiting 19 ports; the first class fare is from $485 up; the tourist fare from $275. The ports to be visited include—Ponta Delgada, Lisbon, Gibraltar, Algiers, Naples, Palermo, Piraeus, Rhodes, Haifa and Santorini. The Newton Steamship Agency at 11 Centre avenue, Newton, will give you complete information regarding these tours and obtain excellent reservations for you. Phone Newton North 4501 for an appointment.

Newton Centre Man Attacked by His Son-In-Law

John Kenney, 18, a colored youth of Bower pk., Roxbury, was arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday charged with assaulting his father-in-law John Samuda of 3 Beacon place, Newton Centre. Kenney was also charged with attempted larceny. He was sentenced to serve 6 months in Middlesex County prison on the first charge, and one month on the second charge. Samuda conducts a house cleaning business and employs a number of men. He entered his home on Friday night and found the electric light bulb in the hall had been removed. Samuda turned on the light in the bathroom and then entered his bedroom. The electric light bulb there had also been removed, and as Samuda entered the darkened room, he was hit on the head with a club and received a severe gash. He grappled with his assailant and recognized him as his new son-in-law, Kenney. The latter retreated into a closet and Samuda telephoned police headquarters. Patrolmen Lyons, McCormick and Jenkins hastened to the house and arrested Kenney.

Samuda told the judge that he was to pay off his employees on Saturday and had the payroll on his person when he went to his home. He found that a strong box and desk drawer at his home had been ransacked. Kenney told the judge that he went to Samuda's house to sleep for the night, and thought Samuda was a burglar, when the latter arrived. The judge did not believe Kenney's story.

Newton Police Hide and Catch Two Auto Thieves

Monday night Patrolmen Bibbo and Turner of the Newton police observed an automobile which had been reported stolen, parked on Kenrick street, Newton. The car is owned by William Martineau of 28 Ashton avenue, Newton Centre. Turner remained in hiding near the car and after waiting about an hour seized a youth who came to the car. On information given by the captive, Charles Cheever, 16, of Bostonia avenue, Brighton, Turner and Bibbo went to Brookline and arrested Jesse Bradbury, 17, of 124 Brayton rd., Brighton. In the Newton court on Tuesday the policemen testified that the youths had confessed stealing an automobile owned by Hugh Monroe of 1784 Beacon st., Waban, while it was parked near Kenrick st. This car, according to the police testimony, had been abandoned there. The two Brighton youths then took the car owned by Martineau while it was parked on Ashton avenue. Bradbury was sentenced to the Shirley Reform School. Cheever will be tried in the juvenile court session on Friday.

Newton Baptists Attend Association Meeting

A large delegation of Newton Baptists attended the annual convention of the Boston West Baptist Association held at the First Baptist Church, Jamaica Plain, on Tuesday of this week. The presence of about three hundred members and delegates of the twenty-four churches of the organization brought the attendance mark to the highest number in the past ten years. Rev. John Shade Franklin of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton has been moderator of the association for the past year, concluding his term at the session this week. Rev. John Watson of Westwood was elected moderator for the coming year.

Rev. Newton A. Merritt of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton was named to the committee on the state of religion.

Mrs. George H. Brock of Newton Centre was a member of the committee on resolutions. This committee reported on various important subjects. Among the resolutions unanimously adopted by the association were several promising the support of the association to agencies fighting against unclean motion pictures, war, gambling, and intemperance.

Dr. Henry K. Rowe of the Andover-Newton Theological School was among the speakers. Dr. Thomas S. Roy, a former pastor of Lincoln Park Baptist Church of West Newton, and now of Worcester, gave the concluding address on the subject "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." Mr. Harry A. Gilman of Vahan, a member of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre, gave the layman's view of "Denominational Finances."

ABOUT TOWN

By Edward H. Powers

Isn't it too bad the United States is not tied in with the League of Nations, now that the European situation becomes more involved and that hell is more apt to break loose over there at any time. Inasmuch as we have no troubles of our own in this country, and everybody is prosperous and without worries here, how selfish of us not to get mixed up in the imbroglio of Europe. Especially when the countries over there that received billions from us during and following the World War have been so appreciative and so anxious to repay their debts to us.

N'ville Resident Charged With $200,000 Theft

Roger E. Baker, 42, who has been residing in a pretentious home at 14 Greylock road, Newtonville, for the past several months was arrested on Monday charged with the embezzlement of sums estimated to total about $200,000 from his employers, the Diamond-Grynkrantz Kid Manufacturing Company of Peabody. He had been in the employ of this company as a bookkeeper, and for the past 18 months, according to an alleged confession made by him, he had embezzled on an average of $4000 each month by drawing checks made out to fictitious names. Baker was the owner of the "Rosebud" chain of restaurants at Bedford street, Boston; Arlington and Wayland. He was also the promoter of the Northeastern baseball league.

Besides the house at Newton Centre, Baker maintained another home at Wollaston. He is married and the father of two children.

Autos Collide at Newton Centre

Two collisions between automobiles occurred at Newton Centre on Sunday evening. At 5 p. m. cars driven by Wallace Grover of 430 Centre street, Newton, and Joseph O'Kane of Providence crashed at Parker street, near the turnpike. Elizabeth Tague of Providence was reported as having been injured.

About 6 o'clock cars driven by Michael Barry of 35 Warren street, Newton Centre, and Ralph Bixby of 774 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, collided on Grant avenue near Everett street. Mr. Bixby and two occupants of Mr. Barry's car were reported as having received injuries.

CAMBRAI NO LONGER HEARS WATCHMAN'S "ALL'S WELL!"

For centuries a watchman in the lofty belfry of St. Martin has kept a wakeful eye on the quaint old French city of Cambrai, warning the inhabitants in case of fire or an attack from an enemy, and sounding the hours on a big bell. Each night, just before midnight, the gallus, as the venerable watchman was called, "Cambresiens, sleep in peace!"—although he often awoke light sleepers and started dogs to barking.

Last month, the city, for reasons of economy, dismissed the watchman and installed electrical machinery in the belfry to toll the hours. Thus an artisan of another historic craft bows to the march of time.

The name "Cambrai" may suggest to women the fine cloth called "cambric," and rightly so, because the fabric was first woven at Cambrai and takes its name from the town. To the French, however, it is known as "batiste," from the name of its alleged inventor, Baptiste Couting, a 13-century weaver of the city.

WEST INDIES POPULAR IN SUMMER

The outstanding feature of the summer travel season is the fact that the Mauretania has made the West Indies popular for summer vacationists. This steamer has carried capacity lists on every cruise to the Caribbean and South America. Returning voyagers say that the Indies are cooler — or feel cooler — than cities in the Atlantic States. Many repeat the cruise to escape northern humidity.

St. Comr. Mahoney Honored By His Friends at Banquet

Over Five Hundred at Affair Arranged By City Employees

Associates and friends of Street Commissioner Charles A. Mahoney, to the number of 550, attended a reception in his honor at the Continental Hotel in Cambridge last night. The affair was arranged by a large committee composed mainly of city employees who are members of Local 175, and headed by A. Leslie Moriarty, president of that organization. Following a dinner, Mr. Moriarty presented Mayor Sinclair Weeks as toastmaster. Seated at the head table were Mayor and Mrs. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney, Mr. Moriarty, Hon. Edwin O. Childs, City Engineer and Mrs. William P. Morse, Richard H. Ellis, Director of Public Works; Water Commissioner Joseph J. Murray, Alderman Sidney Holden, James Dempsey, the Mayor's Secretary, and Howard Miner.

Mayor Weeks in opening the post prandial exercises stated that the big gathering was a manifestation of friendship for a good neighbor and faithful public official. He read a number of congratulatory telegrams including those from the Newton Kiwanis Club, Newton Lodge of Elks and Mr. Mahoney's brothers in Texas, Daniel and Robert Mahoney. The first guest called upon for remarks was Water Commissioner Murray who extended the greetings and good wishes of his department to Mr. Mahoney. Alderman Holden said that the new Street Commissioner deserves praise for the progress he has made. James Dempsey spoke in a humorous vein. (Continued on Page 4)

Jobs Available For Newton Men On PWA Work

Jobs for 48 workmen, most of them mechanics, are available for Newton men on PWA jobs in this city if they can be found and can qualify. These jobs, according to investigation made by the office of Mayor Sinclair Weeks, are now being filled by residents of other cities.

Eighteen of the jobs are on the Nevada Street grade school, 16 on the Bigelow Junior High School addition, 11 on the F. A. Day Junior High School addition, and 3 on the new municipal incinerator. To qualify the workmen must be residents of Newton and members of trade unions. The available work is for 2 carpenters, 5 iron workers, one engineer, 2 cement finishers, one steamfitter, 2 lathers and one sheet metal worker on the Nevada Street school job; 4 pipe fitters, 4 building movers, 2 lathers, and one each night fireman, welder, stage builder, mixer man, plasterer and sheet metal man on the Bigelow School; 3 floor layers, 2 window cleaners, 2 linoleum layers, one filler and one each grainer, iron worker and sign writer on the Day School.

At the incinerator job there is need for two Newton chimney builders and one iron worker.

Reports so far received by the Mayor state that these jobs paid for by Newton citizens, for the most part out of taxes, are given to residents of other cities and towns because there are either none of these tradesmen in Newton or there are none available. Under the law, preference must, according to PWA regulations, be given to Newton citizens, and Mayor Weeks is determined that non-residents shall be discharged from these jobs if Newton men can be found to fill them.

Defective Brakes Causes Auto To Hit Two Cars

A car driven by Arnold C. Devlin of 309 Langley road, Newton Centre, collided on Wednesday with a car operated by Charles D. White of 150 Eastbourne road, Newton Centre, while the latter car was stopped at the traffic signal at Langley road and Beacon street. White and his wife, and Gertrude Devlin, riding in the other car were reported as having received injuries. Patrolman Kilmain reported that shortly before Devlin's car hit the White automobile it had also hit a car driven by Grace Heller of 126 Oxford road, Newton Centre. This collision occurred at Langley road and Union street. Kilmain reported that the brakes on Devlin's car were defective and that he would prosecute Devlin for operating in a negligent manner.

Refuse Business Zone in Private Residence Zone

At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the petition of Matilda Brison to have land at 907 Watertown st., West Newton, and two adjoining lots, changed from private residence to business zone was refused. Alderman Cronin asked Alderman Grebenstein, chairman of the Claims and Rules Committee, why the petition had been turned down. Mr. Grebenstein replied that it would be improper zoning to change three lots of land in the midst of a residence section into a business zone and that expansion of business along Watertown st. is not needed. He explained that Mrs. Brison had stated that a nursery would be operated on this land, and also a stand for the sale of fruit and vegetables.

Alderman Gallagher said the petition is quite unique. He asserted that the site had been used for business "from time immemorial." He said that to his knowledge business had been conducted there for 35 years. He stated that all the neighbors of Mrs. Brison favor that change and that the opposition came from persons living remote from the land. He admitted that while a nursery might be started on the site, some other type of business might follow. He contended that the Aldermen would not be criticised for changing the zone, and that if Mrs. Brison took the matter to court she would win out.

Alderman Grebenstein said the Claims and Rules Committee sympathized with the petitioner, but there is more than sympathy at stake. He said that 50 property owners in the vicinity had opposed the petition. Alderman Holden said that if Mrs. Brison desires merely to start a nursery she can do so without having the zone changed, provided no building is erected. He called attention to the fact that land in Newton is not zoned. Alderman Gallagher asked for City Solicitor Bartlett's opinion, but Mr. Bartlett had departed from the room. Mr. Grebenstein said that the committee knew it had acted legally in recommending against the petition, as it would be "illegal spots" only.

Alderman Bowen, replying to Gallagher's contention that the courts would decide against the verdict of the Aldermen, called attention to the fact that Newton's zoning ordinance has been found to be in accord with State law. He said he knows the land, being a resident of and Alderman from West Newton, and he knows the petitioner. He said that the bakery business which formerly had been carried on at 907 Watertown st., had not been conducted for years, and that the other land had not been used for some time for the training of horses, as it formerly was used. He said that if this land is placed in a business zone it can be used for many kinds of business, such as a gasoline station, garage or stores, with the resultant destruction in value to attractive residences in that neighborhood. The only Alderman voting against giving the petitioner leave to withdraw was Gallagher.

Surgeons Clinic At Hospital

Thirty Are Guests of Newton Staff

An American College of Surgeons Clinic was held at the Newton Hospital on Tuesday, Oct. 16.

The entire program was given by members of the active staff. Those operating were Drs. E. Granville Crabtree, Edward D. Leonard, Oliver A. Lothrop, George C. Prather, Edgar M. Holmes. The dry clinics were conducted by Drs. Nathaniel Brackett, G. Kenneth Coonse, Frank R. Clark, Sidney Derow, Herbert G. Dunphy, M. Fletcher Eades, Oliver A. Lothrop, Frank W. Marvin, G. Elliott May, Howard Moore, Gordon Morrison, Denton G. Nutter, Richard I. Smith, Dewitt G. Wilcox, Robert G. Vance.

At 8:15 a. m., a special Newton Hospital bus transported the guests from Boston to the hospital where they were welcomed by Dr. Edward D. Leonard, Newton member of the Boston Arrangement Committee, and Dr. Henry F. Keefer, chairman of the Newton Hospitality Committee.

The states represented by the thirty guest surgeons were: Georgia, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Virginia. Two were from Massachusetts, Springfield and Oysterfield. Members of the staff and doctors from the nearby towns brought the total to 68.

The guests were personally conducted to the Operating suite where the clinics began at nine o'clock and closed shortly after twelve noon. Luncheon was served by the hospital, during which music was furnished by the Newton ERA Orchestra. The afternoon clinics held in Thayer Hall closed promptly at 3:30 to allow the Boston guests to reach the Massachusetts General Hospital in time for the Ether Day Exercises at 4 o'clock.

The trustees are very grateful to the Red Cross Motor Corps for their aid in returning the guests to Boston and to the ERA Orchestra for a very pleasing program.

On Wednesday the hospital was visited by Dr. Solomons, of Dublin, Ireland.

Bandits Hold Up Another Newton Liquor Store

Saturday night about 10:40 three bandits entered the Highlands Beverage Store at 9 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, and at gun point forced Dennis Flanagan, proprietor of the store; Robert Sawyer, a clerk and Donald McVicar, a customer, into a back room. The bandits looted the cash register of about $50, and then made their escape in an automobile which had been waiting outside the store, with a fourth man at the wheel. A bystander took the registration numbers on the car and the plates were found to have been stolen in Boston the preceding day. This was the second holdup of a liquor store in the city within a week.

On Monday the car used by the bandits was sighted in Springfield and pursued by police of that city who fired several shots at the car. The bandits eluded the police and several hours later the car was found abandoned in Sheffield, Connecticut. It was found that the car was one that had been stolen sometime ago.

House Robbed at Chestnut Hill

The home of Charles F. Wallace, 51 Essex road, Chestnut Hill was burglarized sometime during the past week while the family was absent. Mr. Wallace returned to the house Wednesday to find it looted of silverware and other articles. All the rooms had been ransacked. Entrance was effected by breaking a window in the sun parlor.

Newton Legion Elects Officers at Chow Night

Arthur McCarthy Succeeds Commander Viles

Newton Post No. 48, American Legion, held its Annual Chow Night and election at the War Memorial Building, Tuesday evening of this week. Usually this event takes place in December of each year, but due to a change in the fiscal year, which now starts as of November 1st, the October meeting was the time selected for these events.

Some two hundred members sat down to dinner in answer to the "Mess Call" of Commander Russell L. Viles, Past Commander Harold D. (Sailor) Ames acted as Master of Ceremonies. Among the guests of the evening were Mayor Sinclair Weeks, a Past Commander of the Post; Sen. Arthur D. Hollis and Rep. Warren K. Brimblecom, members of the General Court; Chief Randlett of the Fire Dept., Commodore Paul Ellicker and Elmer Ellisworth, principals of Newton Schools; Dept. Vice Commander John Walsh of Waltham, James D. Dempsey, Secretary to Mayor Weeks; Major Edwin H. Cooper, Past Commander-in-Chief of the Legion of Valor; Commander Fairfax of Thomas Burnett Camp No. 10, U. S. V. V., County Jr. Vice Commander David L. Keefe, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Commander George McNamee of the Newton Post, V. F. W.

Following the dinner and a program of entertainment under direction of Comrade Carl Peterson, Chairman of the Chow Night Committee, the Post convened for the Annual Meeting, with the chief interest centering on the election of officers who will serve for the ensuing year. The members who were elected to the various offices were as follows: Commander, Arthur R. McCarthy; Senior Vice Commander, Charles Walker; Junior Vice Commander, Leon H. Mayer; Chaplain, Theodore Morton and Historian, Leon White.

The installation of officers will be held on Thursday evening, Nov. 8, 1934, at a special meeting to be held for that purpose, at the set Warren Junior High School, West Newton.

Slight Increase In Registration

Registration in Newton closed on Wednesday, October 17. About 500 persons registered on that day. Last year at this time the total registration was 32,715. In April of this year after the police and assessors had completed the annual assessing, 2429 names were dropped from the list of voters, reducing the total to 30,286. Prior to the primaries but comparatively few persons registered. Most of the 2718 names added to the voting lists are those of persons who registered since the primaries. The total now is 33,004; this is an increase of 289 over last year.

Aldermen Refuse Oil Plant Permit At Crystal Lake

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night it was voted unanimously to refuse the petition of the Metropolitan Ice Company for a permit to store 50,000 gallons of fuel oil in tanks on the property of the company adjoining Crystal Lake, Newton Centre. Alderman Hill of the Licenses Committee, which had recommended that the permit be refused, explained why such action was taken. He said the Aldermen believe that oil from the tanks would seep into the lake, that Chief Randlett of the fire department would not approve of the tanks unless the existing remains of the structures owned by the ice company were razed; and that the establishment of the oil plant near the lake was against public interest.

West Newton Boy Arrested For Making Threats

Alfred W. Martin, 14, of 21 Columbus place, West Newton, was arrested on Wednesday night by Serg. Bannon and Patrolman Arthur Hanlon of the Newton police as he approached the rear of the home of Mrs. David Hoar, 80 years old, at 166 Webster street, West Newton. The police were hiding behind a grape vine when they captured the boy. During the past week six notes had been left at four homes on Webster street; two of them at Mrs. Hoar's home. These notes were signed "Death." One warned Mrs. Hoar to leave $5 on the mail box at Border and Webster streets. Other notes left at the homes of Arthur Wood, 86 Webster street and J. L. Wyman, 157 Webster street, contained vague threats. When arrested, the Martin boy, who is a student at Newton High School, had nine other notes in one of his pockets.

According to the police, the boy stated that he had been impelled to send the notes because of reading about the Lindbergh case, and witnessing certain "movies." He will be arraigned in the juvenile session of the Newton court today.

Bartlett Made Trustee of Mass. State College

Joseph W. Bartlett of Ridge rd., Waban, was appointed this week by Governor Ely a trustee of Massachusetts State College. Mr. Bartlett is City Solicitor of Newton. He stands high in the esteem of Gov. Ely and has been in the past couple of years appointed by the Governor as chairman of the State Emergency Finance Board and chairman of the CWA in this State.

Community Chest Is Sponsor Of 'Newton on Parade'

All-Star Radio Program Broadcast From High School

Believing that a better knowledge of one's city makes for better community spirit the Newton Community Chest will conduct a series of one hour all-star radio programs Nov. 7 to 14 inclusive from 7:30 to 8:30 P. M. from the stage of the High School Auditorium. In a word a bit of Radio City brought right into Newton. The audience, many of them for the first time, will see a full-time, variety-radio show and program produced under actual conditions.

Station WMEX with studios in the Hotel Manger, Boston, and operating at 1509 kilocycles will broadcast these programs. WMEX is fully equipped and will handle the control system right on the stage in full view of the audience. Several microphones will be used. Prominent officials, speakers, musicians, musical and other organizations will take part in this well-balanced, entertaining and highly professional performance. There is no dearth of talent in Newton as we all know, and the problem has not been one of seeking talent, but of properly balancing the programs. In any event every citizen of Newton should be sure to listen to these radio broadcasts over WMEX.

Each evening is dedicated to one section of Newton and it is hoped that each village will make an effort to have a large attendance on its particular night. Tickets, all complimentary, will be made available by villages at an early date in November.

Since these programs are a preliminary to the approaching Chest Campaign (Nov. 15-25), it is hoped that all Newton Organizations will try to avoid conflict with these dates of November 7-14 inclusive from 7:30 to 8:30 P. M. In fact, it is even suggested that they make these programs a part of any regular meetings and hook up a radio at their meeting place and listen to programs at their meetings.

From Thursday, November 15, to Wednesday, November 21 inclusive, radio programs will be broadcast from a studio in the High School, and thence over WMEX for two hours each evening beginning at 7:30. These programs will feature prominent speakers and excellent music and will coincide with the first 7 days of the Community Chest Campaign.

Donald D. McKay, Chairman of the Campaign says: "I believe every man, woman and child in Newton should know more about his city, his village, and his neighborhood. Every family should also know what the Community Chest is and what it does. And one good way to accomplish this is to use the latest scientific means for reaching the greatest number of people quickly—RADIO."

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

EVERETT OVERPOWERS NEWTON 21 TO 4 WITH FOUR QUICK SCORES

Displaying a powerful offensive and a crushing defense the high-spirited Everett High school football team overpowered a game Newton High School eleven in the annual Columbus Day contest between the rival schools at Everett, 21 to 4. The Everett scores, comprising two touchdowns and a safety in the first period and a third touchdown and point by goal early in the second session were piled up within the first fifteen minutes of play as the Gildea coached outfit protected its undefeated slate. After each Everett score the orange and black came back fighting gamely in an effort to stave off defeat and although Everett completely dominated the first half Coach Sanborn's Newton outfit was entire master throughout the second half. Newton forced Everett to yield two safeties, one of which many believe the officials should have ruled a Newton touchdown, and thus achieved the honor of being the first eleven to score against Everett this season.

The blustery wind, blowing with gale-like force straight down the field, had a great deal to do with the outcome of the game. Everett won the toss and taking advantage of this "break" of fortune pushed Newton right to the wall. Unquestionably Everett was the more powerful team and deserved victory. Newton fans however find solace in the feeling that had Newton won the toss so that the team could have become acclimated to the conditions before Everett had capitalized upon its early advantage of having the wind behind them. It might have been a different story. As it was the outcome of the game was certain in less time than it takes to tell the story.

First Period

Winning the toss Everett chose to defend the windward goal and Newton elected to kick off. Savignano's boot to the Everett 25 yard stripe was run back by Underwood. Everett colored quarterback, to his 43. Three line plays with Conley, Bellefatto and Gentile carrying made it first down in Newton territory. Conley got away on a 20-yard jaunt around end before Sargent Moore, Newton safety man, brought him down. Underwood and Bellefatto made it a third first down on a 17 in two more plays. Conley tried an end run but was stopped by the top of the football pants and clinging by one hand finally brought him to earth for a three-yard loss. Everett drew an offside penalty and on third down had 18 yards to go for a first down and 25 for a touchdown. An incomplete pass made it fourth down and it looked as though Newton might halt the Everett march. Conley, a speedy runner, carried around left end and with nice interference almost scored. The Newton backs finally forced him outside of the field with a first down on the two-yard line. A Newton substitute end went into the game, called "come on gang" and drew the team a penalty to the 1-yard line. Gentile then plunged over for the initial score but on the try for point Everett fumbled and Newton recovered.

Gentile, who incidentally was the outstanding lumbar of the game, kicked off for Everett. The ball carried over the goal, struck the goal post and Savignano picked it up. Running it out he was downed on the 10-yard stripe. A none too good a pass from centre got away from Savignano on Newton's very first attempt to rush the ball and left end Piscione of Everett fell on the ball behind the Newton goal line for touchdown number two. Gentile missed the try for point making the score 12 to 0.

Again Gentile kicked off over the goal and Newton put the ball in play on their 20-yard stripe. Savignano made a half yard and Everett drew a 5-yard penalty on the play, Newton being given a first down. Moore made two yards and Savignano punted into the wind, the ball was carried outside by the wind at the Everett 42. On second down an Everett pass bounced off the receiver's hands into the arms of Stewart, Newton's centre, who was racing toward his own goal in defense of the pass. He was nailed five yards further back on the Newton 30-yard stripe before he could get started on a runback. Failing to gain Savignano kicked on third down, the wind holding the ball back to midfield. Gentile raced 18 yards around end to put Everett in a scoring position again. Davis, subbing for Conley, reeled off 20 more yards and a first down on the Newton 10-yard line. After two tries had gained but three yards Gentile carried through Captain Gus Castoldi has recovered from the effects of an arm injury which was aggravated in the Everett game and will lead the Newton team from his post at left end. Joe Byrne is suffering from a charley horse and McLean will start at the left end position with Allen and Wittens in reserve.

The backfield starters will probably not be determined until after the final practice session this afternoon. During the week Coach Sanborn has sought to develop a more potent offense and has been trying out various combinations. Several of the reserve backs who showed to good advantage against Everett may get a chance to start against Brockton. In a scrimmage the other day Coach Sanborn sent halfback Treannie and fullback Moore to the second team backfield and used O'Connell and McLeod on the first team quartet with Savignano and Myers. The second team then proceeded to go places and scored against their rated superiors. Coach Sanborn will probably pick his starting quartet from a group which includes the four previous regulars, Myers, Savignano, Moore and Treannie, and several reserves including O'Connell, McLeod, Callahan, Conley, and Reardon.

tackle, crossing the goal standing up. The officials ruled no play and penalized the home team 5 yards. Gentile fumbled on the replay and Savignano recovered to give Newton the ball for the fourth time in the game. Although Savignano made a few yards on the next play an offside penalty set Newton back to the 7 yard line. Savignano's attempted kick was blocked by Treannie falling on it behind the goal for a safety, giving Everett two points and making the score Everett 14.

Newton kicked off from the 20-yard line with the receiver being run outside on the Everett 45-yard stripe on the runback. Gentile slipped and was nailed for a 6 yard loss. Stewart then stopped Bellefatto on a 2 yard gain and Gentile kicked outside at the Newton 12. A lateral pass with Savignano on the receiving end was inaccurate and the ball was free. Savignano reached it to recover the oval on the scrimmage line. Savignano then kicked, the high wind blowing the ball outside at the Newton 25. A criss-cross play with Gentile carrying gained 5 yards as the period ended.

Second Period

Opderbecke, subbing for Bellefatto, carried twice to make it first down on the Newton 15. Underwood skirted the end for 2 yards and Gentile the opposite wing for 4 before he was run outside the field of play. Opderbecke and Gentile made it first down on the Newton 5-yard stripe in two more rushes. Opderbecke was held for no gain. Gentile made 2 yards. Grams, torff, subbing for Underwood, made 1 yard. On fourth down, Gentile was stopped for no gain and Newton took the ball on down on the 1-yard line. Savignano kicked out to Conley on the Newton 32. Conley gained 9 yards at end and Opderbecke 3 at tackle for a first down on the Newton 20 and Everett began knocking again. On third down Conley raced around his left end for touchdown number three, a run of about 15 yards. Everett was penalized on the try for goal and given another attempt 15 yards further back. Against the wind Gentile made his drop-kick of 35 yards good for Everett's 21st and final point.

Everett kicked off and failing to gain, Conley, Newton sub-halfback, kicked to the Everett 28, the wind now being with the Newton kicker. On second down, Milner, Newton tackle, tossed Conley of Everett for a 3-yard loss and Everett punted into the wind for the first time. The ball high in the air bounded back to Everett's 37 to give Newton the ball in Everett territory for the first time in the game. Three plays gained 7 yards and an incomplete pass gave Everett the ball on their own 30-yard line. Gentile failed to gain and Everett drew a 15-yard penalty to the 15-yard mark. An Everett back was in motion before the ball was snapped on the next play and Everett drew a 5-yard penalty. Back in the shadow of their goal, Everett refused to kick and after the next play had been run time for the half expired.

Third Period

Newton came back for the second half with renewed determination and had their scoring chances being slightly altered would have tallied three touchdowns. An exchange of kicks and a 15-yard penalty against Everett set them back to their 15-yard line early in the session. Another attempt to punt by Underwood was spoiled by the wind and Newton had possession of the ball on Everett's 20-yard stripe. Treannie gained three yards in two tries at the line and a lateral to Savignano made it first down on the Everett 7. Savignano and Moore gained six yards in two line rushes but Savignano and Treannie were stopped on the next two and Everett took possession of the ball on their 1-yard line. Underwood's kick into the wind traveled (Continued on page 9)

Twelve Booths Feature Harvest Bazaar Festival

"Visit the Open Road and see the twelve big booths where bargain prices prevail" is the slogan or invitation of the vestry men and members of the twelve committees of the Harvest Bazaar to be held today and tomorrow at the St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville. Action for all the family is promised on both days from ten in the morning until ten at night. The booths will feature aprons, home-made food, fresh vegetables, children's novelties, candies, Christmas gifts, books, a fish pond, a white elephant table, and real pony rides. Home-cooked dinners will be served each evening. There will also be an opportunity to have one's fortune told.

Central Club To Have Rev. C. O. Smith as Speaker

The Central Club of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, following its enthusiastic opening early this month when more than one hundred and twenty men attended the dinner is making careful plans for the next meeting on November 5.

Fred W. Rust, member of the program committee, has made arrangements with Rev. Crawford O. Smith of Brookline to give the address of the evening on the "Harvest of Dictators." Mr. Smith is a very popular speaker having appeared recently before the Boston Rotary Club.

Dudley Hovey, chairman of the Program Committee, has also secured special musical talent for the meeting.

STAR MARKET OBSERVES 19th ANNIVERSARY

The Star Market, which opened a store on Walnut street, Newtonville, a few months ago, is observing its 19th anniversary this week with a special sale of meats, groceries, canned goods and other foods. The first Star Market was established in Watertown nineteen years ago this week in a small way with three clerks. It is now one of the largest markets in Newton and Watertown employing one hundred and forty and operating ten delivery trucks. The business of the Star Market necessitates the use of eighteen telephone lines with sixteen highly trained girls taking orders. Each of these girls is given special schooling in the source and selection of merchandise, cooking, prices, varieties and in all ways which will be of benefit to the customer.

Rotary Club

B. Floyd Rinker, of the Department of English, Newton High, was Rotary's guest speaker at the weekly meeting on Monday. The speaker ably demonstrated the influence of the Teachers' Exchange Plan on better international relations.

The subject, "Great Britain and Europe in 1934," was handled by Mr. Rinker, who spent the past year as an exchange teacher in England, in a most analytic and enlightening manner.

Mr. Rinker made many interesting observations. Micky Mouse is the most popular American in England. The English people are a most hospitable lot and considered that Americans showed the greatest hospitality in the world. Great Britain, although close to Europe, does not consider herself a part of it. Espionage is the first time in history is a finished art. It took twenty-eight thousand bullets to kill one soldier during the World War. England has been the big factor in keeping the League of Nations together.

In spite of reports to the contrary Great Britain is not yet free of depression. The so-called dole is in fact an unemployment insurance far superior to America's welfare efforts.

Another feature of the program was the presentation to one of the club's most popular members of a beautiful set of double rings and a floor lamp. Aubrey C. Schurman, the recipient of the gifts, is to be married soon.

Arrested for Abandoning Baby

Nora Brett, 23, of Speen street, Natick, was arrested on Tuesday and arraigned in the Newton court on the charge of abandoning her baby. The police testified that on April 8 the young woman left the baby at 2305 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls. The baby was taken by police to the Newton Hospital where it remained until April 27, when it was turned over to the care of the State Department of Public Welfare. The Brett woman told Judge Bacon that she had given $2 to a woman at 2305 Washington street to care for the baby. Judge Bacon continued the case until Wednesday.

Newton Upper Falls Woman Honored on 90th Birthday

Mrs. Mattie Bacon Randall who is the oldest native resident of Upper Falls was honored by her relatives and many friends on Friday, October 19 at her home 1195 Boylston street, Upper Falls, when her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. James K. Hemphill, kept open house during the afternoon for her many friends and neighbors and tendered a family reunion and dinner at 6 p. m.

Mrs. Randall was born 90 years ago at 109 High street in the house now owned by Mrs. Ada Ashton. At the age of 12 years her parents the late Horace Bacon and Maria Alden Bacon purchased the home at 1185 Boylston street now occupied by Mr. John T. Britton and family, where Mrs. Randall lived until her marriage to the late Charles W. Randall, 64 years ago when she went as a bride to reside in the home purchased by her husband at number 1195 Boylston street, which was next to her parents' home and where she has since resided.

Mrs. Randall has one daughter Mrs. Mattie Randall Hemphill who resides with her husband Mr. James K. Hemphill at the family homestead.

Village Players to Open Season With Evening Social

The Village Players will open the present season with a social evening on Tuesday, November 6th at the Unitarian Parish Playhouse in Newton Centre. The entertainment will consist of two one-act plays, after which refreshments will be served by Mrs. Fred D. Bond.

The first drama, "Gardella" by Douglas Sloane, will have a carefully selected cast and will be directed by the author. The second with an equally capable cast, will be a comedy, "Romance is a Racket" by Kirkpatrick, and will be directed by Mrs. W. M. Dynes.

The first long play of the season, to be given at the Parish Playhouse on the evenings of December 12th, 14th and 15th, will be "The Last Christopher Bean" by Sidney Howard. Besides being a tremendous New York success, this play has been unusually popular at the summer theatres.

Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, whose interpretation of characters for the Players has delighted many audiences, will be enjoyed in the part of Abby. Irving Locke, who played the role of Dr. Daggett so successfully during the summer season, will direct the production and will be seen in that interesting role. The cast will be up to the standard of excellence always maintained by the Players. The fine work of Mr. and Mrs. Noetzel will be seen in the setting, which will be designed by them and executed in the Workshop.

Gen. Needham to Speak at Newton Centre Men's Club

WORK WILL DEFEAT CURLEY

The campaign slogan of "work and wages" is one of the greatest camouflages being used by the Democratic candidate for governor. Mr. Curley can neither provide more jobs nor higher wages than can Mr. Bacon. Mr. Curley's latest claim that he will receive a million votes is another far-fetched and exaggerated assertion. These and other factors clearly indicate the Democratic candidate is using psychology to fool the voters of the Commonwealth. He is also trying to capitalize on whatever popularity the "new deal" may have in many localities by promising to "rubber stamp" acts of the national administration. There is one sure way in which the Republicans can achieve success. That is by constant effort during the next two and a half weeks and the outpouring of every believer in good government on election day to cast his vote for Gaspar G. Bacon. The Republican party has done considerable work in registering many new voters. The Republican party is in far greater harmony than for some years. The Republican party can elect Bacon as governor and the Republican party will elect Bacon as governor if every voter refuses to be licked until the last vote is counted. Mr. Curley may fool some of the people, some of the time, but he cannot fool all of the voters all of the time.

A DANGEROUS TRAFFIC SITUATION

A collision between an automobile and a fire truck recently at the corner of Centre street and Centre avenue calls attention to an existing danger which should be remedied. Fortunately there was little damage done, but the situation should be corrected before a fatality or serious injury occurs because of existing conditions there. During week-days there is a considerable volume of traffic on Centre street as well as through Vernon street and Centre avenue which intersect at close intervals. This traffic, in addition to the necessity of making a short turn, makes it extremely difficult for the fire apparatus to reach Centre street expeditiously. We are of the opinion that a traffic count at these points might well reveal the desirability of automatic traffic lights. The installation of two two-way lights would solve the problem. These lights could also have a control from the fire station which would enable the apparatus to go through with little difficulty. Some thought and attention should be given this problem before more serious accidents occur at this location, and it becomes a matter of locking the barn after the horse has been stolen.

LIBRARY WEEK

Next week has been proclaimed Library Week by Governor Ely. The Newton Free Library offers a service of which many citizens are aware. To those citizens who infrequently use the library we urge that they acquaint themselves with the opportunities offered. Reading, whether it be along the lines of fiction, literature, history, or any of the arts, helps toward increasing community interest and civic betterment.

Banquet to St. Comr. Mahoney

City Engineer Morse wished success to Mr. Mahoney in his new office. Director of Public Works Ellis said the assemblage indicated the respect in which Mr. Mahoney is held by his fellow employees and citizens and augurs well for a successful administration.

Former Mayor Childs said that Mr. Mahoney is a Newton boy who deserved promotion and who won the position he now holds by industry and honesty. He said that the new official had excellent training under the late George E. Stuart, who for 55 years was associated with the Street Department. He commented that Mayor Weeks did a great job in appointing Mr. Mahoney to the office, and that the latter may serve as an inspiration to the youth of Newton for the progress he has made. He remarked, "If I ever come back, I won't fire you, Charlie." He said that Mr. Mahoney has a fine background and is absolutely honest.

Mayor Weeks said that Mr. Mahoney should feel gratified at the demonstration and that in taking his place with Newton department heads he proved that the Mayor had confidence in him and believed him to possess the same ability and honesty which characterized the other department heads. Mr. Moriarty, in behalf of Mr. Mahoney's associates and friends, presented him and Mrs. Mahoney with a living room set consisting of a divan and easy chair. He also presented a

A Glimpse of the Minor Contests

Unfortunately, the public is so stirred up over the Bacon-Curley contest, that it is proving very difficult for the candidates for minor offices to capture the voters' attention. Some of the Democratic candidates secure a hearing by praising Curley lavishly and extolling the New Deal, but whether they will pick up many votes by this procedure is a matter of doubt.

The two outstanding contests are those for Sheriff of Middlesex County and for Governor of the Commonwealth. For Sheriff, Joseph M. McElroy, of Cambridge, and Ralph W. Robert, also of Cambridge, are engaged in a lively battle. Both men are Republicans, but Robert is running, with muffled engine, on the Democratic ticket. I do not mean to convey the impression that Robert is conducting a quiet campaign—far from it—but he is soft-pedaling the fact that he is a Republican wearing the Democratic label. Neither party is mentioned on his campaign card, although he does give credit to Republican Governor Frank G. Allen for his appointment to his present State position, as Director of the Division on the Necessaries of Life. Robert is accompanied on his rallies by a group of so-called Robert Serenaders who have lusty voices and no respect for pianos. They sing Robert and Curley victory songs with or without provocation. I do not suppose they do any harm, but I question whether McElroy will be defeated by their efforts. Robert is a distinctly attractive candidate. He is a forceful speaker and knows how to handle his audience. I believe he would get more votes by cutting out the vaudeville and explaining, like Dick McCabe, independent candidate for District Attorney, just what his qualifications for Sheriff are, and just exactly why he can do a better job than McElroy. His slogan is, "Smash the County Ring!" Now, as a practical matter, that does not mean much more than the slogan, "Down with political graft and down with the bosses!" Not one person in a hundred can tell you who or what the Ring is, although the "Big Six" spoken of with much awe in strictly political circles. One of them is supposed to reside in Newton.

A word now about McElroy, the present incumbent. Frankly, if the issue were to be decided on the public platform, Robert would probably win. McElroy lacks appeal on the stump. You have to know him personally or be sold on his merits by his army of loyal friends and supporters. Boiled down, his slogan appears to be, "Keep me in office, I'm there now, and I know the job." To be sure, some people believe that Robert was instrumental in placing McElroy where he is today. But what of it? Both men competed in the G. O. P. primary, and McElroy defeated Robert by an impressive margin. Robert had his day in court and he lost. As I have stated once before in this column, I do not approve of the practice of running in both party primaries. Goodwin did the same thing in the gubernatorial contest. My vote will go to McElroy, partly because I am a reasonably staunch Republican, and partly because I think he has done a rather good job so far. Robert has merit, however, and his independence and courage are going to get him somewhere before he retires from politics. He tells me that he will win by 25,000 votes. McElroy's closest friends talk of a forty to fifty thousand majority. My guess is McElroy bouquet of American Beauty roses to Mrs. Mahoney.

Mr. Mahoney opened his remarks by asking all present to stand while "Taps" were played in honor of the memory of the late Street Commissioner, George E. Stuart. He said that his motto has been, "Learn to Labor; Learn to Wait." He thanked Mayor Weeks for having appointed him to the office and assured the Mayor that he will not regret the appointment. He said he will try to instill efficiency and discipline into the Street Department and the employees under him will find him a square shooter. He informed them that he expects them all to give their employers, the taxpayers, 100 per cent return for the wages they receive. He expressed his appreciation to all for the tribute given him.

The following entertainment program was given—tenor solos, George Dolan; dances by Margaret Doyle and Rita Delorey; baritone solos, George Cooley; banjo selections, Richard I. Furbush; Irish songs, Edward Dugan; song and dance ensemble by Eleanor Roche, Charles Shaughnessy and chorus of "Newton Frolics" girls, Thomas L. Bronkhurst was at the piano.

The general committee in charge of the reception included: A. Leslie Moriarty, General Chairman; Richard A. Murphy, Secretary-Treasurer; George B. Rogers, Peter F. Butler, Thomas F. Delaney, Michael Scrooc, Orazio Colletta, Harry P. Purcell, Jeremiah J. Herlihy, James Milford, Charles J. McCarthy, Martin P. Murphy, Edward F. Cannon, Clifford A. Rouse, Louis Greer, Stephen P. Connelly, Maurice O. Quinn, John L. Foley, William E. Pike, Frank Ward, Fred A. Cahill, Alfred V. R. Guzzi, George Saunders, Michael J. Hoban, Thomas Byrnes, Joseph F. Guzzi, James H. Saunders, Sergt. Bart Cullen, Michael J. Morris, Charles J. Fagin, Thomas L. Mattheus, Michael J. Herlihy, George T. Darmody, Albert J. Stuart, John F. Feeney, John D. Russo, Leon H. May, Irving House, John N. McMullen, Joseph A. Beattie, William F. Mc-

by twenty to twenty-five thousand votes. Many Democrats will knife Robert; but it is also true that many Republicans will knife McElroy—so there you are. Middlesex County is still Republican by a fair majority, and a reasonably strong G. O. P. candidate ought to win out. In 1932, the late John R. Fairbairn of Cambridge defeated Stephen C. Garrity of Lowell by 49,762 votes. Fairbairn received 197,500. Garrity 147,738 votes.

The Governor's Council contest ought to be a walk-away for Frank A. Brooks of Watertown, for seventeen years the Chairman of the Board of Parole in Massachusetts. Brooks polled almost as many votes in the primary as his three Republican opponents combined, and he looms up as an outstanding candidate on the Republican ticket. His Democratic opponent, William J. Coughlan, was defeated for the Democratic nomination in 1932 by Mrs. Jessie W. Brooks of Cambridge, who was, in turn, defeated by the Republican nominee, Mrs. Esther Andrews of Brookline, in the election, by 9,942 votes. Coughlan, however, polled little more than 25 per cent of the Democratic primary vote. There were nine candidates in the field, and Coughlan and Mrs. Brooks combined did not poll much more than 50 per cent of the total Democratic vote. In other words, Coughlan is far from strong in his own party. His record seems to be inconsequential, and there ought to be no question whatsoever in the mind of any thinking Republican, Democrat, or Independent, as to the best qualified man for the Governor's Council. As a man and as a public servant, with a long and honorable record, Brooks completely overshadows Coughlan, and he would win by a heavy majority in ordinary times. Nowadays, however, a man with a pleasing voice and political intuition can dig up a lot of votes. Therefore, take nothing for granted, but be sure to mark your cross for Frank A. Brooks for Governor's Council.

The only other minor contest of importance is that for District Attorney in the Northern District. There is a three-cornered fight between Warren L. Bishop, Rep. Mayor Bruin of Lowell, Dem., and Richard S. McCabe of Lexington, Ind. I am frank to say that if character, personality, and ability were the sole issues in this contest, I should not merely vote for McCabe, but I should earnestly urge his election. Bishop's chief assets appear to be the Republican label and the fact that he is in office. I am frankly not very much inclined to commend him to the voters. McCabe has a splendid record of service under former District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell, whom I have reason to believe shares my opinion regarding McCabe's merit. The Democratic candidate, Mayor Bruin, has his hands full taking care of his own city, and I imagine they would like to keep him on the job for the balance of his term of office.

State Senator Arthur W. Hollis unexpectedly has a contest on his hands with a gentleman from Marlboro, by the name of Dalton will run on stickers, but rumor has it that Mr. Hollis is still securing his eight hours' sleep.

Next week I will cover the most recent developments in the Congressional fight between Congressman Luce and Richard M. Russell of Cambridge and Robert M. Washburn and Senator David I. Walsh.

LEGION AUXILIARY ELECTS OFFICERS

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion held its annual election on Wednesday night at Memorial Hall. The following officers were elected for the coming year—President, Mrs. Mona Kearney; senior vice president, Mrs. Catherine Rogers; junior vice president, Miss Sylvia Wilkerson; secretary, Mrs. Helen Irving; treasurer, Mrs. Janet Paterson; historian, Mrs. Jessie Drew; chaplain, Mrs. Mary McCarthy; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Margaret House; executive committee members, Mrs. Dorothy Wilkerson, Mrs. Esther Henley and Miss Esther Barry.

The membership reached 222 during the past year. Mrs. Helen Henderson, president, secured 56 new members. The drum corps of Newton Auxiliary won first place in the State contest. A public installation of officers will be held in Memorial Hall on November 21.

MIDDLESEX COURT M. C. O. F.

Middlesex Court No. 60 will hold its Installation of Officers on Tuesday evening, October 23rd, at Elks Hall, Centre Street, Newton.

Deputy William F. Barry, assisted by the Mystic Degree Staff of Medford will install the following officers: Thomas F. Fitzgerald, Treasurer; Mrs. Catherine Hannan, Senior Conductor; Anne C. Terrio, Junior Conductor; Timothy Gannon, Inside Sentinel; Eleanor G. Mulcahy, Outside Sentinel.

A number of prominent speakers have been invited, the services of some radio stars secured, and general dancing is to follow the entertainment.

ONE THING... AND ANOTHER

With sound-wagons, radios, rallies and amplifiers going full blast this can hardly be called a whispering campaign.

Oddments

You've been asked to order and may have already obtained a quantity of assorted Christmas cards. The earlier the better, for the present markets offers some beauties. But remember to scan each one and study the sentiments before signing your name underneath. Why? Because last year two very good friends of mine, man and wife, unwisely let things go until the last minute and then hurriedly purchased a great number of dainty Christmas and New Year cards. In their haste they sat down and autographed card after card, then addressed, stamped and posted them. It would have worked all right had not a few of the cards, unobserved in the rush, contained the message, "Thank you for the Christmas gift." And the worst of it is they don't know how many of these were in the lot nor to whom they were mailed.

It takes more than the ravages of time to down the true spirit of adventure in stout hearts. Gliding over the smooth surface of the wide road leading from Newton to the central part of the State made me grateful to the kind friend in whose car I was a passenger. Confidentially, however, the miles and miles of macadam became monotonous. I said nothing for I had not the courage. Much braver was a sweet old lady in the party. Apparently she shared my views and was not afraid to announce her convictions. When asked, "Don't you think these smooth roads delightful?" the old lady promptly replied, "No, I'd like to see a few rocks or some other obstacles just for a change."

Sixty Pieces of Copper

It is not uncommon for a lecturer, especially on a technical subject, uncertain as to the sympathy of his audience with his topic, to conclude his dissertation in a state of restrained frenzy. Usually whatever fears he holds that his remarks may not have registered are either allayed or confirmed after he has bravely asked: "Any questions?"

Recently an insurance man delivered a discourse on the various causes of fire to a group of 700 or more men employed as nocturnal guardians of a great portion of Boston's mercantile and industrial properties. In discussing electrical causes of fire, he told the watchmen of a blaze which broke out in a large apartment house, the cause being traced to heated wires overloaded with electric current.

In the basement, the insurance investigators found that the janitor, evidently tired of replacing blown-out fuses, had inserted a penny in each fuse socket before screwing the fuse. He thus insured the permanency of the fuse by providing a conductor which was not fusible, but completely eliminated the protection which the device is supposed to furnish.

"Altogether we collected sixty cents in pennies," said the lecturer.

He then went on to discuss vapours, dust-clouds, chemical reactions and a multitude of other topics all of which were elaborately illustrated with laboratory demonstrations producing bright puffs of flame and miniature but unexpected explosions. When he had finished there was only one response when he asked if there were any questions.

"Yes," piped a voice from somewhere out of the 700, "did you give that janitor back his sixty cents?"

Soapuds and Bubbles

It is more or less confusing to see smartly painted laundry trucks moving through our streets and then to read of preparations designed to make washing clothes at home a jolly pastime for every housewife. It makes me wonder which is the more popular and whether "sending washing out" has supplanted a familiar custom in which the family wash tub was the chief feature.

There was a day, even in the best neighborhoods, when the back yard wash-line told the story of the goings-on in the household. With no intention of being inquisitive each family knew the status of their neighbors in the matter of linen-chamber, table and personal. There was no escaping the knowledge. There it hung—flaunted in one's face, so to speak.

Early on a Monday morning the lady-of-the-house could stand at her kitchen window and get a good idea of whether the folks on the other side had been investing in lingerie, pajamas, etc. It was easy to learn from the flapping clothes lines whether a new supply of sheets, pillow slips, etc., had been acquired. An extra tablecloth indicated guests for dinner; extra garments the presence of visiting relatives and extra handkerchiefs a bad head cold for somebody. Other interesting deductions, too, were possible.

Almost as informing as these "signals," held secure by clothes-pins, was the chatter of the "washer woman," who had a regularly appointed day for coming to do the washing and ironing. Part of her duties, as she interpreted them, was to gossip about other people for whom she then or previously had worked. A housewife, with only a fair skill at cross-examination, could get her considerable information and misinformation, the latter more exciting, of course.

There once was a notion, exploded some time ago, that a young woman who knew her wash tub was possessed of exceptional qualities as wife and home-maker. You don't hear that now. Still, you will find many homes where the weekly wash is regularly displayed for drying in full view of passersby. Strikes me that makes it more entertaining and informing all round.

Newton Trust Co. Wants Branch In Weston

On Monday, October 15, a hearing was held at the State House before the State Board of Bank Incorporations on the petition of the Newton Trust Company for a permit to open a branch bank in Weston. Frank L. Richardson of the Newton Trust Company explained that Weston now has no banking facilities and that the Newton Trust Company has financial assets of sufficient stability to enable it to properly and safely operate a branch in Weston. Furthermore, the Newton Trust Company has a large, trained personnel affording it experienced employees to operate the Weston branch. Several prominent residents of Weston favored the petition.

Opposition was voiced by J. Sydney Stone of Wayland, a director of the Waltham National Bank, who contended that this bank should have a branch in Weston. State Treasurer Hurley asked why the Waltham bank had not applied before? Opposition was also raised by Senator George Moyses of Waltham and State Representatives Hanson and Bullock of that city. They argued against the need of a bank in Weston and Moyses claimed a branch in Weston would mean a later attempt by the Newton Trust Company to have a branch in Waltham.

Children's Theatre to Present Second Play

"Helga and the White Peacock" will be the play produced Saturday, Oct. 27, at 2 P. M. in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House under the auspices of the Newton Dramatic Club. This will be the second in a series of five plays acted by children and adults which is making a real sensation in Newton and the surrounding towns. Superintendents of seven cities have endorsed the plan and parents are delighted to have available excellent entertainment for the children.

The Peacock will be played by Jean Lamotte who will wear a truly resplendent costume designed and executed by Miss Barbara Lippincott. Helga will be acted by Mary Ann Sullivan. The Spider Woman, will be Mrs. Allen Hubbard. Olaf will be acted by Bradford Townsend. Cynthia Churchill will be the Little Troll. Her mother will be Louise Adams. Gray Goose will be acted by Paul Ellicker. The West Wind by Sylvia Brackett and Rex the dog, will be himself. This Troll House with huge mushrooms and with a ten foot spider web over the window is the setting for the first act. The second will be in the woods. The play is coached by Mrs. Wilfrid White and produced by Mrs. Everett W. Varney. Bolton Wilder is in charge of lights. Mr. Wilder and Miss Lippincott created the stage sets and scenery.

Meeting the Times With Dimes!

A TENNESSEE farmer, last summer, took his produce to market in a truck which had been paid for in full—with dimes! 2750 of them! He saved his dimes in a sugar sack until he had enough for a good used car.

Save at least a dime a day and you, too will be able to buy the things you need.

New Book on Contract Bridge Supplements Present System

A new book on contract bridge entitled, "The System the Experts Play" by F. Dudley Courtenay of Bridge Headquarters, Inc., has been published which is of considerable interest. Many card players who are looking for a simple, direct and accurate method of determining hand values will be greatly helped in developing their game. The new book, a handy, loose-leaf volume, presents for the first time the valuation of a hand by the "losing trick count." The system is supplementary to any other system or he may banish such things as high card tricks, low card tricks, ruffing tricks, distributional counts, point counts and other frills of the present game. In this respect the book is revolutionary. The losing trick count is with little question the simplest and yet most accurate and easiest to master of any count now in common use. Under the system three distinct types of hands, aggressive, defensive, and borderline, are readily appraised and accurately bid. Responses, deductive doubles, slam bidding, determination of whether a hand is better played at a suit or trump, and many other problems which confront the average player are readily explained and instruction in their use is given.

The Bond Convenience Shop in the Brown Block, Newton Centre, is featuring these books at the nominal charge of one dollar. Bridge players in the Newtons should make it a point to add this edition to their bridge library.

Pull False Alarm Near Scene Of Fireman's Wedding

Several pieces of Newton fire apparatus were needlessly brought to Waverley avenue, Newton, on Friday when a false alarm was pulled from Box 112 which is located near the corner of Waverley avenue and Washington street. When the Newton firemen reached the box they were greeted jovially by a large number of firemen in uniform. Lieut. Lewis J. Larkin of the Somerville fire department had been married to Miss Ellen O. Greer of 22 Waverley avenue, Newton, and a reception was being held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Greer. Members of the band of Metropolitan Firemen's Post, American Legion, had been playing in front of the Greer residence when the Newton firemen arrived in response to the false alarm. Chief Randlett of the Newton Fire Department stated that no members of the Newton Fire Department were included in the gathering.

Legionnaires Going To Miami

With the National Convention of the American Legion opening in Miami on Oct. 22nd, many local Legionnaires and their families are journeying to that city by land and sea. It is expected that some four or five thousand members from the Massachusetts Department will be in attendance. Last year at the Chicago Convention Massachusetts Posts won national recognition inasmuch as the Marlboro Drum and Bugle Corps won the National Championship; the East Lynn drill team captured first honors and the Gloucester Post's float, depicting the old fish house, was awarded the blue ribbon.

Many of the local Newton Post No. 48 members will be present at the convention, among them being Commander Russell I. Viles, Sergeant-at-Arms J. Sherman Irving and Mrs. Sherman Irving; Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, Jos. Brady, Edward P. Dalton, Paul J. Kent, Comrade Fred Hughes of the Boston & Albany R. R. was in charge of transportation arrangements for Newton, and he has arranged many fine trips both on the way to Miami and return. Others showed a preference for the sea voyages and, of course, the family car will be pressed into service.

About Town

By Edward H. Powers

The writer is not a "dry." We believe the 18th Amendment to be a curse on this country; we believe it to have been responsible for many of the ills which now oppress this nation. But, we are going to vote for Robert Luce for Congress despite the fact that he has been severely criticised for his attitude on the question of prohibition. It is alleged that Mr. Luce did not keep faith with his constituents in the matter of voting to repeal the 18th Amendment. Mr. Luce repeatedly asserted that he would never agree to a recrudescence of the saloon evil. During the long years of so called prohibition nearly everyone who urged the repeal of prohibition asserted that they would oppose the return of the saloon. What followed? When the 18th Amendment was repealed, in most States, including Massachusetts, the saloon returned. Not only are there many times more drinking places than before prohibition, even in proportion to the population, but they are conducted in a large percentage of cases in a manner that the toughest saloons in pre-prohibition years dared not be conducted. Prior to 1919, when the 18th Amendment went into effect, women were not allowed to drink in saloons and there was little drinking by women in restaurants or hotels. The reverse is now all too evident. Thousands of voters in the 9th Congressional District who have been and are being opposed to prohibition, who vote for Mr. Luce as a protest against the existing conditions in the dispensing of alcoholic beverage.

His opponent, Mayor Russell, is a young man who gained political prestige largely on the prestige of his father's name. That Mayor Russell is an opportunist is evidenced by his action the past week in restoring a pay cut of 15 per cent which he levied some time ago on municipal employees of Cambridge. This looks quite like "peanut politics." We do not agree with Mr. Luce on some of his political views, but we believe him to be sincere and he has plenty of moral courage. He has "guts" enough to be one of a small minority. And GOD knows we need a courageous minority in Congress today to fight against some of the extravagance and chiseling which is being perpetrated under the guise of welfare relief.

At the Community evening service at the Lincoln Park Baptist church on Sunday Mr. John Halko, director of the West End Community House, Boston, will speak on "Christian Opportunities in the City Wilderness." Mr. Halko was born in Czechoslovakia, received the degree of Master of Arts from Chicago University after taking undergraduate work at Denison University, and prior to coming to Boston was at the Brooks House, Hammond, Indiana and Director of Religious Education at the Church of the Master, Cleveland.

CHARLES D. CABOT

Following a short illness, Charles D. Cabot died yesterday in his eighty-second year at his home in Newtonville. He was born in Hartland, Vermont, July 26, 1853, the son of George Dwight and Charlotte (Marcy) Cabot.

After the completion of his education at Green Mountain Perkins Academy in Woodstock, he came to Boston as a young man. He married Alice Washburn of Woodstock October 9, 1878, and shortly after established his home in Newtonville where he has lived for the last fifty-five years, becoming one of Newton's oldest residents. On October ninth last he and Mrs. Cabot observed their 56th wedding anniversary. He early entered the furniture business and for the last twenty-five years of his active business life was associated with Paine Furniture Co.

Mr. Cabot was interested in civic and community affairs, and served on the Board of Aldermen in the City of Newton from 1905 through 1910. He was a member of the Newton Universalist Church and gave largely of time and energy in matters of public concern. A charter member of the Newtonville Improvement Society, he followed through his many years' residence the development of his own village and of the City. Largely due to his efforts the triangle park at Lowell ave., Walnut and Water-town streets, was made possible, removing an unsightly tenement block and houses.

He is survived by his widow and their four children, Harry D. Cabot and Charles Raymond Cabot, both of Newtonville, and Willard D. Cabot and Mrs. Charles B. Hemenway, both of Woodstock, Vermont, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from the late home at 561 Watertown st., tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Stanley Spear, minister of the Universalist Church of Beverly and a friend of the family for many years, will officiate. Interment will be in the Newton Cemetery.

Recent Weddings

DUNN—HARWOOD

Miss Lois B. Harwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Harwood of Newtonville and Orleans, was married to Dr. Cecil G. Dunn of Cambridge on Friday evening, Oct. 12th, at seven-thirty o'clock at the home of her parents, 279 Linwood ave., Newtonville. Rev. Randolph S. Merrill of the Central Congregational Church performed the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of ivory satin trimmed with Brussels lace, and her veil also was of lace which she purchased in Brussels, Belgium, while abroad this summer. Miss Chellise Rogers Cook of Newtonville, the maid of honor, wore blue satin with high neckline and train and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Lewis Collins of Orleans, Mass., wore a gown of the same style in yellow satin.

Professor Bernard E. Proctor of M. I. T. and Melrose was the best man. The ushers were Lawrence P. Abare of Milton and Dr. Gilbert B. Ayres of Boston.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Harwood and Mr. William S. Dunn, father of the groom, of Acton.

The home was decorated with pink dahlias, palms, yellow chrysanthemums and roses. The music consisted of violin and piano. Miss Mary Ingraham, a former teacher of the bride, was the pianist.

On their return from a ten-day motor trip through the South, Dr. and Mrs. Dunn will reside at 11 Ware st., Cambridge, where they will be at home after November 1st.

The bride is a graduate of Colorado College, 1929, following which she had a year's graduate study at Wellesley. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. The groom is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology from which he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy last June. He is a member of Delta Omega, an associate of Sigma Xi, and a First Lieutenant of the Engineer Reserve. He is an instructor in the Department of Biology and Public Health at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Twelfth District Conference At Framingham

October 24th will be a most valuable day for clubwomen in the presenting of information of plans and activities of State committee chairmen at a Conference of the Twelfth District Clubs to be held at Framingham, as the guest of the Framingham Woman's Club, Mrs. Andrew D. Morse being the hostess president. The meeting will be held in Emrich Hall, Grace Congregational Church, Union avenue and Pearl street, opening at 10:30 a. m.

The Twelfth District director, whom Newton delights to claim as one of their honored clubwomen, Mrs. John F. Capron, of Newton Centre, will preside at the Conference, in accordance with the procedure of District conferences. Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, the State President; Mrs. John H. Kimball and Mrs. Herbert F. French, State vice-presidents, will represent the State Federation.

Six State chairmen of committees will speak at the morning program, and four at the afternoon program.
There will be also music at the afternoon session by the Club Chorus, and Suzanne Wayland Chick will be the soloist. Mrs. Walker will give an address, closing the Conference.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock, and ticket reservations at 50 cents must be made before October 22nd, by applying to Mrs. R. Edwards Chambers, 25 Nelson street, Framingham.

Always a worth-while feature, the Round Table discussions of subjects will follow the luncheon. The afternoon session will begin at 2:15 o'clock.

Motion Picture Chairman on Radio

Clubwomen will welcome the timely appearance of Mrs. Bernard S. Sabean, State chairman of Motion Pictures, on the State Federation Radio broadcast over Station WBZ, tomorrow, Saturday morning, the 20th of October, the half-hour 11:30 to 12 o'clock.
Mrs. Edgar B. Richardson, of Marlboro, Radio director, will present also, as speaker, Mrs. Mary B. Besse, First district director, on the topic "Flowers from the Garden of Opportunity."
Music will be furnished by Selma Pe-lonsky, Pianist.

Travel Club Continues Study Of Arctic

On Monday, October 22nd, the Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its second meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. John R. McLean, 135 Cornell street, Newton Lower Falls, with Mrs. Frederick E. Waring the assisting hostess. Mrs. Charles E.
Quinn will talk on "Nome," and Mrs.
Ethel Leach will read a paper entitled "Fishes."

Juniors Making Toys and Scrap Books

The Junior Group of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its second meeting of the year on Tuesday, October 23rd, at the home of Mrs. D. Earle Brackett, 420 Waltham street, West Newton. At this meeting the Juniors will make toys and scrap books, and useful articles, which will be sent to the children at the Sherborn Reformatory.
This year the Juniors have planned to "adopt" a baby, each Junior to make clothing or toys for her own particular child. In this way, a real interest and enthusiasm is stimulated to do good wherever it is most needed.

President's Day Gala Event

An exceptionally fine program will be offered to the members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, October 26th, in honor of Presidents' Day. This will be a Presidents' Day in every sense of the word, for not only have the presidents of all the neighboring women's clubs been invited to be the guests of the president, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, but the past presidents of the West Newton Women's Educational Club have been asked to serve on a special committee for the day, these being Mrs.
Joseph A. McDonald, Reception chairman; Mrs. Harry S. Wells, in charge of Hostesses; Mrs. John R.
McLean, in charge of Guest Book;
and presiding at the tea table, Mrs.
Fred M. Blanchard, Mrs. D. Earle Brackett, Mrs. Raymond Littlefield, and Mrs. Joseph A. Otis.

The following Club members will have charge of Decorations: Mrs.
Carl Thomas, Mrs. Star A. Burdick, and Mrs. Sidney B. Sargent. Mrs.
Guy C. Holbrook will take charge of Flowers.

The Reception will begin promptly at 2 p. m. and will be followed by a musical program. Sylvester Carter, who is a graduate of Bates College and is at present earning his way through medical school by engagements for singing, has an exceptionally fine baritone voice, and he will render a number of selections.

Famous Singers of E. R. A. Chorus
To Be at Newton

On October 25th at the Newton Community Club the Music committee, of which Mrs. Wallace Wales is chairman, will present as part of the program the ERA Chorus in a thirty-minute concert. This chorus is composed of one hundred professional singers, who are under the direction of Mr.
Frederick Lamb, noted choral conductor, and under the supervision of Mr.
Joseph P. Carney, regional director of the ERA, and under special direction of Judge William J. Day, who has charge of the Department of Music under the ERA.

This is the first time that the United States as a Government has employed musicians, and the Chorus is the pioneer in this country.

Singers are drawn from former members of the Metropolitan Opera, Boston Opera Company, Light Opera Organizations, Oratorio singers, noted Church soloists and graduates of Conservatories and Colleges of Music.
They have made many appearances, always creating enthusiasm, and the Club is fortunate to be able to have them perform at the meeting, which will be held at Underwood School Hall at 2:30 p. m. The presentation of these famous singers is sure to attract a large audience. No Club member will want to miss this concert.

Another feature, Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor, who spent the past summer in Europe, will speak on Current Events. She has an extensive fund of information, which is sure to be given in a very interesting way.

The Social committee, of which Mrs.
George E. Rawson is chairman, will have charge of refreshments.

The Trips planned to the Art Museum under the leadership of the Art committee, Miss Florence Bacon, chairman, are as follows: November 1st, French Period Rooms; December 6th, English Period Rooms, and January 17th, American Period Rooms. In the spring Mrs. Saywood suggests "Flowers in Design" for her topic, and the dates will be February 7th,
March 21st and April 4th.

Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge will have charge of a Rummage Sale, to take place the early part of November.

Newtonville Club Opens Season With Enthusiasm

Amidst a scene of brilliant coloring in autumn flowers and foliage, the Newtonville Woman's Club held its Annual Reception to its members on Tuesday afternoon, October 16th, from 2:30 to 5 o'clock, at the Club House on Washington park.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Edwin P. Rawson, president, assisted by the three vice-presidents, Mrs. J.
Mace Andrews, Mrs. Frank E. Morris,
and Mrs. George H. Tracy, and Mrs.
H. Clayton Pearson, chairman of the House committee. The other officers of the Club acted as ushers, with a spirit of sociability and companionship among the two hundred or more members present.

Mrs. Willard S. Higgins, a former president, Mrs. Robert C. Kelley, a former vice-president, Mrs. Henry M.
Weldner, chairman of the Hospitality committee, and Miss Harriet L. Parsons, Executive-secretary of the Newton Welfare Bureau, presided at the tea table, assisted by Mrs. James D.
Elliott and the members of her committee who served the refreshments.

The music for the afternoon was furnished by the Ruth Trio, consisting of Miss Ruth Kendall Lindblad, Pianist; Miss Dorothy Alyce Mann, Violinist; and Miss Irma Bates Con-
f. Cellist. With many attractive plans under way the Club year promises to be a great success.

Newly Organized Club Has Many Worthwhile Aims

Thoughtful clubwomen will welcome the news that a new Club has been organized with the avowed purpose of promoting the general welfare through political interest in proposed laws. Many prominent club-women are among its sponsors, including Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, a former president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. William J. McDonald, a former director and now treasurer of the State Federation. As the statement of its formation aptly puts it: "Education can not win without Legislation. Let women's votes elect a Congress and Legislatures that will promote the general welfare. Women and children are two-thirds of the 'people.' Who represents them?"

Those who are interested to know more about this Club may do so by applying to our own Mrs. John M.
Groves, of Newton Centre, or to Headquarters of the Massachusetts Woman's Union for Political Action, at 705 Tremont Temple, Boston. A membership card will be issued upon sending twenty-five cents to the State treasurer, Mrs. Richard Morton, at Headquarters, or one may become a sustaining member for one dollar.

A Luncheon is to be given by this Club at the Canterbury Hotel, 14
Charlesgate West, Boston, at 12 o'clock, on Monday, the 22nd of October. Luncheon tickets, at 60 cents, may be obtained by writing to 705 Tremont Temple; also a program announcing the many outstanding speakers on vital political issues confronting the women voters who will be presented at this meeting, and the forum to follow.

"Opportunity" Is Attractive Topic
For Study

A meeting of the Christian Era Study Club will be held at the home of Miss Susie Johnson, 84 Grove St., on the afternoon of October 22nd. The subject for the meeting will be Dr.
George Gordon's "My Life and My Religion," presented by Mrs. Nathaniel Grant. This will be the second meeting of the season, "Opportunity" being the general topic for the year.

Newton Federation
Executive Board
Meets Monday

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold the first meeting of the season Monday morning, October 22nd, at 10 o'clock, at the Newton Library. Mrs.
Charles C. Willson, president, desires a full attendance.

Book Review and Current Events
For C. L. S. C.

On Monday, October 22nd, the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Miss Adelaide R. Webster of Chestnut street. Miss Anna S. Thompson and Mrs. C. Peter Clark will review "Windows on Henry Street," by Lillian D. Wald. Miss Georgia H.
Martin will speak on her work at the Henry Street Settlement. Mrs. Edward G. Swift and Miss Christine A.
Norton will present Current Events.

Varied Program
At the Newton Community Club

The Newton Community Club started its season's activities on Thursday, October 11th. Mrs. Steven Bayard Wilson, president, opened the meeting with a short address of welcome.

Mrs. Clarence H. Spike, chairman of the Membership committee, began a campaign for new members.
The International Relations committee, of which Mrs. LeRoy P. Guion is chairman, presented Mr. Courtney Crocker who spoke favorably on the League of Nations referendum, which is to be on the ballot at the November election. Mr. Crocker, who is a well-known public speaker, has held many official positions of responsibility, and could speak on his subject with authoritative information.

A program of ten very enjoyable Original Dance Divertissements was presented by Edmund Bradley, former member of Mordkin's Ballet Russe, assisted by Miss Fagan and Miss Waldeman, with Reginald Bordman as accompanist. These interpretations of music by Chopin, Brahms, Liszt, and other classical composers were very cleverly done, and an added attraction were the appropriate costumes, changed for each number.
Five of the dances were solo, featuring either Mr. Bradley or one of his assistants. Polichinelle, by Rachmaninoff; Norwegian Dance, by Schytte, and Polka, by Berger, which included all of the dancers, were especially entertaining and amusing.

Mrs. Maurice V. Dennison is chairman of the Program committee which arranged for the entertainment.

Mrs. J. Porter Russell, Mrs. Daniel
M. Goodridge, past presidents, and Mrs. Ralph M. Patterson presided at the tea table.

Dr. DeHaas To Speak at Auburndale

The fall reunion of the Auburndale Woman's Club will be held on Tuesday, October 23rd, at the Auburndale Club House. At 12:45 luncheon will be served by the Hospitality committee, followed at 2 p. m. by the business meeting, with music rendered by Mrs. Dana Kendall, Soloist, a Club member; and at 2:30 o'clock Dr. J. Anton De Haas will speak on "Current International Economic Interests." The address will be given by Mrs. Howard P. Converse.

Song Cycle To Be Given

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold the first regular monthly meeting on Friday, October 26th, at 2 o'clock. The president, Mrs. George Willard Smith, will preside at the business meeting which will be for members only. The Music committee, of which Mrs. J. Snyder is chairman and Mrs. George Owen, co-chairman, will provide the musical program for the afternoon. "In a Persian Garden," a song cycle by Liza Lehman, will be given, under the direction of Nelson Lane, by a mixed quartette: Mary Dyer, Soprano; Ida MacKnight, Alto; John Tullock, Tenor; and Nelson Lane, Bass; with accompanist, Mrs. George Owen. Mrs. Snyder will close the program by playing the first movement of the Grieg concerto in minor, with Ralph MacLean at the second piano.

Ten will be served with Mrs. Edward T. Rock and Mrs. Herman F. Wells as hostesses.

In the Art Gallery there will be an Exhibition of Modern Photographs, both portraits and landscapes by a new process, in charge of Mrs. William C. Noetzel. Members of the Club may bring guests to this meeting without charge.

Plans of Interest At Newtonville

The Committee chairman, Mrs. Frank E. Morris, has recently mailed to Newtonville Woman's Club members a bulletin descriptive of the Hallows' Bazaar. Plans are now complete for this two-day gala event—October 30th and 31st—which promises to be most entertaining. The tables will have many attractive and useful articles in a variety to appeal to everyone and prices will be surprisingly reasonable. A group of young people will entertain during the first evening, and the Men's Club of two of the local churches will provide the program of the second evening. The chairman describes the whole undertaking to be a unique and lively affair. Articles for the Bazaar, not already donated, may be left at the Club House on October 29th.

The Drama committee is arranging for a Class in Platform Art to be conducted by Mrs. Hortense Creeds Rallsback. This course of ten lessons will be given on Friday mornings from 9:45 to 11:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Percy E. Woodward, 125 Highland avenue, and is open to Club members and their friends. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Roger Wheeler, chairman, Newton North 0894J.

The Literature Class will meet with Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, 64 Oakwood road, on Monday afternoon, October 22nd, at 2:30 o'clock. This will be the first meeting of the class this season and the program is in charge of Mrs. Charles Richardson. "Summer Readings" will be discussed and book reviews will be given by Mrs. Albert Everts, Mrs. Charles Richardson, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, and Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker. All Club members are cordially invited to attend these meetings which are being sponsored by the Education committee, Mrs. Ellicker, chairman.

The first of the six lectures in the Story Course, by Richard Hill Wilkinson, will be given at 10:15 a. m. on October 24th, at the home of Mrs. Raymond A. Green, 7 Dexter road. The origin, background, and mechanics of the short story will be discussed among subjects pertaining to such a course.

Mrs. Howard M. Waybright, will meet the members of the Hospital committee for an all-day Sewing Meeting at the Newton Hospital on October 25th.

There is urgent need for garments for the Clothes Room at City Hall for distribution in this city. The Civics chairman Mrs. Anton A. Wild, 17 Calvin road, will be glad to receive articles for this purpose or they may be left at City Hall, Homer street entrance.

Members of the Legislative and Civics committee are urging all registered voters to consider carefully the qualifications of candidates for office to be selected at the approaching election, and to be sure to vote on November 6th.

The extension of the platform in the main auditorium of the Club House, an improvement which will be appreciated both by Club members and by those who address or entertain the Club, has been supervised recently by Mrs. H. Clayton Pearson, the House chairman.

History In The Making Timely Topic of Lecturer

Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor, newly-arrived from Europe, having landed from the Bremen on Monday, brought first hand news of the European situation to the Newton Highlands Woman's Club on Tuesday, October 16th, under the title of "History in the Making."

Mrs. Taylor said she left Paris the previous Wednesday struggling to grasp the almost unbelievable fact that a King, a Foreign Minister, and a General had actually been assassinated on French soil. She described vividly the effect of the news of the tragedy on the gala spirit of the city which awaited the Royal visit.

She gave a picture of the session of the League of Nations when Russia was voted into the League and discussed the motives behind the votes of the several Delegations.

As suggestions for study during the coming months Mrs. Taylor said, "Watch the shifting formation of a new bloc in Central Europe, and then watch the diplomacy of France and the growth of the alliance between France and Russia this winter."

Luce Rally at Newton Centre Draws Crowd

Mayor Weeks, Speaker Saltonstall and Ex-Mayor Hatfield Also Speak

The hall at the Newton Centre Woman's Club was well filled last night by several hundred persons who attended a public meeting in honor of Congressman Robert Luce. The meeting was presided over by Hon. Charles E. Hatfield. The first speaker was Mayor Weeks said that Mr. Luce has been criticized for his alleged opposition to President Roosevelt but that it is impossible to find men in public life, all of whose public acts satisfy every one. He said the proper way to gauge an officeholder is to balance those things he has done with which one agrees, with those things he has done with which one disagrees. He said that if the voters of the 9th District consider Mr. Luce on this basis, they surely must admit he is well in the black ink.

Mayor Weeks said it is important not only to retain the Republicans now in Congress, but to add to their numbers, in order to have a constructive fighting minority to offset the two-thirds majority of the Democrats. A majority which has been suspending the rules at will, and which appropriated $7,000,000,000 in twenty minutes during the closing hours of the last session of Congress. The Mayor told of meeting a prominent Democratic member of Congress from North Carolina recently. This Congressman said it would be a crime not to return Mr. Luce to Congress as he is among the ablest and most constructive members of that body.

Leverett Saltonstall, Speaker of the House, coincided with the Mayor in urging the return of Republican members of Congress. Mr. Saltonstall stressed the fact that Massachusetts years ago enacted humanitarian legislation which only recently has been adopted as emergency measures of (Continued on Page 6)

Will Meet Monday Night To Discuss School Marks

At the auditorium in the Newton Technical High School next Monday night a meeting will be held at which members of the Newton School Committee and members of various sections of the city will discuss the "no marking" system now in operation in the Newton public schools. At the meeting of the School Committee on last Monday night, Kirtley Mather, chairman of the subcommittee which has been studying this problem, announced that the questionnaires which had been sent to the teachers have been returned. He said that plans for a somewhat revised marking system have been prepared. Under this system report cards may be restored, but they will differ considerably from the report cards formerly in use.

Boys Injured When Stolen Car Hits Pole

John Keane, 16, of Winthrop avenue, Newton; Arthur Boyd, Jr., 15, of Carleton street, Newton; and Robert Higgins, 15, of 203 Washington street, Newton, will appear in the juvenile session of the Newton court today. Keane is charged with taking an automobile and also with driving a car without a license. The other two boys are charged with taking an automobile without authority. It is alleged that on Monday night the three approached Louis Brundrett of Cedar place, Needham, as he was about to enter a house on Hilltop street, Newton, and asked him for a ride, that Brundrett refused, and when he entered a house, the three took the car. They only proceeded a short distance when the car hit a pole opposite 214 Cabot street. Higgins was thrown through the top of the car. He received a sprained wrist and other injuries and was taken to the Newton Hospital with Boyd who was slightly injured. The car was badly damaged. It was owned by Donald Crisp of Webster street, Needham.

More Arrests For Drunkenness In This City

Arrests For Drunken Driving Increase 25%

The report of James P. Gallagher, clerk of the Newton District Court, for the year ending Sept. 30 shows that there was a large increase in the number of arrests for drunkenness over the preceding year. From Oct. 1, 1932, to Sept. 30, 1933, the number of persons arrested in Newton for drunkenness totaled 517, and the number arrested for driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor totaled 67. From Oct. 1, 1933, to Sept. 30, 1934, the number of arrests for drunkenness totaled 933, and the total arrests for drunken driving, 82.

To offset the big increase in arrests for drunkenness, there was a decided decrease in arrests for criminal offenses. In the preceding year such arrests totaled 2423; for the year just concluded—1802. This does not mean that fewer persons are violating laws. The answer is—that Newton police are paying less attention to violations of automobile laws. For the year ending Sept. 30, 1933, the total number of automobile cases brought into the Newton court was 1444; for the year ending Sept. 30, 1934, the total was 513.

Newton Centre Bride Dies in Airplane Crash

In North Carolina, Where Young Couple Resided

Mrs. Elizabeth (Follett) Kistler and her husband, J. Frederick Kistler, were killed on October 21st at Morganton, South Carolina, when the airplane operated by Mr. Kistler crashed just after he took off at the airport in that town. Mrs. Kistler was the daughter of Mrs. Edna L. Follett of 25 Ballard st., Newton Centre, and the late William Dana Follett. Mrs. Kistler graduated from Lasell Junior College in 1933 and her husband graduated from Harvard School of Business Administration in 1930. They were married at Newton Centre on September 5th of this year and went to Morganton to reside. Mr. Kistler was in the hosiery manufacturing business there. Upon receiving news of the tragedy, Mrs. Follett hastened to Morganton. Besides her mother, Mrs. Kistler is survived by two brothers, William D. Follett and Robert Follett of Newton Centre.

Stone Home for Aged Enters 35th Year

Unique among the institutions for the aged in this country is one located here in Newton which in reality is not an institute but a real home in the true sense of the word—a home for aged people which the trustees or directors of other such homes might well pattern after.

The Stone Institute and Newton Home for the Aged, located on Elliott st., Newton Upper Falls, was founded through the generous bequest of Mr. Joseph Stone, at one time a prominent Boston business man and resident of West Newton. His will provided for a trust fund to be known as the Stone Institute. One-half of the fund was to be used for the erection of buildings suitable as a home for elderly people, while the income of the remaining half was to be used toward the maintenance of the home.

Four years following Mr. Stone's bequest, the small group of men who formed the corporation to carry out his wishes located an ideal spot for the home in the Otis Pettee Estate in Newton Upper Falls. The old Pettee Mansion was renovated and many of the rooms were provided with furnishings contributed by members of the corporation. Formal dedication of the home then took place on May 4, 1899.

Since its dedication, the officers and directors have endeavored to carry out the wishes of Mr. Stone, its founder, in the operation of the home and the care of the elderly people who reside there. They have endeavored to extend the capacity of the home and make available its many comforts to as many people as would be consistent with sound and conservative management.

The objective of the officers has been to make the Stone Institute just as much a home as it is humanly possible by providing a congenial environment and freedom for its elderly occupants, as well as proper medical, dental and rest facilities for those who are sick. Nothing explains this objective better than the words of Mr. Joseph Byers, who was for twenty-five years Vice President of the Board of Directors:

"We have only one desire; that all the inmates should be contented and happy and to disabuse their minds as much as possible of the idea that it is a charitable institution. Every inmate has paid full admission fee and is entitled to our watch and care for the remainder of life."

Everything is done to make the lives of those entering the Home comfortable under the personal supervision of the Matron, Clara E. Frost. Each occupant has an individual room suitably furnished, and is provided with good meals and clothing. The health of each individual is carefully looked after through the generous services of Dr. Caroline Wentworth, Dr. Harold G. Giddings and Dr. C. A. Thompson. The services of an oculist, dentist, or chiropodist are also supplied when needed. The Home has a large lot in the Newton Cemetery and interment is made there unless the individual has a personal lot. All burial expenses are taken care of by the Home.

Besides protecting the health of the occupants, care is also taken to safeguard their lives. Knowing that the occupants of the Home are advanced in years and some of them are sick or infirm, the directors realized that in the event of fire there would be more of a hazard than if the buildings were occupied by younger people. Consequently the directors had installed there the most modern Gamewell automatic fire alarm equipment and a Rockwood Sprinkler System which gives the occupants the best possible protection against fire.

Although the financial maintenance is sound for the Home as it stands today, there is urgent need for a larger building and infirmary. With the last wing added in 1915, the Home accommodates twenty-five persons, but to meet the urgent demands for admission, provisions should be made to care for double this number and also (Continued on Page 3)

Community Chest Campaign Plans Near Completion

Village Committees and Broadcasting Plans Announced

The organization of the Newton Community Chest Campaign for 1935 funds is rapidly nearing completion. The campaign itself will take place between November 15 to 25. From November 7 to 13 inclusive a novel method is being used to bring to the attention of the people of Newton its many points of interests, its good school system, its libraries, its playgrounds, its hospital and charitable organization, its churches, its residential advantage and scores of other All-Newton features. Through special radio programs, sponsored by the Chest and staged in the auditorium of the Newton High School, this Newton revue will be broadcast over the new radio station WMEX from 7:30 to 8:30, Nov. 7 to 13 inclusive.

Leading musical organizations of Newton will participate. Prominent citizens, musicians, entertainers and Round Table groups will represent the various sections of the Garden City. "Newton on Parade" is the title of the series of radio programs and complimentary tickets to these programs may be obtained after November 1 by citizens of each village by getting in touch with the chairman and majors of the campaign in their village.

The Budget Committee, consisting of William B. Baker, Chairman; Walter R. Amesbury, Howard M. Biscoe, Albert M. Lyon, Leverett Saltonstall, is making every effort to hold the 1935 quota to a reasonable figure, despite the ever-increasing, worthy demands made upon the various agencies of the Chest. The executive committee of this year's campaign under the leadership of Donald D. McKay, chairman, has practically recruited the list of majors, captains and workers to its full quota of 1800 strong. This workers' organization is expected to be present in a body at the first radio program presented on Wednesday, November 7, at the High School Auditorium.

Incendiary Fire At Newton Hlds.

A large, old barn at 261 Nahantton st., Oak Hill, which has been partly demolished, was destroyed by fire early Monday morning. The barn, owned by Clive Lacey, was discovered on fire at 4:26 a. m. by Patrolmen Green and McKenna, who sounded an alarm from Box 93. The old lumber created quite a blaze. Chief Randall of the Newton Fire Department stated that the fire evidently was of incendiary origin.

Car Driven By Boy Injures Two Children

A car driven by Phillip O'Brien, 16, of 658 Watertown street, Newtonville, hit two children riding bicycles on Highland avenue, Newtonville, last Saturday morning at 11:40 and then crashed into the steps of the house at 31 Highland avenue after swerving across the sidewalk and yard. The car also hit a traffic sign. Young O'Brien, who had a driving license for three months, accompanied by his mother, was driving west along Highland avenue. The car hit Frances Gooley, 8, of 40 Highland avenue and Arthur Hubbard, 10, of 34 Highland avenue as the two children were riding their bicycles along the street. The Hubbard boy was crushed against a tree and his left leg so badly injured that an amputation operation has been feared. He also had his pelvis injured and a brain concussion. The Gooley girl, who was hit first, received a fracture of her left elbow. Both children were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and the Hubbard boy's name was placed on the danger list, as his condition was critical.

Democrats Hold Weekly Meetings

A joint meeting of the Jefferson Club and of the Democratic Ward and City Committee of Newton was held on Friday evening, Oct. 19th, at 8 o'clock in the South Side Democratic Headquarters, White Building, corner of Commonwealth ave. and Centre st., Newton Centre.

Meetings will be held on Friday evenings at the various headquarters each week until after election. Further written notice will not be given.

Announcements will be made on each Friday evening as to where the following meetings are to be held.

At present, Democratic Headquarters are also located at Russell Campaign Headquarters, Room 4, 1357 Washington st., West Newton. It is expected that other headquarters will be established in other localities in the near future.

Pay Fines For Violating Auto Regulations

Several autoists were fined in the Newton court on Wednesday for violating automobile laws. James Meissner, Jr., of 795 Chestnut st., Waban, was fined $5 for speeding. Robert Modine of Main st., Waltham, was fined $10 for speeding. Thomas Mirabito of Felton st., Waltham, and Tony Cacace of River st., Waltham, each was fined $5 for not slowing down at a street intersection. Charges of driving with improper lights were placed on file.

Huge Rally Planned For Bacon-Haigis

Other Republican Candidates Coming Here Wednesday

Lieut. Governor Gaspar G. Bacon, candidate for Governor, and at least four other prominent speakers have been assigned to Newton's biggest political rally of the season which will be held in Newton High School Auditorium next Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Arrangements for the Newton Rally, planned to be one of the most important held anywhere in the Commonwealth, are being made by the Republican State Committee, cooperating with the Republican City Committee of Newton, headed by Charles E. Hatfield, Chairman.

Emphasis is being placed on the importance of the Newton Rally and Bacon, who has hit his stride, is preparing to make one of the principal speeches of his campaign at this Newton gathering.

Democrats and Independents as well as Republicans are invited, for Candidate Bacon declares he will have something to tell them that goes far beyond party lines.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton will preside at the rally which will be preceded by a street parade. Music will be furnished by the Band of Newton Post, No. 48, American Legion.

In addition to the candidates on the State ticket and speakers assigned by the Bacon headquarters, the arrangement committee has invited former Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Senator Arthur W. Hollis and Representatives Leverett Saltonstall, Warren Brimblecom, Clarence Luitwieler and William B. Baker to speak.

The local chairman, Charles E. Hatfield, has promised "political fireworks" inside and outside the hall at which he declares will be the biggest and most important political rally ever held in Newton and he advises everyone to "Save the 31st."

Newton Teachers Want Pay Cut Restored

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on last Monday night a communication was received from the Newton Federation of School Teachers, the organization of teachers in the Newton public schools, asking for a restoration of the pay cut of 7½%, which went into effect on January 1, 1933. All employees of the City of Newton received a similar pay cut at that time, and still are on the reduced pay schedule. The School Committee voted to acknowledge the communication from the teachers, and commented in this acknowledgment that the matter of restoring the pay-cut is "close to the minds of the committee."

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON OVERCOMES TWELVE POINT LEAD TO BEAT BROCKTON

The Newton High School football team found itself last Saturday afternoon. With four games already past history and with but one victory and one tie to its credit the orange and black eleven had failed to live up to expectations. Taking the field on Saturday Coach Sanborn's team was rolled back by a fast-stepping high-geared Brockton machine. In less than ten minutes of play the visitors had chalked up two touchdowns to take a twelve-point lead. Fortunately for Newton both attempts at the point after touchdown had failed. Apparently doomed to overwhelming defeat the Newton squad suddenly came to life early in the second period when Brockton found itself in a hole. A 15-yard penalty set the visitors back on their 1-yard line and the complexion of the game entirely changed. The resulting Brockton kick gave Newton the ball on the visitor's 35-yard stripe. Savignano was tossed for a 3-yard loss when he tripped over his own interference. The came the play which put new life into the Sanborn-coached outfit. Savignano took the ball from centre, faded back and tossed a long pass to Captain Gus Castoldi who had raced deep into the Brockton secondary and then cut over to the right side of the field. The move put him beyond the Brockton defence as Savignano's pass nestled in his arms. The play was perfectly executed. Christiani, speedy Brockton colored star, set out after Castoldi and with a driving tackle brought him down on the Brockton four yard line. The momentum of the two players carried them across the goal and the ball was brought back to the spot where Castoldi went down for a 34-yard gain. Christiani's tackle only staved off the Newton score. Fired by the spark of success for almost the first time this year Newton would not be denied. Hammering at the line Treannie finally went across for the touchdown. Castoldi's try at point was low. A short while later the half ended with Brockton holding a 12 to 6 advantage.

After the intermission between the halves Newton came back strong. Brockton received the kickoff and failing to gain prepared to kick. Al-lan Wilson, tackle, and Wittens, substitute end, crashed through on Saarinen, the Brockton punter. The ball bounded off Wilson's chest and the three players set out after it as it bounded towards the goal. Saarinen finally recovered the loose oval on the Brockton 7 yard line. Again he tried to kick and again the Newton ball rushed in to partially block the ball. Newton recovered on the Brockton 24 yard line and set sail for the goal. Treannie was held to a one yard gain but on the next play a criss-cross and lateral pass with McLeod, substitute back, on the receiving end sent him off for a 17-yard gain and a first down on the 6 yard line. Treannie was thrown for a two yard loss on a delayed kick which McLeod carried back by dragging three Brockton players with him on an end run on the next play. On the third play the lateral pass worked again and McLeod raced across the line for the tying touchdown. Captain Gus Castoldi then put Newton in the lead with a successful placement kick. Late in the game Newton again was in scoring position. Newton kicked to Christiani and the ball bounced off his chest right into Captain Castoldi's arms on the Brockton 35. With Savignano and Bosworth carrying the ball the local chalked up two first downs to bring the ball to the Brockton 11 yard line. A penalty for crawling and a 4-yard loss set them back to the 19 yard line and on the final play of the game Moore failed to gain.

Brockton had an 8 to 6 edge in the matter of first downs and a considerable margin on the total yardage gained by rushing or through the air. Newton, however, forced the breaks, capitalized on them and had the final comeback punch to score the tying touchdowns. Castoldi's trusty toe did the rest.

First Period
Newton kicked off and the ball was run back to the Brockton 36. Myers stopped Astuto at the scrimmage line. Christiani fumbled but recovered after a slight gain. Saarinen kicked to the Newton 28. Moore and Savignano could not gain and Savignano kicked to midfield. Saarinen's pass to Astuto was good for 23 yards to the Newton 25. Christiani was stopped by Moore on an end run of two yards. Christiani went through the line for 12 yards and a first down on the Newton 14. Saarinen gained 7 yards at tackle and Christiani 4 for another first down on the Newton 3 yard line. Christiani went through tackle for a touchdown. Saarinen missed the point. Brockton kicked off to Savignano who returned the ball to the Newton 30. Castoldi recovered a Newton fumble for a yard loss. Savignano failed to gain and on the next play kicked to the Newton 47. Principle hit the Newton line for a six yard gain. Christiani made 7 more for a first down on the Newton 31. Again Christiani tore off 7 yards and Saarinen 5 for another first down on the Newton 19. Christiani and Principle gained 11 yards in two plays to the Newton 8. Astuto was stopped at a yard after little, Newton end tripped him. Saarinen raced and missed the try for the point. Brockton kicked off and the ball was down on the Newton 38. Reardon, Newton sub back, failed to gain. Bosworth, another substitute, fumbled but recovered the ball for a three yard gain as the period ended.

Second Period
Savignano kicked to the Brockton 32. DeNapoli, Newton second string guard, stopped Christiani at 2 yards and Saarinen tried a quick kick to the Newton 36. Savignano and Bosworth gained 9 yards in three plays and Savignano kicked to the Brockton 16. Brockton was penalized to the 1 yard line. Saarinen kicked off to the 34. After a loss of three yards Savignano passed to Castoldi, 33 yards to the 4 yard line. On third down Treannie scored. Castoldi missed the point. Newton kicked off over the Brockton goal and the ball was put in play on the 20-yard stripe. Brockton pulled a quick kick which went outside the Brockton 47. Treannie's 3 yard gain was offset by a 5 yard penalty for having a back in motion. Woodward, sub quarterback, was tossed for an 8 yard loss on an attempted forward pass. Conley kicked outside at the 36. McLeod stopped Christiani for a 6 yard gain. Wittens stopped Saarinen on a 3 yd. gain. Packard downed Astuto at the scrimmage line and Brockton kicked. Callahan received the kick, fumbled and recovered on the Newton 30. On third down Conley hooked a long punt to the goal line where Christiani had difficulty picking it up allowing Wittens to come down field and nail him on the 7 yard stripe. On third down Saarinen kicked to McLeod on the Brockton 30 where the Newton player fumbled and Brockton recovered. Christiani made 6 yards in two rushes to end the half.

Third Period
Castoldi kicked off to Christiani and the Brockton colored youth was downed on his 23. On third down Saarinen's boot and Saarinen recovered on the Brockton 7. Saarinen's second attempt to kick was partially blocked and Newton took possession of the ball on the Brockton 24. Treannie made a yard. A lateral to McLeod was good for 17 yards and a first down on the Brockton 6. Treannie lost two yards. McLeod gained 3 on an end run. McLeod went across the line on a lateral pass play for the tying score. Castoldi kicked the winning point. Castoldi kicked off to the Brockton 41 and failing to gain Brockton kicked. Newton shortly afterward returned the kick to the Brockton 47. Castoldi nailed Christiani for a 2-yard loss and on third down Brockton tried a quick kick. Castoldi blocked the punt and DeNapoli recovered for Newton on the Brockton 35. Moore gained 5 yards and O'Connell made 10 on a spinner play for a first down on the Brockton 25 and Newton threatened again. Astuto nailed Savignano for a 5 yard loss and O'Connell failed to gain so Savignano passed to Wittens. The pass fell incomplete as did a second pass to Moore. Brockton taking the game on downs on their 25. Christiani got away on a 20-yard punt before he was run outside. He made two yards more on the final play of the period.

Fourth Period
Brockton tried a pass on a fake kick play but the Newton centre knocked the ball out of the receiver's hands. O'Connell intercepted the next pass and was finally downed on the Newton 27. On third down Newton kicked to the Brockton 45. Christiani made 12 yards around end but the Brockton advance was abruptly halted when Stewart intercepted a Brockton pass to give Newton the ball on their own 37. Newton kicked on third down and the Brockton safety man ran it back to the Newton 47. Wittens recovered Christiani's fumble to give Newton the ball again on the Newton 42-yard line. Moore was thrown for a 2-yard loss. McLeod got free and was getting clear when he fell for a 9-yard gain. Bosworth made two yards on a plunge and it was inches to go for a first down. Bosworth made it on the next play but a penalty for having a back in motion set Newton back 5 yards. On the third down Newton kicked and the ball bounced off Christiani's chest into Castoldi's arms on the Brockton 35. Bosworth and Savignano made a first down in three plays to the Brockton 21. The same two players made it another first down in three more rushes to the Brockton 11. Savignano tried to crawl out of a loss and got a 5-yard penalty to set Newton back to the 19. Moore failed to gain on the final play of the game. Newton 13, Brockton 12.

Fined $100 For Drunken Driving

Harvey Haywood of Worcester st., Wellesley, was fined $100 in the Newton court yesterday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Haywood was the driver of a car which a few weeks ago hit a fence on the Worcester turnpike near Rockland Place, Upper Falls. He and his wife received injuries in the crash. Irving Blum of Lynn was fined $10 for driving through a red signal light at Boylston st. and Langley rd. at a speed of 50 miles. Patrolman Ham-mill was the complainant.

NEWTON TO FACE STRONG OPPONENT IN QUINCY ELEVEN

The Newton High School football team will meet another strong opponent tomorrow afternoon at the Dickinson Stadium when Coach Jimmy Le-Cain brings his Quincy High School outfit here. The Granite City eleven has chalked up five victories in six games to date. The one defeat was administered by the New Bedford High School eleven, usually represented by a strong team. The Quincy victories were at the expense of an alumni eleven, Melrose, Brookline, Hyde Park and the Tufts junior varsity squad. In its five games the Quincy eleven has scored a total of 45 points against a solitary touchdown for the New Bedford team. Quincy's margins over Melrose and Hyde Park and the alumni were also by a one touchdown score. The Granite City outfit then knocked off Brookline 9 to 0 and the Tufts Jayvees 12 to 0.

In meeting the Newton eleven the Quincy team probably is in for its toughest assignment so far this season. But Quincy comes here with a team which seems to be underrated. Coach Sanborn anticipates a hard close-fought game and is certain that it will take the best football the Newton squad can play to turn back the invaders. Quincy has a chunky but speedy team with a driving offence plus a potent forward passing attack. The game with Quincy marks the beginning of the second half of the local schedule. Five games have been played and the orange and black drew up to a .500 rating by virtue of its comeback against Brockton last Saturday to win by a solitary point. With victories over Cambridge and Latin and Brockton offset by defeats at the hands of Arlington and Everett the tie game with Lynn English was the big setback which prevented Newton from enjoying a slightly higher standing among its opponents. The victory over Brockton put Newton ahead of the Shoe City team. It will be noticed while next in line come Rindge Tech and Quincy. Rindge should maintain its advantage over Newton by defeating Brookline. On the other hand Newton must win over Quincy to have any chance of catching its nearest competitors in the next two weeks. A week from tomorrow Newton will entertain Rindge in a game which will have a decided bearing on the outcome of the Suburban League race.

Coach Sanborn's squad is in better shape for tomorrow's affair than it was on the day preceding the Brockton game as several of the players who were nursing minor injuries are now up and able to take the field. The return of Melvin Swig to duty at centre and the return of Ben Grow to his tackle berth are two factors which are expected to strengthen the Newton frontier. This week substitute centre Stewart and halfback Earl Savignano are two players not in the best of condition. Stewart is nursing a sprained thumb and will probably not see any action. Savignano, who received a blow on the head in the Brockton contest will play but will be used sparingly.

Captain Gus Castoldi will take his position at end on the Newton line. Late in the Brockton game he appeared to be severely hurt and was carried from the field. The injury, however, was nothing more than a severe cramp in the leg which disappeared with treatment. Warren Wittens will start at the other wing position having earned the right by his play last week when substituting for McLeod. Ben Grow, as stated before, will be back at his tackle berth with Howard Milner as his mate on the other side of the line. Although Wisbach and Miller are still rated as the starting guards it is possible that Coach Sanborn may send DeNapoli and Koffman on the field at game time. The race for guard positions is one of the closest among the Newton players. With Melvin Swig recovered from a muscle injury to his side the big Newton boy will have the call. Packard, who relieved Stewart in the Brockton game, will also see considerable action.

The starting backfield is uncertain and may not be determined until almost game time although Coach Sanborn may rely upon the so-called regular quartet of Gilbert Myers, Sergeant Moore, Paul Treannie, and Earl Savignano. McLeod, who was on the receiving end of the two lateral passes which brought the second Newton touchdown, has shown considerable improvement in the past two weeks and may get the call over one of the other four. He is certain to see plenty of action. Other backs who have a chance of getting into the starting line-up and who will undoubtedly get into early action are O'Connell, Conley, Reardon and Bosworth.

Open House
The Open House at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on October 24th was largely attended by members and their guests.

Under the direction of the physical directors members of the department of Recreation and Health participated in a program of wrestling, class work, swimming, squash racquets, and bowling. Representatives of the wrestling team of the Boston Y. M. C. A. were matched with Hardy Curran, Wesley Curran, and Robert Young.

Special features on the program included an exhibition squash racquets match between William H. Rice, Jr. and Malcolm Clark, and the escape of Henry McNamara after being handcuffed, tied up in a canvas bag, and thrown into the swimming pool. There was also a swimming exhibition consisting of races, life saving, diving, and water stunts.

At 9:30 all gathered together in the assembly hall where Mr. Frederic B.

Boys Hallowe'en Party

The annual Hallowe'en party of the boys department will be held on Hallowe'en night, October 31st from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

The boys will gather in costume for a period of Hallowe'en games and stunts in addition to the costume parade. A prize has already been offered for the best Hallowe'en costume.

Following the game period, refreshments will be served.

Craft Work

As a new project in the boys department an opportunity has been offered the members to make many useful articles for themselves or Christmas gifts.

Among the articles to be made will be found whisk brooms, novelty and nail brushes, hot dish holders, teapots, book ends, footstools and foot rests. Each day in the week, the boys will find instructors ready and willing to aid them.

Mr. Arthur Clark of Newton is supervising the work.

Membership Dinner and Contest

On Friday evening, October 26th, the members of the boys department will have a corn chowder dinner opening a membership contest to be held from November 1st to the 15th.

After dinner, there will be a period of games, instructions regarding the membership contest, and a swim in the pool.

Each class will be represented in the membership contest and a shield will be presented to the one scoring the highest number of points.

A large dial with hands for all classes will be displayed in the boys game room and will show the actual standing of each class during the entire contest.

In addition to the shield, other prizes will be a football for the boy getting the largest number of points, and a membership for each boy who scores 8 points.

This work will be directed by Edwin Foster and Matthew Billings of Newtonville and Thomas Sundborg of Newton.

A MOCKING BIRD IS IN OUR MIDST are you listnin'?

The cheap, inferior quality electric lamp bulb is a sort of mocking bird. And it gives a pretty fair imitation of the genuine article—the lamp bulb of true, known quality.

But—don't listen to it. You'll regret it if you do. Don't for a minute believe it is "just as good." It can't be. The very fact that it is cheaper in price than lamp bulbs of known quality—made by the largest, most reputable American manufacturers—is evidence that it hasn't the quality and hasn't the value.

Buy your electric lamp bulbs at the Edison Shops—or at some reliable dealer's. Here you will obtain lamps of standard quality and known value. They save you money because they last longer and give all the light you pay for.

ONE THING... AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

It doesn't pay to get down-hearted in an up-hill fight.

"Who Lives Here?"

There's going to be another census early in 1935 but the method of extracting information will be painless. If you're naturally hospitable you may, of course, invite your official caller to come in and sit down, but that won't be really necessary. He will not have a big book to hold on his lap, with countless intimate questions to be answered at length. As far as that is concerned you may feel slighted when you find his call is so brief. Unlike the Federal enumerator, he won't impress you as at all inquisitive.

In this affair the State, through the cities and towns, is merely to check-up on the population. There was a time when the State wanted to know about everything—parentage, nationality, occupation, complexion, color of eyes and hair and all the little details except possibly your favorite brand of tooth paste. Back in 1924, however, the State decided to cut out all frills. Seems it cost too much and didn't mean a great deal. At least that's the way they reasoned.

Now it's very simple. Beginning any time after Jan. 1, each city and town must record the name and address of every inhabitant. They may not even inquire as to ages, although that point has yet to be determined. As long as the job is up to each municipality it is likely that policemen will do the work. One way to save money, you see. All that it will amount to will be a count of noses. Nothing to get snuffy about unless you happen to have a cold in the nose when the policeman calls.

Safe for the Winter

Although I have had no training in the art of closing a Summer cottage for the Winter I like to be helpful at all times and therefore readily accompanied a friend who suggested I assist at such a ceremony. We drove to a pleasant rural retreat where he and his family spend the four warmer months. There was a sharp wind; threatening clouds were shooting across the sun and one might well say that the season was pretty nearly over. Indoors was colder than out, which may have been one reason why my friend said it would be well if we worked rapidly.

The cottage interior had a loose appearance. When I saw him make at once for a broom I knew there would be plenty to do. As I stood behind him my eye caught the title of a book on the five-foot library shelf and I asked if I might look at it. He assented and, as he watched, became interested in another of the dozen or so volumes. You know the kind you find in a Summer cottage. Most of them bequeathed by former owners, worn with rain-damaged and sufficiently dilapidated to disqualify them for a rummage sale. He had seized Bertha M. Clay's novel, "Wedded, But No Wife," and I a collection of Whittier's verses.

Before we knew it we had dragged piazza chairs outdoors and, seated side by side, were pouring over the pages. The time passed rapidly — my friend devouring the tale of marital adventure and I "The Barefoot Boy," etc. Such a situation called for a smoke. The sun was increasingly warm. It must have been fully a half-hour later that my friend jumped up, tossed the book in the chair and declared, "I must get busy." The need of opening windows and doors was my suggestion and I carried it out while he raised clouds of dust. Disposing of the sweepings was simple. He had only to scoop them up in the dust-pan and dump everything overboard. Approaching the beach he said, "Well, let's get the boat in." But the boat was locked to a chain and the chain secured to the wharf while my friend had forgotten to bring the key. He studied the situation and then announced, "I'll have one of the natives come over and do this and whatever else the place needs. It's more in his line. We'll stop in the village and tell him. Then you and I will have lunch. I know a great place where they have wonderful country victuals. Come on."

"He Knows Everything"

My hat is off to the man who keeps his knowledge mobilized and seems to have at his finger tips facts which may at the most unexpected time prove useful. The magician-like way in which he produces material to support his contention or settle a disputed point makes him a walking encyclopedia. Trifling differences of opinion may easily arouse betting instincts. One man will offer to bet a hat or a five-dollar bill. The other may take him up or ease-out of the picture with, "I don't make a practice of betting but if I did I'd take you up on that."

Only the other night a group of us listened to DeWolfe Hopper recite his immortal classic, "Casey at the Bat." After shutting off the radio we began wondering who the author was. One said it was Hopper himself and another doubted it. The rest confessed ignorance. Then came the voice of the collector of facts. "I'll tell you," said he and from the cavernous depths of a huge wallet he brought forth numerous clippings dealing with baseball matters. The Hopper recitation was among them and there was the author's name — Ernest L. Thayer. The

LUCE ISSUES PROHIBITION STATEMENT

(Editor's note—The following statement has been received from Congressman Luce in reference to his stand against the repeal of prohibition.)

"My vote on the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was in conformity with my statement widely circulated throughout the District two years ago. The Republican platform, after expressing the belief that a repeal amendment should be submitted, allowing the States to deal with the problem as their citizens might determine, said this 'should be subject always to the power of the Federal Government to protect those States where prohibition may exist and safeguard our citizens everywhere from the return of the saloon and attendant abuses.' Mr. Hoover declared that 'there must be absolute guarantees in the Constitution against the return of the saloon.' As submitted to the House and pushed through without opportunity for change, the repeal amendment made no provision against return of the saloon. It did not consistently be approved in such form by one who had given his constituents to understand that he would vote for submitting an amendment vetoing with the Republican platform and its interpretation by the Republican candidate for President."

Congressman Robert Luce, Waltham, Mass.

Young People of Central Church Elect Officers

The Junior High Society, which meets at 5:00 o'clock in the Social Hall of the church each Sunday, recently elected the following officers for this coming year: President, Harry Bond; Vice president, Barbara Stewart; Secretary, Doris Merendahl; Treasurer, Claire Rangnow; Pianists, Joan Merrill and Barbara MacCormick; Executive Committee, Jane Jewett and James Brickett.

The Sunday Evening Club for College age young people last Sunday evening had as their guest speaker Mr. Rohrbough of the Newton High School Faculty. Mr. Rohrbough made an extensive trip through the Western part of the United States and addressed the club on "Conditions as I Observed Them in the West." The first social activity of this group was an informal dance on Friday evening at the Central Cong. Church. The decorations were in charge of Miss Nina Kepner and her committee. The general chairmen of the dance were Miss Elizabeth Trowbridge and Mr. Phillip Bruce.

"walking encyclopedia" had made good again.

Another set of human beings we've all met strive to convince you that they know everything when as a matter of fact their knowledge is scant if not actually minus. Their scheme seems to work, at least at times, and is carried on the preservation of newspaper clippings, notes or the exercise of memory. What is their secret? Merely this: They are always first to offer to settle a dispute and make their assertions promptly and positively, leaving no manner or shadow of doubt. They never begin, "I think I can answer that," or "If my memory serves, etc." No sirree, they make their declaration in a deep, strong voice and in such a manner that all listeners are not only duly impressed, but completely awed. No one dares challenge them. In short, they make a bluff they make a good one.

Speaks at Local Rotary Club on 'Whither America'

The Newton Rotary Club speaker at the meeting on Monday of this week was James M. Matthews, of Babson Institute, a member of the Boston Rotary Club, his subject being "Whither America." "Where will America be in 18 months, where in ten years?" he asked.

After picturing the drought area as Mr. Matthews saw it on a tour of the country, the sadness of which one could not easily exaggerate, he declared that in spite of this he was optimistic. Our economic condition is better than it was eighteen months ago. This is the testimony of thirty-one states. At the end of another eighteen months, the speaker feels certain that there will be another considerable advance for the reason that the capital goods industry, neglected now for four or five years, is bound to come back. The PWA, too, in "priming the pump" is bound to do its part in improved conditions.

Mr. Matthews is not worrying about inflation. "For a creditor nation like ours to inflate is not dangerous if it is done for a purpose," he said. "A 28 billion debt is only about ten per cent of our capital worth, and this is no cause for worry. The World War alone cost us 40 billion in two years."

Turning to the outlook ten years from now, Mr. Matthews says that depends on what we individualistic Americans will do. We surely cannot go back to the dog-eat-dog policies of rugged individualism. Nor do we want to swing to Fascism. No, we must go ahead with an economic plan. We must continue to experiment with codes until they work equitably. If we think Mr. Roosevelt is a dictator, we don't know what a dictator is. He had the power to become a dictator eighteen months ago, but he was too wise. We are on the right track now and if we follow sane leadership, America will sit pretty ten years from now.

In closing, the speaker made an earnest plea for Rotary leadership in bringing to pass a happier economic state. Rotarians must stand for the new type of competitive co-operation and work hard for a planned economy.

for a small hospital ward to accommodate those who are very sick. In the past, the people of Newton have generously assisted the Stone Home of nursing, which is a Newton institution. Its success in the future in extending its fine facilities to a larger number of elderly Newton residents who are seeking contentment and companionship in their old age, depends entirely on the generosity of the citizens of Newton.

Visiting hours at the Home are between 2 and 5 p. m., and the directors cordially invite Newton residents who are interested in assisting in its building program, to drop in at the Home to meet the Matron, Clara E. Frost, and visit with some of the ladies.

Improvement Assn. Discusses Sidewalk Bicycle Riding

The executive committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association met last Friday evening at the home of Mr. F. C. Alexander of Fair Oaks avenue to discuss a number of local matters. Among the matters discussed was the growing practice of bicycle riding on the sidewalks in the business sections and near the schools.

Several accidents resulting in more or less serious injury to elderly persons being knocked down by bicycle riders on the sidewalks, together with the gathering of wheels and riders in groups on the walks in the business section and near the schools has brought the complaint that pedestrians are endangered, and forced from the walks by careless and frequently reckless riders. This violation of the use of sidewalks is closely tied up with the hazard to the citizens by careless and reckless automobile drivers.

Some believe little can be done to change human conduct in the use of streets and sidewalks, and demand the enforcement of ordinances and laws. The Improvement Association doesn't put much faith in that procedure unless the parents and public generally are willing to conform. Certainly the increasing number of accidents, injuries and deaths from automobile accidents shows that we cannot rely on laws, signs and signals. It believes that we must get the attention of the public and particularly of parents. People are moved more by sentiment than by reason, and surely there is ground for sentiment when children are involved as in the increasing use of the bicycle. The Association does not care to lend its influence to forcing such boys and girls into our streets, now overcrowded in the business sections by automobiles, and which would certainly mean the killing or maiming of some of these youngsters.

The Association does believe that by enlisting the interest and co-operation of parents, most young people will respond to the recognition of the danger to, and the rights of, older people in the use of our sidewalks. It believes that the practice should be stopped in the vicinity of our stores where walks and streets are both crowded, that fast and reckless riding—and gatherings—should be prohibited.

The Association proposes to bring this subject to the attention of both parents and children through schools and organizations such as clubs, young people's societies, scouts, etc., along with educational efforts already in use regarding the increasing and ghastly automobile accident record.

Exhibition of Pastel Work At Newton Free Library

An exhibition of pastel work is being shown until October 31 in the new Art Room of the Main Library. The artist is Miss Dorothy Badger Wells of Newton. Miss Wells has studied with Leslie Thompson and Philip Hale at the Museum of Fine Arts, and D. J. Conah, New England School of Design. She has also studied at the Cutter School of Fine Arts and Crafts and was awarded scholarship work at the Woodbury School. One of Miss Wells' recent achievements is the illustration work in "Happy Childhood" by Mary T. Bauer.

Sixth Annual Masonic Service at West Newton

On Sunday at 7:45 p. m., the members of ten Masonic organizations, and their friends, will meet at Lincoln Park Baptist Church, for the sixth annual Masonic service in the West Newton church. Rt. Riggs, Past Master of the Council; Norumbega Lodge by Junior Warden

Linden I. Pettys; Fraternity Lodge by Wor. Master Harry Nordstrom; Dalhousie Lodge by Wor. Master William F. Keesler, Jr. Mrs. Patrick Pulver, Worthy Matron of Palestine Chapter, No. 114, Order of the Eastern Star, will welcome the visiting ladies.

Tea Dance This Afternoon For Waban Debutante

This afternoon Miss Natalie North is being presented at a small and informal tea dance given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. North of Waban, at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge. Miss Evelyn Weatherby, a popular debutante of last year, is in charge of the pourers, who are the Misses Rita Faunce, Nancy Faunce, Nina Kepner, Janet McKinney, Ann Mitchell, Helen Pierce, Martha Bird, Peggy Lawson, Janet Marston, Sally Blackman, Priscilla Gano, Mary Benton, Kathleen Kaville and Helen Porter. Mr. William Guyer North of New York, brother of the debutante, was a house guest.

Miss North graduated last year from Lasell Junior College in Auburndale.

Women's Gym Classes To Be Held at Y.M.C.A.

Beginning on Thursday, Nov. 1, a course of Gym Classes for Women will be held at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. From 9 to 10 there will be a class in setting-up exercises and from 10 to 11 a class in more strenuous exercises and basketball. The course will cover a period of three months. The classes are open to all women in Newton.

Girl Scouts

A large group of women made up of the Newton Girl Scout Council, committee members and troop leaders took advantage of the Pre-Convention Training Courses which were given by National Girl Scout leaders on Monday and Tuesday of this week at the Hotel Statler, Boston. The program offered something worthwhile for every one. Conferences, round table and group discussions, as well as finding out how other councils are functioning, made the experience an interesting one and one which should stimulate and help all those who attended the meetings.

Camp Mary Day Reunion

Ninety girls who attended Camp Mary Day during this last summer accepted "Mother Carey's" invitation to the first reunion of '34 on Saturday, Oct. 20, at camp. The reunion was a huge success—a very real reunion of girls and counselors who had not met since they said goodbye to one another at camp as they left after a summer's vacation spent there together.

After Colors, when the flag was raised, the girls joined their units and had luncheon together. "Clean up" was quickly dispatched by these experienced campers; then games were played until the bugle called all hands to the Woodland Theatre. Singing—a stunt by each unit, and then the merit badges earned at camp were given out.

"Retreat"—goodbyes—and the day was over but not before another reunion had been planned for later in the year, to be held in Newton where the moving pictures taken at camp could be shown.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Dramatics, Other Entertaining
Events Coming

The Dramatic committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, of which Mrs. Donald E. Welch is chairman and Mrs. Harold H. Brown vice-chairman, will present "She Got Away With It," a gay comedy in three acts by Henry Gray and Elene Wilbur, on Friday evening, November 2nd, at 8 o'clock, at the Club House. The leading part, which is a dual role, will be played by Mrs. Gustavus F. Sargent; Mr. Lloyd Yeager, Mr. Harry Moore, Mr. Ralph Wheller and Mrs. Harold R. Keller also have important parts. Others taking part are Mrs. Arklay S. Richards, Miss Josephine Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Elder, Mr. George Brewer and Wilbur Keller. Tickets for the play may be obtained from Mrs. Welch at 50 cents each.

Mrs. Austin C. Benton, co-chairman of the department of Activities, will be in charge of a series of five unusual entertainments for Children to be held on Saturday mornings at 10:30 o'clock for one hour. The first will occur on November 3rd, "Mora," the Eccentric Wizard and Comedian, will be the attraction. On November 17th "How Comic Pictures Are Made" will be illustrated and told by Ed Payne, the originator of "Billy the Boy Artist." On December 15th there will be an illustrated Talk by William F. Clapp, on "Creatures of the Woods, Fields and Seas." On December 29th, a Play for the children staged and directed by Mrs. Everett W. Varney; and on January 5th there will be a Surprise Entertainment and Party. Tickets for the series may be procured from Mrs. Benton or from members of the Activities Committee.

The Literature committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club is sponsoring again a Study Group which will meet at the homes of Club members, and which is free to all who are interested in the study and discussion of books. The subject chosen for the fall meetings is the Short Story. "Great Stories of All Nations," edited by Lieber and Williams, will be used as a general source book. The first meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Rittenhouse, of 707 Commonwealth avenue, on Wednesday, November 7th, at 2:30 p. m. The subject will be "My Favorite Short Story."

Attention is called to the change in date of this meeting which was originally planned for October 31st.

Hallowe'en Bazaar
Offers Attractions

The Hallowe'en Bazaar, enthusiastic preparations for which have been occupying the members of the Newtonville Woman's Club since last spring, will take place on the 30th and 31st of October, from 10:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. at the Club House, 61 Washington park. This festival and sale not only will afford an opportunity to secure articles really useful and decorative, but also will provide occasion for the most informal of the year's gatherings. Luncheon, open to the public, will be served under the direction of Mrs. Clarence A. Wentworth each day from 11:30 to 2 o'clock for 35 cents, and tea will be served each afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock for 25 cents.

A fine collection of prizes and accessories has been assembled by Mrs. George L. Curtis for her Bridge Table, and Mrs. Henry J. Baringer will offer many varieties of Aprons and Towels. The Gift Table will be in charge of Mrs. Frederic E. Drew. Bulbs, Plants, and Flowers, as well as winter bouquets, will be found on Mrs. Perez B. Howard's stands. A large assortment of used Books will be offered by Mrs. Paul E. Ellicker. Mystery Packages, all guaranteed to be worth at least the selling price of 25 cents, will be sold under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Tucker, and will appeal to the adults, while Mrs. Henry E. Johnson will manage the Children's Grab. Larger and better White Elephants have been donated to Mrs. R. Ward Hillman for her table, and Mrs. Alice L. Percy is the storekeeper for a new and different "Country Store." Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard will conduct the Tea Room and also will sell Home-Cooked Food; and Mrs. Anton A. Wild will take charge of the Candy Table. Among other attractions there will be a gypsy for Fortune Telling.

An unusual entertainment will be held in the auditorium each evening, admission free. On Tuesday evening, Mr. Samuel Thurber will preside at the Junior High School Spelling Match, and first and second prizes to the value of five dollars, will be awarded the winners. On Wednesday evening, Club Husbands and their friends from the Clafin Club and Central Church Men's Club will furnish entertainment and fun for an hour. Mrs. Chester S. Merrill is acting as treasurer for the Bazaar, the two-fold purpose of which is to promote sociability and good fellowship and to earn as large a proportion as possible of the money needed to finance the year's running expenses and the philanthropies of the Club.

The second of the eight lectures on Current Events by Mrs. Frank Mansfield Taylor will be given on November 1st, at 10:15 a. m., for which there is a single admission charge to those who have not procured the course ticket.

Open Meeting
At West Newton

On Tuesday, October 30th, at 8 p. m., Mr. Alden G. Alley, an experienced speaker, and a member of the National Council for the Prevention of War, will give a lecture at the Second Church, West Newton, on this most timely subject. Mr. Alley has had the opportunity of studying the question of International Relations at first hand, for he has spent the last sixteen summers in various European countries, and is therefore well equipped for discussing the International situation. This meeting is to be held under the auspices of the International Relations Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, of which Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader and Mrs. W. S. Tufts are the leaders. There will be no admission fee, and everyone will be welcome. At the end of the lecture there will be a question period. The speaker will be introduced by Mr. Francis Russell, well-known attorney of Boston.

Trip to Gardner
Museum Oct. 30

For its regular meeting on October 30th the Review Club of Auburndale has planned a Trip to the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum. A Special Bus will leave the Auburndale Railroad Station at 10 o'clock that morning.

Activity Chairmen Report; Indicate
Very Busy Season

The first meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs was held on Monday, October 22nd, in the Newton Library, and outlines of their work presented by several of the chairmen of committees indicate an interesting and busy season.

After the reading of the report of the Board meeting of May 28th, Mrs. Charles C. Willson, president, asked for the ratification of the appointments of the following chairmen: Mrs. A. H. Shannon, Public Health committee; Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, Social committee; and Mrs. George R. Lord, Publicity committee, who were unanimously accepted. In the absence of Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, Mrs. Sidney B. Thomas, treasurer, read the proposed budget which was offered for acceptance by the Finance committee and which was approved by the Board.

Having received many requests for a repetition of Home Visiting Day which was so successful last year, Mrs. Clarence H. Spike, the American Home chairman, outlined tentative plans for a special day to be sponsored by her committee; this day to include visits of a different nature which would probably call for the co-operation of some of the other committees, making a most interesting tour.

The Civics committee was represented by Mrs. Joseph C. McCarron, vice-chairman, who brought the message from Mrs. Robert Bonner, chairman, that during September, 2,296 articles, mostly for children, were distributed from the Clothes Room. Many of these were new, purchased with money from the Mayor's Relief Fund, and many were articles of clothing made by the women who are employed at sewing in the City Hall. Very satisfactory reports of the system now being used of supplying all clothing from the clothes Room have been received from the school nurses and teachers. Mrs. McCarron stressed the need for contributions to the Clothes Room. The supply badly needs replenishing, and while clothes in good condition are of course desirable, donors should not hesitate to offer clothing which may be fairly well worn. Such articles serve as substitutes when the more substantial ones need laundering or mending, and anything past wearing is forwarded to the Morgan Memorial. Shoes, if it seems justifiable, are mended by the cobblers at the City Home, and will outwear, many times, the new ones of a cheaper grade which the committee is able to purchase. The Civics or Community Service chairmen in the various clubs will be glad to attend to the collecting of articles if notified. This department of club work should receive the serious attention and the help of every family who can spare any clothing.

The Conservation chairman, Mrs. Edwin H. Dyer, stated that her committee is unable to undertake some of the projects which seem desirable and which in more prosperous times would receive enthusiastic attention. With money being required for necessities, this committee, though engaged in study, and alert to possible opportunities for improvement and beautification, is obliged to function with a very meagre expenditure of money. They have, however, hopes and plans for certain projects. Mrs. Dyer gave notice of the State College Flower Show, to be held November 1st, 2nd and 3rd, at Amherst, and urged all who could to attend this affair where there will be demonstrations and talks of interest to plant and flower lovers.

The Chairman of education, Mrs. Raymond Green, spoke of plans whereby the women of the Federation may be of assistance in some of the school work at a later date. Much interest centers just at present in the Fall Meeting for November 15th to be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club. This will be the usual Fall Conference with its departmental Round Tables in the morning, and Mrs. Victor P. Ratzburg has arranged a program for the afternoon which should appeal to all women. There will also be special speakers at some of the Round Tables.

In regard to this all-day meeting, Mrs. Benjamin D. Miller, in charge of the luncheon, stated that positively no reservations could be made after November 12th. The separate clubs will have the tickets for sale.

The Motion Pictures committee, headed by Mrs. Ernest Cobb, and the committee on International Affairs, two of the newer committees in the Federation, will offer very interesting morning sessions for their groups, the desire to understand these subjects having received great impetus in the last few months. Attention was called to lectures on World Events to be held on October 30th at the Second Church in West Newton and on November 1st at the Newton Highlands Workshop. Mrs. J. Porter Russell, Chairman of the International Relations committee, strongly recommended attendance at these lectures.

Clafin Club Opens

A New Year

The Clafin Club of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Newtonville, opened its new year Friday, October 19, with a dinner meeting and entertainment in the Methodist Church. One hundred men sat down to dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Immediately following the dinner Dr.
Howard M. LeSourd presented one of his talking moving pictures which he is producing for churches and for young people's organizations. Dr.
LeSourd is an authority in the field of moving pictures for character building purposes, and is producing special films having to do with life situations which develop and mold character. The picture presented to the club Friday night as an introduction to the address of the evening was
"Why War?"

An address on "The Art of Human Relations" was given by F. Alexander Magoun, an author, lecturer and expert in the field of human engineering. Dr. Magoun is Professor of Humanities at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His address was intensely interesting and was followed by a lively and thought-provoking discussion.

of Kirkstall rd. went up to New London, N. H., where they were guests of their daughter, Miss Virginia Conant, a senior at Colby Junior College, during parents' weekend.

—The New Church Society is serving supper this evening at 6:30 which will be followed by a costume corral when prizes will be awarded for the best costume judged together with the conduct of the wearer.

—Mrs. A. B. Crowell was a representative from the Wellesley Club of Boston when a group of prominent Greater Boston graduates of Smith, Radcliffe, Bryn Mawr, Wellesley and Vassar met at Radcliffe to listen to a radio address by Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

—Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Gannon of Brookside ave. have been entertaining Mr. Peter V. Burke and his son, Francis A. Burke, of Chicago for two weeks. While they were here they were entertained and visited by many friends. Mr. Burke is a member of the Chicago Fire Department and while here visited Chief Randlett and Capt. Frost of the Newton department.

Women's Auxiliary of "Y" Discusses Youth of Today

The Woman's Auxiliary meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon proved a most worthwhile occasion. The setting of harvest decorations arranged by Mrs. L. F. Mc-Aleer and the music rendered by Mrs. Arthur J. Mansfield, soloist and Mrs. Ray A. Eusden accompanist, created a delightful atmosphere for the more serious part of the meeting.

Mrs. Harold C. Daniels, the president, led the business meeting, consisting of a secretary and treasurer's report by Mrs. A. Thomas Sundborg, a resume of the fall conference by Mrs. Charles Wood Bond and an interesting talk on Camp F. A. Day by Marvin Perry, Jr.

The "Youth of Today," subject was begun by Mr. Clyde A. Hess, Boy's secretary of this Y. M. C. A., and was continued by Mr. Clifford K.
Brown of the Boston Y. M. C. A., who laid the weight of responsibility for character training of children upon their parents. An interesting discussion followed, led by Mrs. Herbert T. Stranger and Miss Mary L. Spear.

Former President Mrs. Wilfred Drown and President Daniels poured during the social hour which had been prepared by Mrs. Henry Urquhart.
A card party will be given at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., on November 21.

School Women To Honor Supt. Warren

On Wednesday, Oct. 31, the Newton
High School Women's Club will welcome and honor Julius Warren, the new Superintendent of the Newton School System. The meeting will be held at the Wayside Inn, Sudbury.

An informal reception to Mr. and Mrs. Warren will be held in the old ballroom from five to six o'clock. The club will also have as its guests Dr.
and Mrs. Payson Smith. Dr. Smith is Commissioner of Education for the State of Massachusetts.

Following the reception, dinner will be served in the large dining hall of the Inn.

The club includes the women of the Junior and Senior High Schools. Miss Louise Richardson is chairman of the meeting. Assisting her are Misses Eunice Auger, Leonie Chan-donnet, Marion Wheeler, Ernestine Wright, Jessie Southard and Mrs.
Edith Newcomb.

Friends Honor Dr. R. Cimaglia At Copley Plaza

Dr. Rosario Cimaglia of 934 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, was given a testimonial dinner at the Copley-Plaza Hotel on Monday night by his friends. About 500 persons were present to honor the young physician who is the nephew of James Cimaglia of Commonwealth ave., well known Boston dress manufacturer.
The affair was in charge of a committee headed by Alfred E. LoPresti and the toastmaster was Michael A. Fredo, of Arlington. Seated at the head table were Monsignor Richard J. Haberlin, Judge and Mrs. Vincent Brogna, Judge and Mrs. Felix Forte, Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Higgins of Newton,
Dr. and Mrs. William Santoro, So-verio and Mrs. Romano and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tomasello.

A musical program was furnished by Mrs. Lillian Cooke, soprano;
Frank McAuliffe, baritone; Angelo Nicolai, tenor; Ida O'Shea, pianist; and an orchestra. Dr. William San-toro extended the greetings of the Massachusetts Medical Society to Dr.
Cimaglia and Dr. Higgins told of some of the problems the young physician would meet in his chosen profession, and the means he should adopt to meet them. Joseph Tomasello lauded the guest of the evening for his accomplishments as a medical student at Naples and in this country and commented that Italo-Americans have a heritage to be proud of.

Monsignor Haberlin told of his recent trip to Italy. He said he found that country beating with a good, strong heart and its people united. He said the ruler of Italy is the man of the century, willing to give his life if necessary that his nation may take its proper place in the world. Monsignor Haberlin deprecated the failure of children of Italian parents to learn the language of their mother country. He congratulated Dr. Cimaglia on the large gathering of friends who had assembled to pay him honor.

Judge Forte, as head of the Sons of Italy, extended the greetings of this Order to Dr. Cimaglia. He said the gathering proved that the Italian people of Greater Boston are now united and was an evidence of the progress
they have made in Massachusetts.
Judge Forte said that the Home for Italian Children has been the factor responsible for uniting the Italian people of this section.

Mr. LoPresti, in behalf of the gathering, presented Dr. Cimaglia with a valuable microscope. The recipient of the gift extended his thanks to his friends for the honor shown him, and their generosity. He expressed his regret that his parents in Italy could not be present to see the manifestation of friendship given him, and he voiced his appreciation of the assistance he has received from his uncle, James Cimaglia.

Dr. Cimaglia was born in Italy, 31 years ago, graduated from the University of Naples in 1929, served as intern in hospitals at Genoa and Naples and was for nearly two years city physician at Ginestra de Schiavoni. For two years he took a postgraduate course in pediatrics at Harvard Medical School and passed the examination of the Massachusetts
State Board last March.

Spanish Cabaret Opens Dramatic Club Season

A brilliant opening of the dramatic season will be held by the Newton Dramatic Club on Saturday evening, November 3rd, in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House when a Spanish Cabaret for members will be featured. The newly decorated banquet room will be transformed into a sidewalk cafe with gay awnings and soft lights. A well known dance orchestra will furnish music, a professional crooner will carry several of the dance words. Important specialty episodes through the evening will furnish entertainment. The peacock dance will be first by Jane La-Motte followed by a specialty number by Edgar Swail. A Spanish dance will be presented by John Hitchcock and Elizabeth Chapman. Mrs. Thomas Cunneen will sing "Doing the Carlo." A tap dance will be given by the cigarette girls Betty Ferguson, Ruth Goode and Virginia Wilson.

"La Cucaracha," the Mexican dance-drama, will be acted by Hazel
Welch, Norman Lloyd, Bertram
Moore, Allen Wilson and James Ber-kely with a dance chorus of four men and four girls in Mexican costumes.

Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., is chairman of the affair. Mr. Louis Fuller is in charge of floor decorations and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Walworth have the refreshments to care for. Mr. S. Hardy Mitchell is the newly elected president.

"Helga and the White Peacock" is the play to be given in the Children's Theatre series Saturday, October 27, in the Newton Centre Woman's Club House at 2 p. m. There is unusual excitement over this story of the little girl lost in a troll house who is happily found by her brother at last. A grey goose will be the role of Paul Elicker, Jr., a peacock, the part of Jane Lamotte, the West Wind, Shirley Brackett. Other actors are Mary Ann Sullivan of Waban who plays
Helga. Mrs. Allen Hubbard, Louise
Adams, Bradford Haskell and Joan Carper.

Mrs. Wilfrid White is coaching the play. Miss Barbara Lippincott designed and executed the costumes and she and Bolton Wilder created the distinctive scenery which makes a remarkable background for the acting of the play.

Arrest Several For Alleged Drunken Driving

Kenneth Fay of 11 Chapman st., Watertown, age 23, was arrested at 2:56 a. m. last Friday by Patrolmen Goddard and McCormick charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday and his case continued until Oct. 26.

William P. Copeland of 1078 Beacon, Newton Centre, was arrested Sunday evening at 6:45 by Serg. Sullivan and Patrolmen Davis and Slavin after a car driven by him had collided opposite 605 Walnut st., Newtonville, with another car.

Copeland was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday charged with drunkenness, driving while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. His case was continued until Nov. 1.

ELECTION REFERENDA

At the election on November 6 the voters in Newton will have the opportunity to express their views upon four matters of public interest. The four referenda to be submitted in the order in which they will appear on the ballot relate to (1) the anti steel-trap law; (2) the granting of liquor licenses; (3) the legalization of the pari-mutuel system of betting on horse and dog races; and (4) the instruction to Representatives in the General Court as to whether or not they shall vote in favor of membership of the United States in the League of Nations.

Anti-Steel Trap Law

The first question is one which may prove to be confusing in the minds of the voters and a little explanation might well be given. At the State election in 1930 a majority of about 327,000 voters favored the adoption of an anti-steel trap law prohibiting the use of steel-jawed or other traps not designed to kill outright or to take an animal unhurt. A provision in this law made it possible to use such traps to rid property of vermin where such traps were used within fifty feet of a building, cultivated plot or enclosure. This law was amended slightly by the next Legislature but the import of the act was not changed. The Legislature of 1934 enacted a new anti-trapping law as an "emergency act" over the opposition of the Humane Trapping Council which, however, succeeded in getting a referendum to the law. The new law would make it possible for a city or town to vote at its municipal election to suspend or restore to operation that section prohibiting the use of steel traps after the question had been put upon the ballot by petition of a small number of voters. In brief the question which the voters will decide this November will be whether or not there shall be local option on the anti-steel trap law. Friends and supporters of the humane cause, or those who feel that there should be no change in the law of 1930 should bear in mind that they are not voting directly to sustain the act adopted at that time but that they should vote to reject the new so-called "local option trapping law." To carry out this purpose the vote should be NO and if such vote prevails the humane trapping act remains in full force and effect.

Local Liquor Licenses

The second question, relating to local liquor licenses, is divided into two separate and distinct votes. The first vote is to determine whether or not all kinds of liquor licenses shall be issued in Newton. The second vote determines whether or not licenses for wines and malt beverages will be legalized. Thus a city or town may vote to have no license whatever, licenses for malt beverages and wines only, or for licenses of all kinds. Newton voted for license at the special election held for this purpose last June and accordingly a License Commission was established which has issued licenses for the various uses. Despite the contention that these licenses have brought additional revenue to the city to an amount which affects the tax rate to the extent of between thirty and forty cents it undoubtedly is largely responsible for the large increase in arrests for drunkenness in this city. The report of the Clerk of Courts for the year ending September 30th shows that this figure has jumped from 517 the previous twelve months to 933 in the last twelve months. There has also been nearly a twenty-five per cent increase in drunken driving cases, from sixty-seven to eighty-two. At the special election in 1933 a small percentage of the voters expressed their opinion on the question of license. The question is one which is of great importance and with a large vote anticipated on November 6th it is probable that a true expression of opinion will be obtained. For the best interests of the city as a whole we believe that a NO vote should prevail.

Legalized Betting

The third question on the ballot will be as to whether or not the pari-mutuel system of betting on licensed horse races shall be permitted in this county. A separate vote will also be taken on the matter of dog races. At the last session of the legislature a law was enacted setting up the system and making it possible to operate such races upon approval of the voters of each county. It is clearly indicated that some counties will favor legalized betting in view of the fact that considerable revenues are being lost to the state through the operation of the pari-mutuel system in New Hampshire and Rhode Island. In our opinion there is a more fundamental question involved as to the desirability of deriving revenue by appealing to a human weakness which uncontrolled leads to poverty and oftentimes dishonesty. Vote NO on the legalization of betting.

The League of Nations

The last question on the ballot is to determine the opinion of the voters on the question of membership of the United States in the League of Nations. The specific question asked is whether or not the Newton Representatives in the General Court shall be instructed to vote to request the president of the United States and the Senate to join the League of Nations with such reservations as they may deem wise. We are publishing information on the question in another column that the voters in general may know more about the League of Nations. In our opinion the League is a valuable agency in promoting international arbitration and better understanding. Its worth is dependent, however, upon the extent to which it is backed by public opinion.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION

A Newtonville reader makes a timely and interesting suggestion in urging the erection of a waiting room at the intersection of Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street near the city hall for those who are obliged to use bus service to reach that point. Our reader states "they have to stand at the windy intersection anywhere from fifteen minutes to a half hour" after going to city hall to pay a tax bill or for whatever business they may have there. We well remember the displeasing appearance of the corner there prior to the improvement of the site of city hall. It would be possible to construct an inexpensive waiting room in harmony with the beautiful surroundings. With cold and wintry weather approaching such a project would be greatly appreciated by many.

A THREATENING SITUATION

A three-cornered contest for the office of District Attorney of Northern Middlesex County is attracting considerable interest among the voters. The present District Attorney, Warren L. Bishop, is a candidate for re-election. He is being opposed by Mayor Bruin of Lowell, the Democratic candidate, and Richard McCabe of Lexington, a former assistant district attorney and an independent candidate. Without reservations we endorse the candidacy of Mr. Bishop. The office, as in practically every other county, is one in which the District Attorney is obliged to face severe criticism for the position he takes on various matters to a degree far greater than almost any other holder of public office. There seems little doubt but that the candidacy of Mr. McCabe is originally based upon a difference of opinion with Mr. Bishop. Persons who are led to bolt Mr. Bishop for Mr. McCabe may be surprised the day after election to find that they have unwittingly elected Mr. Bruin to the position.

The Congressional and Senatorial Contests

Candor compels the admission that Congressman Robert Luce's chances against Mayor Richard M. Russell are better than those of Robert M. Washburn against Senator David I. Walsh. So we will treat the Congressional contest first.

For a background, let us remember that Luce defeated Frederick S. Detrick of Cambridge by 4,753 votes in the 1932 election. Luce received 61,178, and Detrick 56,425. William B. Smith of Brookline, running on the Prohibition ticket, received 1,417 votes, and there were 6,096 blanks. This was the first election following the re-districting of the State. Prior to 1932, Luce represented the old thirteenth District, where he obtained majorities of 20,831 in 1928 and 11,670 in 1930. It would seem as though the Republicans did not gain very much by the re-districting, in this territory.

In my judgment, Luce's back was pretty much against the wall in the early part of October, but he has made substantial progress in the past two weeks. This is due to three factors: First, he has thrown himself wholeheartedly into the fight, thus acknowledging the seriousness of the situation; he is speaking constantly, all over the district, although more frequently in the thickly populated centers. Three nights ago I caught up with him at an enthusiastic Watertown rally—his sixth speaking engagement of the evening. He is campaigning with more vigor and fire than ever before, and is a pleasing contrast to his opponent, who has been literally crashing the gates all over the district, addressing Posts of the American Legion and numerous other organizations. Russell actually invaded Nutting's-on-the-Charles, a local dance-hall, and was booed by the young people for interrupting one of their dances. I rather admire Luce for his general attitude and deportment. He is quietly giving an account of his stewardship, and scoring many telling points. You do not have to be a Republican in order to warm up to our present Congressman, and my guess is that he will pull through if he maintains the same steady pace until November 6, and can persuade his thousands of friends and admirers to work unceasingly to bring out a huge G.O.P. vote on election day.

The second factor in the impetus given the Luce campaign by the formation of a strong campaign committee headed by Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton. Mr. George Drury of Waltham is the treasurer. A large reception and rally was held at Newton Centre last night, with Congressman Luce, Mayor Weeks, former Mayor Hatfield, and Hon. Leverett Salt-ontall as the stellar attractions.

The third factor is the mistakes which Russell has been making. Some of his campaign alliances will prove damaging, and his judgment may be questioned in various instances, of which I have already mentioned one. In Newton, Russell has opened up headquarters in company with William J. Coughlan, a Democratic candidate for Governor's Council, who is proving to be a source of considerable embarrassment to some of the more substantial leaders of Democracy in the District. This particular combination may result in reducing Frank A. Brooks' anticipated heavy plurality over Coughlan in the Council fight; but conversely, it will seriously damage Russell's prospects against Congressman Luce. Again, Russell has tied himself to the Presidential coalition alongside of James Michael Curley. Those who want another rubber stamp in Congress will, of course, vote for Russell. So will those who think that the sun rises and sets when little Jimmy Roosevelt arises and retires each day. Jimmy wants Russell in Congress, but as a writer in the Transcript Mail Bag said on October 23rd, "Mr. James Roosevelt, in his radio talk last evening, certainly gave us every reason in the world why he should return Mr. Luce to Washington and keep Mr. Russell at home." The Transcript captioned this contribution, "Campaigning in Reverse."

It is a curious fact that thousands of voters who like Russell are going to vote against him in order to retain him as Mayor of Cambridge, where he has a man-sized job on his hands. There are other thousands who have no use for him whatsoever, and many of them are Democrats who are going to vote for him because they want to get him out of the way in Cambridge. However, Russell will probably carry Cambridge, but he will need a big majority there to overcome Luce's substantial lead in Newton, Brookline, and surrounding territory.

We come now to the Senatorial battle between Robert M. Washburn and David I. Walsh. Here we have a battle of giants, the intellectual versus the physical. If only Washburn could get Walsh on the same platform, he could dispose of him in short order. It was once said of the G. O. P. candidate that he could demolish the average United States senator in about twelve words. Unfortunately for the Republican party, Washburn has not been as constantly in the public eye as Walsh. It is nearly twenty years since he held public office. He was a brilliant member of both branches of the State Legislature in the decade preceding the World War. Since that time he has been known chiefly as the writer of "Washburn's Weekly" in the Monday evening Transcript, a writer for Worcester and Springfield papers, and as the extremely active President of the Roosevelt Club of Massachusetts (T. R. and not F. D.). Washburn has the other branch, but Walsh will probably have the more votes—a frequent miscarriage of justice in the political arena. However, there are signs that Walsh's big lead is being slowly but surely whittled down. For one thing, he has at last recognized Washburn as his opponent by attacking him—not directly, but through the medium of one of his henchmen. Curiously enough, Washburn, in a very stimulating radio address a few nights ago, was taking Walsh to task for ostensibly conducting a campaign on a high-minded plane, while arranging for a little dirt to be thrown by his supporters. Lo and behold, along comes a Mail Bag contributor to a Boston paper, praising Walsh for his "dignified and consistent campaign work!" It seems that Washburn's Labor record was criticized by the senior Senator, but the facts are all in favor of the G. O. P. candidate. For example, he was the leader in the fight for a 48-hour bill for women and minors in Massachusetts, one of the most vital and far-reaching Labor bills in history.

Now in estimating Washburn's chances, do not overlook the following fact: Walsh is obviously weaker than ever before in his own party and among independent voters. The rumor of a Bacon-Walsh alliance (in Democratic circles only) shows this, although Walsh's secret desire to defeat Curley is a contributing factor. Bacon, however, is very strong for Washburn, as is shown by the following letter which the Republican candidate for Senator has graciously given me for use in this column:

"August 14, 1934.

"Hon. Robert M. Washburn, etc.

"Dear Bob: I was very much pleased by your article in last night's Transcript, particularly your reference to my father. It was kind of you to go out of your way to help a fellow-candidate and you may rest assured that when you get into the active fray and open up on Walsh, I will be ready and willing and eager to help you. With many thanks, I am,

"Yours as ever,
"G. G. B."
(Gaspar G. Bacon.)

Furthermore, the very popular G. O. P. candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, John W. Haigis, is one of Washburn's most active and enthusiastic supporters, and this, coupled with Washburn's former residence in Worcester, will give him a heavy vote in Western Massachusetts.

Do not be surprised if Walsh receives the smallest plurality in his entire Senatorial career. It is possible, though scarcely probable, that Walsh will be defeated. A Washburn victory would unquestionably strengthen the United States Senate, which is long on talk but short on brains.

Liquor Dealer Won't Appeal to State Commission

The Newton License Commission was notified on Tuesday that Clemente Leone had withdrawn the appeal he had taken to the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission on the suspension of his liquor license for two months by the local commission. The suspension went into effect on Sept. 11. It was imposed because Newton police had complained that at the lunch room owned by Leone on Watertown st., Nonantum, liquor had been sold to a minor, to men under the influence of liquor, and after specified closing hours.

Luce Rally Draws Crowd

President Roosevelt's reconstruction and relief programs. He warned against further surrendering of State rights and urged that the people of this Commonwealth take heed before they are further exploited for the benefit of most of the other States of this country. For every dollar taken from the people of Massachusetts in Federal taxes, only four cents are returned.

Congressman Luce was accorded a hearty ovation. He alluded to candidates for office who ask for votes because they promise to support President Roosevelt on all matters, as "rubber stamps" and "Yes Men." He stated that his long experience in Congress has given him a knowledge of affairs which redounds to the benefit of his constituents. Referring to the blind support of the President, regardless of whether he is right or wrong, Mr. Luce said that the Republican Congressmen have been willing to be with Mr. Roosevelt on matters which they honestly believe to be for the best interests of the country. Talking of the billions expended for welfare, Mr. Luce said that while it is true that large numbers of deserving persons require relief, it is also true that much of the money expended for relief has gone and is going to thriftless and undeserving.

He stated that some of the drastic measures taken by the President are very harmful to the welfare of the country and not aids to future prosperity. He said that the young college professors to whom the President has turned for advice during the past couple of years lack experience and knowledge of men. Mr. Luce asserted that the surrendering of their Constitutional rights and prerogatives by Congressmen has vested an enormous power in the hands of one man, which, if continued, would end personal liberty. He said that the placing of this power in one man's hands, and the surrendering of representative power, augurs ill for the country; it is a repetition of the breaking down of a Republican form of government, just as former republics broke down when liberty was surrendered and dictatorships established. He said dictatorships are the vogue now in Europe, and he cited the power of Mussolini, Hitler, the late Chancellor Dollfus and other dictators. He asked his hearers if they want such conditions here. He mentioned the rise to power of such demagogues as Curley, Upton Sinclair and Huey Long. He stated that it is not impossible, if the people continued to be fooled by demagogues, that Huey Long may become President. He told of the assertion by Sinclair that he would ignore the California Legislature should he be elected Governor of that State, and make himself a sort of dictator. He asked if the people of Massachusetts want this sort of thing here. He urged the people to return Republican Congressmen who will act as a bulwark against further confiscation of Democratic principles of government, and the abolition of the rights of free men.

League of Nations

(Editor's Note—As the voters of Newton will be asked at the coming election to express their opinion as to the instruction of their Representatives in the General Court upon requesting the President and the United States Senate to join the League of Nations we print herewith a number of questions and answers relating to the subject.)

1. What is the League of Nations?
An association of states, formed in 1920, to promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security.

2. How has it grown?
From the original 42 member states to a membership now of 57 including practically the whole of the civilized world except Afghanistan, Brazil, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Egypt, the United States of America and Soviet Russia. Costa Rica and Brazil withdrew in 1927 and 1928. Japan gave notice of withdrawal in March 1933 and Germany in October 1933 but withdrawal is not effective for two years.

3. How is it supported?
By annual contributions of member states assessed on a unit system of ability to pay. The 1934 budget is about six million—approximately the cost of two hours of war to the United States in 1918.

4. What is the Assembly?
An annual conference controls league finances, elects majority of Council and offers opportunity for public discussion on League activities.

5. What is the Council?
An executive committee of representatives of 15 member states which meets three times a year. The Council may be summoned on brief notice to consider situations threatening world peace. Action by Assembly and Council must ordinarily be by unanimous vote.

6. What is the Secretariat?
A permanent staff of 700 experts at Geneva working entire time to routine and research work.

7. The Settling of Disputes.
The League has handled some 30 controversies in several of which war threatened or actually was begun. (Greece-Bulgaria in 1925). In 1931 the Manchurian situation finally resulted in Japan's withdrawal from league in protest of Lytton report and later adoption of a report by special session of Assembly on Feb. 24, 1932, exonerating China from blame, denying the existence of Manchukuo, and recommending settlement along the lines of the Lytton report.

8. How about disarmament?
League members are bound by the Covenant to reduce armaments. A League Preparatory Committee worked nearly five years getting ready for World Disarmament Conference, which opened in February, 1932, and has not yet completed its work. Special needs of each country, Hitler's rise to power, and Germany's withdrawal make prospect for arms reduction now not hopeful.

9. Refugees.
One of the first tasks of the League was to return 430,000 war prisoners of 26 nationalities. Secured food and shelter for 1,500,000 Russian refugee exiles. Refugee settlement commission helped to find homes for 820,000 refugees in Greece, 25,000 in Russian Armenia and 120,000 in Bulgaria. In October, 1933, the League initiated formation of committee to consider problem of Jewish and other refugees from Nazi Germany.

10. Health.
Carried on effective warfare against epidemics in Eastern Europe, Africa, Far East and South America.

11. Other Social Problems.
Trying to stamp out traffic in women and children, slavery and slave trade wherever existent, and made important progress in the limitation of the manufacture of opium and other narcotic drugs.

12. Financial and Economic Problems.
Helped to avert financial collapse in Austria and Hungary in 1932 and in 1933. Sponsored World Economic Conference in 1927 and in 1933.

13. Control of Territory.
League controls Saar Valley (650,000 inhabitants) until 1935 when plebiscite will be held. Also stands behind local government of Free City of Danzig (386,000 inhabitants).

14. Mandates.
Certain powers act as mandatories on behalf of League over territories taken from Germany and Turkey by treaties of Versailles and Lausanne. Requires full reports each year.

15. Does United States Co-operate?
In many ways. Citizens are members of league committees and delegations take part in conferences. Representatives in Geneva are in close touch with League activities. Not being a member the United States has no voice in directing League affairs and makes no contribution to League expenses.

This Mutual Savings Bank

Many reasons may be cited for the savings depositor to use the Mutual Savings Bank.

It is not an institution to make profit. It simply receives your savings, assembles and invests them in securities prescribed by law, thus aiding you to save money and paying you for saving it. It is an institution that exists for the public welfare.

The State of Massachusetts has made its Savings Banks not only safe but profitable for the people.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by William P. Jackson and Grace M. Jackson, husband and wife, as tenants by the entirety, to Haynes & Hernandez, Inc., dated February 7, 1934 in Newtonville, Massachusetts, and recorded with Middlesex County District Deeds, book 5196, page 216, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises in Newton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts, on Wednesday, the twenty-first day of November, 1934, at eleven-thirty o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage with all improvements thereon, described in said mortgage as follows:

"A certain parcel of land situated in Newton, Middlesex County and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, known as the greater portion of Lot numbered Twenty (20) on plan called 'Subdivision of the Beaumont Hotel, Newtonville, Massachusetts, owned and developed by Haynes & Hernandez, Inc.', dated May 27, 1927, drawn by Everett M. Brooks, C.E., and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book of Plans 296, Plan 46. Said Lot numbered Twenty (20) is bounded and described as follows:

"SOUTHEASTERLY by Lot numbered Nineteen (19) of said plan, one hundred three and 34/100 feet (103.34'); SOUTHWESTERLY by the remaining portion of said Lot numbered Twenty (20) which was conveyed by the grantors to Edna M. Neal, by deed dated November 2nd, 1927, and duly recorded with said Deeds, ninety-eight feet (98') more or less;

NORTHWESTERLY by Leonard Avenue as shown on said plan, by two lines measuring respectively five and 97/100 feet (5.97') and ninety-three and 48/100 feet (93.48'); NORTHERLY and NORTHEASTERLY by a curve forming the junction of the Easterly line of said Leonard Avenue with the southerly line of Greylock Road as shown on said plan, twenty-three and 10/100 feet (23.10'); NORTHEASTERLY by said Greylock Road, seventy-four and 45/100 feet (74.45'); Containing according to said plan, 10,110 square feet of land. Be any or all of the said measurements more or less."

"For reference to our title, see deed from said Haynes & Hernandez, Inc., of even date, to be recorded herewith."

This conveyance is subject to restrictions of record contained in a deed from Frank F. Clark to the said Haynes & Hernandez, Inc., dated June 8th, 1927, and recorded with said Deeds, Book 5194, Page 168."

The premises will be sold subject to restrictions of record, so far as the same are now in force and applicable, and subject, also, to all unpaid taxes and assessments, if any, and to the effect of outstanding tax deeds or titles, if any there be.

THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS in cash will be required of the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Other terms at the sale.

Four Injured In Auto Crash at West Newton

An automobile driven by Ray Russell of 12 Charles st., Auburndale, overturned at Washington and Eddy sts., West Newton, on Tuesday night when it hit an Edison pole. According to the report made by Russell, the accident occurred when he swerved sharply to avoid a car which he said came out of Eddy st. without stopping. The car alleged to have disregarded the STOP sign drove off, and according to a witness it bore number plates which are registered in the name of a resident of Adella avenue, West Newton.

Four women who were riding in Russell's car were injured. Mrs. Dorothy Buley of 84 Bourne st., Auburndale, was pinned under the overturned car and received severe bruises and cuts. She and Mrs. Evelyn Wright of Hamilton st., Medford, who was also cut and bruised, were taken to the Newton Hospital by James Rose of Brown st., Waltham. Mrs. Alice Jones of 12 Charles st., Auburndale, received a probable fracture of her left shoulder, and Mrs. Margaret Lamb of 535 Auburn st., Auburndale, was cut and bruised. They were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Dedicate Flag At Auburndale Playground

The unemployed men who have been working on the ERA project at the Islington street playground at Auburndale participated in the dedication of a new flagpole and flag at that place on Tuesday morning. The flag was purchased by contributions from the men. The pole was made by them from a tree cut down on the site. Pupils of the Burr School marched to the playground escorted by a delegation from Newton Post, American Legion. Arthur McCarthy headed the Legion delegation. Mayor Weeks spoke at the flag raising exercises. He congratulated the ERA workers for their generosity in presenting the flag, and congratulated them on the improvements made at the playground.

Contesting Will of George E. Stuart

The will of the late George E. Stuart, former Street Commissioner of Newton, is being contested. This was made known this week by appearances entered in the Middlesex Probate Court by four of Mr. Stuart's children—George A. Stuart of Medway, Charles P. Stuart and Mrs. Lilian Clancy of Boston, Vincent Stuart of Watertown. A fifth child, Mrs. Veronica Waterfall of Portland had entered an appearance, but later withdrew it. In his will, made in 1932, Mr. Stuart left all his property to his second wife, Mrs. Frances Fitzgerald Stuart.

Arrested as Hit And Run Driver

William H. Root of Cotton st., Newton, was arrested about 10 o'clock last night by Patrolmen Barr and Hoyt on charges of drunkenness, driving a car while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known. It is alleged that while driving along Commonwealth ave., Brighton, Root's car hit a car driven by Herbert Ansin of Chadwick rd., Brighton, slightly damaging the latter's car. Ansin followed Root. Near the intersection of Centre st. and Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, it is alleged that Root's car collided with a car driven by Mrs. William Brennan of Waban Hill rd., Chestnut Hill, and still continued on its way with Ansin trailing. The latter followed Root until he reached his home at 76 Cotton st. Ansin then notified the Newton police.

RUSHFORTH-LESTER

Miss Barbara Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Howard Lester of 203 Mt. Vernon st., West Newton, was married to Thomas, Edmund Rushforth, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rushforth, of 143 Norwood ave., Newtonville, on Saturday afternoon, October twentieth at four o'clock at the Second Church in Newton, West Newton. Rev. Boynton Merrill performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of ivory Chantilly lace with a long train and a tulle veil with lace trimmed cap and veil. The bridesmaids wore Miss Phyllis Tourtellot, cousin of the bride, of North Scituate, Rhode Island, Miss Eleanor Rhodes of Weymouth and Mrs. John V. Lane of West Newton. They wore gowns of light and dark rust velvet with dolman sleeves and short trains and hats similar to that worn by the matron of honor.

Kenneth W. Rogers of West Newton, was the best man. The ushers were Charles A. Mahoney of Newton Centre, Raymond and James Swain of Newton and John W. Lane of West Newton.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and ferns. Wm. Lester Bates, organist, played the wedding music.

A reception was held in the church parlor from four thirty to five.

On their return from a trip to Washington and Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Rushforth will reside at 2003 Commonwealth ave., Brighton, where they will be at home after November 15.

The bride is a graduate of the Katharine Gibbs School and the groom of Northeastern University.

On the evening preceding the wedding a bridal supper was served at which the bride presented each of her attendants with a beautiful bouquet and the groom presented the best man and ushers with bouquets.

Mrs. John Lane entertained for the couple at her home in West Newton previous to their marriage and the Misses Priscilla and Julia Bacon of West Newton were hostesses at a bridge and shower given in their honor. Mrs. Charles A. Mahoney, sister of the bride, was hostess at a bridge and tea given in her honor and her office associates gave her a supper and mixmaster shower.

ANDERSON-VAHEY

Miss Ruth C. Vahey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Vahey of 547 Washington street, Newton, was married to Sven Osten Anderson of 14 Farragut ave., Somerville, on Saturday morning, October twentieth, at ten o'clock, at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. Rev. Russell Haley performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Louise Vahey, sister of the bride, of Newton, who was the maid of honor, wore copper leaf velvet and carried tallman roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Maisie Shea of Newton and Miss Alyce Merritt, also of Newton, wore ice blue gowns with hats and muffs to match.

Walter Murphy of Newton, was the best man. The ushers were Leo Vahey, brother of the bride, of Cambridge and Eric Anderson, brother of the groom, of Somerville.

A reception was held at the Philomathean Club. The couple were assisted in receiving by the bride attendants and Mrs. Vahey and Mrs. Anderson. About one hundred and fifty guests were present. Rev. Joseph P. Shea of Medford was the toastmaster. Music was furnished by an orchestra and dancing followed the reception.

On their return from a trip to New York and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will reside at 31 Jackson terrace, Newton.

known here for her dramatic work with the Garrick Players and the Newton Dramatic Club. During the past season she was an instructor at a Boston dancing school. Miss Catheron, unlike many modern dancers, believes that the most important foundation for the young dancer is an acquaintance with many types of dancing. Her training illustrates her thesis. She first had a foundation of ballet work and then studied under Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, touring the country for several seasons as a member of their company. She has demonstrated Dalcroze Eurhythmics at leading schools and colleges, studied modern German work at the Wigman school in Paris and was a teacher of social dancing at the Murray school in New York.

Saturday morning at 11:40 a truck driven by Fred Lerro of 306 Cherry street, West Newton, and a coupe driven by Dr. Patrick Coady of 491 Waltham street, West Newton, collided opposite 925 Watertown street, West Newton. Dr. Coady was reported as having received injuries. He was taken to his home. When the collision occurred Dr. Coady was thrown to the street from his car and stunned.

Injured In Auto
At Mansfield

Howard A. Cooper of 13 Churchill st., Newtonville, was severely injured on last Friday night in Mansfield, Mass., when the car he was driving crashed into a tree. He received a broken nose and possible internal injuries and was taken to the Attleboro Hospital. Cooper, who had been working at Concord, N. H., had gone to East Foxboro to visit his wife, who is ill there.

OPENS DANCING CLASSES

Miss Miriam Catheron, talented Newton young woman, has announced the opening of dancing classes at the Bonnar Atwood Studios, Newtonville. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Catheron of Elmore st., Newton Highlands and although she has lived a great deal away from Newton is known here for her dramatic work with the Garrick Players and the Newton Dramatic Club. During the past season she was an instructor at a Boston dancing school. Miss Catheron, unlike many modern dancers, believes that the most important foundation for the young dancer is an acquaintance with many types of dancing. Her training illustrates her thesis. She first had a foundation of ballet work and then studied under Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, touring the country for several seasons as a member of their company. She has demonstrated Dalcroze Eurhythmics at leading schools and colleges, studied modern German work at the Wigman school in Paris and was a teacher of social dancing at the Murray school in New York.

The Student Council held its first meeting on Thursday, October 11th. The meeting was held with Mr. Ring, and officers were elected as follows: Irene Sampson, president; Robert West, vice-president; and William Holmes, secretary-treasurer.

The drive for Junior Red Cross membership is being carried on this week. Each home room is endeavoring to belong with 100% membership.

Warren Jr. High

On Oct. 17, Warren pupils and faculty were privileged to hear the ERA band under the leadership of Mr. Ives. Among the pieces played were Robespierre, Selections from Carmen by Bizet, and Love in Bloom. Mr. Ives presented a piece of his own composition and dedicated it to the pupils and faculty of Warren Junior High School.

A meeting of Junior III pupils was held on Wednesday, Oct. 17, in the cafeteria. After Jack Smith, chairman, called the meeting to order, Mrs. Mooney, our class adviser, discussed some of the problems the ninth grade will face. The topic of a class gift to the school was brought up, and after the members of the Student Council were introduced, the meeting was adjourned.

Twelve members of the Daniel Boone Club travelled to Clinton, Mass. on Thursday, Oct. 18, for an outdoor supper on the shore of South Meadow pond at Cripple Grove. The following boys made the trip: Charles Brickett, Ralph Washburn, Chet Deagle, Bill Barlow, Bob Camp, Bob Blaquiere, Ken Irving, Dick de Lendernier, Paul Van Wart, Dick Flanning, John Gallagher, and Paul Jepson. The trip was made in the cars of Mr. John B. Butler and Mr. Charles M. Gilles, who accompanied the boys as sponsors of the club.

The Warren soccer team held Weeks to a tie-game of 1-1, on Oct. 18, and were defeated by Day Soccer Club 1-0. The Warren varsity was beaten by Weeks 2-0 and by Day 5-1. Mr. Converse hopes to build up the Warren sports teams with the help of several of the men teachers, including Mr. Onthank, Mr. Penny, Mr. Regan, and Mr. LaFlamme.

Highland Glee Club Plans For Coming Season

The Highland Glee Club of Newton has opened its season with a large and enthusiastic group of about sixty singers. Plans for the coming year have been outlined by the President, George H. Wight, and a very prosperous and interesting season is the outlook.

Last Spring, at Hartford, Conn., the Highlands Glee Club, under the direction of D. Ralph Maclean, were the winners in the annual contest held by the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs, which is an organization comprised of over thirty male glee clubs throughout New England. The honor thus bestowed immediately placed the Highland Glee Club as the outstanding male singing organization in New England and is an honor of which the City of Newton may well be proud. The club membership includes men from every part of Newton and is the most all-Newton musical organization in the city.

This year, the club is to give its two regular concerts in the auditorium of the John W. Weeks Junior High School. The first concert, to be held early in December, is to be a decided innovation in the form of a joint concert with the Wollaston Glee Club and the Amphion Glee Club of Melrose. These clubs are also members of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs. The three glee clubs will make up a group of trained singers numbering well over two hundred men—all under the direction of Mr. Maclean. Such a group has never been heard before in Newton, and it will be an opportunity that no musical person in Newton will wish to miss. An outstanding soloist, to be announced later, will be engaged to assist the clubs.

The Highland Glee Club has stood for the best things in music during its long and honorable existence, and is very grateful for the support that it has received from the music lovers of Newton. It is a live and active organization that has also brought many artists of real distinction to Newton to assist at its concerts, including such famous artists as John Charles Thomas, Albert Stoezel, Felix Fox, Allan Farum, Royal Dedman, Richard Burgin, Elizabeth Travis Behnke and many others. The club has successfully weathered the depression of the last few years, which has forced many clubs to disband, and has maintained its musical prestige culminating in the winning of the grand prize, last Spring.

The club is supported mainly through its associate membership, to which it entitles the members to two tickets for each of the two concerts. There will be no additional cost for the special joint concert. The Highlands Glee Club quite frankly asks for the support of the citizens of Newton, so that the club may continue on with its fine work and enable it to do even better things for the musical life of our city. Those interested may communicate with members of the club or George H. Wight, 25 Moreland ave., Newton Centre.

Rev. Herbert Hitchen to Give Series of Literary Lectures

Rev. Herbert Hitchen, pastor of the First Unitarian Society of West Newton will give a series of six literary lectures under the auspices of the Proctor Academy of Andover, New Hampshire, during November and December. The lectures will be given on Wednesday mornings at 11 o'clock in the Hotel Continental ballroom, Cambridge beginning November 14th and each week through December 19th. Mr. Hitchen's subjects for the first three lectures will be "The Irish Literary Renaissance" and for the following lectures, "Galsworthy the Playwright," "The Genius of Rupert Brooke," and "The Fragrance of James Barrie."

Count of Monte Cristo Coming to Paramount

Starting Sunday for four days, the Paramount Theatre will present Alexandre Dumas' immortal story "The Count of Monte Cristo," starring Robert Donat and Elissa Landi. This thrilling story of Edmond Dantes, the young Frenchman, torn from his sweetheart's arms by his enemies and unjustly imprisoned and left to rot in the grim Chateau d'If, is played by Robert Donat, and Miss Landi is ideal cast as the girl, Mercedes. Louis Calhern, Sidney Blackmer, O. P. Heggie and Irene Hervey head the supporting cast.

Playing with this picture will be "Desirable" with Jean Muir. George Brent plays the male role.

Beginning Thursday "The Cat's Paw" starring a comedian that has been away from the screen for many years, the one and only Harold Lloyd, is the feature film. Starring opposite him is Una Merkel.

and nearly fifty ninth graders responded. A call for seventh and eighth grade candidates will be issued shortly when the squad will undoubtedly exceed one hundred in numbers.

The programs of the assembly on Wednesday, October 24, was provided by the chorus of the Newton Highlands Women's Club. Betty Kelley introduced the director of the chorus, Mrs. Ginn. The program was comprised of a group of songs by the chorus, three solos by Mrs. Somers, a piano solo by Mrs. Eaton, a group of songs, Irish, and Scottish folk songs, two solos by Mrs. Waite, and the concluding number, Come to the Fair, by the chorus. Mrs. Reidy was the accompanist. The program was very much appreciated by the students.

among their committee activities, that they send a delegate on November 15th, who may report back to her club what the committee plans to study and to work upon.

Art Prizes Offered To Dist. Directors

Clubwomen are given opportunity to win some desirable paintings in contests offered by the State Art chairman, Mrs. Herbert Stephens. Because Mrs. Stephens feels, strongly, as she states, that the Club that has no Art department is missing a great deal, not only in the Conferences of the State Federation to which this department would be invited, but in programs that it could offer to the individual club, she is trying to inspire interest by offering a prize of a small oil painting to the District director, in whose district it is found at the end of the Club year, that there has been the greatest increase in Art departments in the clubs. She is also offering to the District director another prize of an oil painting in whose district there is the greatest increase in NEW CLUBS contributing to the Penny Art Fund. This Fund, as clubwomen know, purchases the paintings by Massachusetts artists that are given as prizes at the State Annual Meeting for outstanding work in art for the year. There are four such prizes.

Newton clubs should take up the challenge and win a prize for our own Twelfth District director, Mrs. John F. Capron, of Newton Centre, as well as win one of the coveted prizes for their club.

Massachusetts won the first prize, given by Mrs. Alvoni R. Allen, chairman of the Penny Art Fund for the General Federation at Hot Springs, and Mrs. Stephens has expressed her delight in this event which was made possible by the interest of Massachusetts Clubs in taking up art features and in contributing to the fund. The prize was a beautiful oil painting "Girl Reading," by Helen N. Turner, N. A., and Mrs. Stephens states that it will be exhibited at the State Art Conferences this year, and also that it will be lent for exhibit to any Club that will furnish transportation of the picture.

Another prize offered is a small oil painting to the Art chairman who has the largest percentage of her club members present at the series of Art Scholarship Lectures given at the Museum of Fine Arts, which the State Federation Art department is sponsoring again this year. Last year Mrs. Russell Frost, of Dover, won the prize with a fifth of her club membership attending. There will be a series of four lectures, with the price $1.00 for the series, or 35 cents for a single lecture. The Talks are by outstanding lecturers and authorities on Art and are well worth a much larger fee for the course. Last year the State Federation Art department gave the Museum $50.00 as a start, and it is hoped to do better this year, now that interest has been aroused by the proof of the value offered. Mrs. Stephens will receive orders for tickets, her address being 347 Mystic street, Arlington.

Mrs. Stephens also makes the interesting announcement that she will give a series of free lessons in some of the simple crafts to any Art chairman or clubwomen who will start a class in her club. Last year the response to her generous offer for such classes, held at State Headquarters, was so great that she feels there is interest, indeed, in them, and she invites those interested to send their names to her, and she will notify them of the date of the first class which will probably be in November. Last year these classes made painted lamp shades, covered boxes, leaf bowls, and hand-made books, and they will make the same this year, probably, and others as appealing.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

Barbara King of Meriden, Conn., has been elected president of the Senior Class. The other officers are Lydia Barnes of Melrose, vice-president; Ruth Putnam of Northampton, secretary; Barbara Iris of Brockton, treasurer; and Doris Jones of Schenectady, N. Y., song leader. This thrilling story of Edmond Dantes, the young Frenchman, torn from his sweetheart's arms by his enemies and unjustly imprisoned and left to rot in the grim Chateau d'If, is played by Robert Donat, and Miss Landi is ideal cast as the girl, Mercedes. Louis Calhern, Sidney Blackmer, O. P. Heggie and Irene Hervey head the supporting cast.

Rev. Ray A. Eusden of the Eliot Church, Newton, was the Vesper speaker on Sunday. Next week Mrs. Etta Austin McDonald will be the speaker.

The first group of Home Economics students has begun its six weeks of housekeeping at Blaisdell. The hostess is Dorothy Friend of Newport, R. I. The others in the group are Dorothy Bannerman of East Bridge-water, Lilly Tobias of Avon, Conn.; Barbara Hamilton of Worcester, Priscilla Remmel of Waltham and Ruth Putnam of Northampton, who is also president of the Home Economics Club.

Yesterday afternoon a Halloween Bridge was held at "The Barn," sponsored by the Home Economics Club. On Saturday evening there will be a Halloween party in Assembly Hall with dancing and costume prizes.

Newton Youths Follow Fathers to Brown Univ.

Eleven per cent of the freshman class at Brown University are sons of alumni it was reported recently from the university admissions office. Among this group are two Newton youths. They are T. Brenton Bullock of 550 Chestnut st., Nohun, the son of George B. Bullock of the Class of 1905 and Alfred W. Dickinson, of 48 Hull st., Newtonville, son of the late Alfred W. Dickinson of the Class of 1907.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Guest Night was observed recently at the Norumbega District School of Religious Education. After a specially prepared program of worship, led by Professor Wm. H. Timble, the Dean, the regular classes were held, to which all visitors were welcomed.

The Loan Library of the District, books on Bible study and religious educational methods, is available each Monday evening at the school, and may also be used by anyone desiring the privilege—telephone the executive secretary, Miss Barker, Middlesex 3012 for further information on books that are available. The only fee is for mailing service.

The Board of Education met Thursday evening, October 18, at the home of Mrs. E. O. Woodward, of Otis street, Newtonville. Other members of this Board are the following: Professor J. P. Berkeley, Rev. E. A. Estaver, Frank H. Grebe, Miss Mildred Hewitt, Ernest W. Kuebler, Rev. William Loos, Miss Margaret Ripley, Dr. Ralph H. Rogers, Rev. E. L. Shaver, Rev. G. Vaughan Shedd, Miss Lissette Smyth, Mrs. H. P. Williams. All officers are members ex-officio, and the chairman of the Board is Professor Herbert C. Mayer of West Newton, who is also the new president of the Council.

ALL NEWTON MUSIC SCHOOL

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the All Newton Music School was held at the home of Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., of Sterling st., West Newton, on Monday evening, Oct. 15. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Miss Mabel T. Eager; Vice President, Mr. William Lester Bates; Secretary, Miss Gladys Avery; Treasurer, Mr. Quincy W. Wiles.

A vote of appreciation was extended to the retiring secretary, Mr. Frank A. Day, Jr., who had served so faithfully in this capacity for several past seasons. Much gratification was felt over the splendid work being done by the pupils of the Music School, and special comment made on the many unusual features in the recitals and concerts of last season. From the report of the Director, Miss Elizabeth Fyfe, it was learned that many new pupils had registered this fall and that many applicants for special help of one kind or another had been made. It was pointed out that many from all parts of Newton were seeking the various opportunities offered through the Music School and that the season just ahead promised to be an especially active one. Plans for a Christmas Concert, given by the Combined Schools, were discussed and it was decided to again present a program of popular classics such as was so much enjoyed last year. This concert will be opened to the general public and will take place at the Newton High School on Friday evening, Dec. 14.

ERA Relief In Newton Reduced For Two Weeks

Several hundred men in Newton who have been receiving ERA relief for many months will receive reductions in their aid from this source this week and next. They worked two days last week and a day and a half this week. This means that the ordinary workers will receive but $8 in this week and $6 next for themselves and their dependents. Because October is a five week month, in order to keep all the men at work on the ERA projects in Newton, the money available for the month was insufficient to give the men their regular 3 days employment the past two weeks. It is hoped the allotment next month will permit the regular payments to the men. Those who need aid because of the curtailment will be given food orders and other relief by the Newton Welfare Department.

Highlands Boy Severely Hurt By Automobile

Stephen Kelly, 6, of 956 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, was hit near his home last Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock by a car driven by Thomas Vicini of 21 Reservoir park, Needham. The boy received a severe gash in his head and was taken to the Newton Hospital by Sidney Blakeney of Needham and Henry Geary of 931 Walnut st., Patuxent Heights, Md. Vicini was driving a car with defective brakes.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edward H. Powers

A lovable old man who has been a familiar figure on the streets at Newton Corner for some years was buried this morning. Michael J. O'Brien died suddenly Tuesday morning at his lodging place on Tremont street. He was born 80 years ago in Bantry, Cork, Ireland, on the beautiful bay of that name. He was an expert wood turner and worked at his trade until a few years ago. He remained unusually active physically and mentally up to the day of his death. His life was filled with sorrows, but he accepted his trials with a calm, Christian resignation. He was an ardent lover of his native land and an expert in the Gaelic language. During recent years he was a constant patron of the Newton Library. His beautiful character made an impression on all who had the privilege of his acquaintance.

The woods have been filled with mighty Nimrods the past couple of weeks. "He men" who get a thrill shooting birds, squirrels and other savage creatures. Man is one of the few species which kills for the lust of killing. It is this trait in human beings that makes for war.

If the millions which have been and are being improperly expended by the ERA and other relief projects, were given to persons really in need, it would not be necessary to reduce the small amounts paid to the great majority of the unemployed. When one learns of latest ERA weekly allotments to persons having political influence, persons not nearly as hard up as those getting the small allotments, when one hears of persons of comparative wealth drawing large salaries from the ERA, PWA and other so-called relief activities, when it is common knowledge that large sums have been spent in payments to politicians and their henchmen, one observes the cutting down of payments to the ordinary recipients with disgust.

Daniel Boone was a man of vision. But, Daniel never had vision enough to imagine a trail being named after him away up in New England. Daniel's activities were some hundreds of miles South of here. And it's a safe bet that the Nonantum Indians didn't climb the steep slope off Vaban Hill when they travelled from their village in the valley between Vaban and Nonantum's hills on journeys to the seashore or in other directions.

Death took an unusual toll of old people in Newton during the past week. Eight persons over 80 years of age died in the city; two of these were over 90 years of age.

Since the new law relative to penalties for violations of parking ordinances went into effect, about a dozen persons have paid $3 fines to Clerk of Court Gallagher at West Newton. This number included a few women. The offences for which these fines were paid included—double parking on streets, parking in front of driveways, parking on crosswalks and parking in restricted areas.

A large number of girls and women smoke cigarettes these days. But, with few exceptions they possess enough brains and common sense to refrain from indulging in smoking cars on suburban trains. The comparatively few giddy young things and she-males who make a habit of riding in smoking cars, occupied mostly by middle-aged men, would not consider themselves smart, if they knew what these men, as well as the girls and women who ride in the regular coaches think of them.

Twenty-seven persons were killed by automobiles in Massachusetts last week. Half of this number were pedestrians. Over 35,000 persons have been killed yearly in this country by automobiles. Every day there are about 2300 automobile accidents in the United States, 95 persons are killed and 3000 injured. A distinguished police official from London who is making a tour of this country, and who was in Boston this week, expressed his astonishment that over 1300 persons are killed annually by automobiles in Massachusetts. He contrasted this appalling slaughter with the fact that there are only about 30 murders in London yearly, and made the pertinent comment that the first duty of police is to protect the lives of the public. This comment of the part of the English police official coincides with similar comments we have made from time to time in this column. If our police gave half the attention to preventing needless slaughter by automobiles that they give to preventing possible bank banditry and other forms of banditry, fewer persons would be "murdered" by speeding, reckless and drunken motorists.

The foliage this year has been quite inferior to that of recent years. Weather conditions in New England caused only part of the foliage to take on the brilliant autumnal hues before frosts separated the leaves from the branches of our trees. But, enough beautiful foliage has been presented to the view of those who took trips through the country those who took advantage of a display of natural beauty which New England possesses to a greater degree than any other section of the United States, and perhaps the world. If California or Florida had New England's foliage show each October, how they would brag about it and advertise it.

Child Scalded At Nonantum

Gertrude Allen, 8, of 79 Faxon st., Nonantum, was badly scalded when her legs on Wednesday morning, when she upset a kettle of boiling water on a stove at her home. She was climbing on the stove to reach a shelf. She was taken to the Newton Hospital. The child is one of 10 children whose father died last summer.

Heavy Fog and Rubber Odor This Morning

Early risers in Newton and adjoining places this morning observed one of the heaviest fogs seen here for years. It had the pea soup and London variety fogs equalled for thickness. It also caused many persons to be fooled and frightened, not to mention somewhat nauseated. The thick fog brought with it a strong odor of something burning. The writer thought at first that the odor was that of burning rags and started to look about the house for a fire. Then the smell seemed to be that of burning rubber. At Newton Corner the rubber odor was even more noticeable. It is believed to have come from the big dump at East Watertown where quantities of rubber waste have smoldered and burned on various occasions in the past.

Will Spend $7000 To Repair House Owned By City

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen it was voted to appropriate $2600 for materials to be used in repairing and altering a house owned by the city next to the pumping station at Newton Upper Falls, and occupied by Mark Croker, engineer at the pumping station. The labor costs on this job will be defrayed by the ERA and it is estimated that the cost of the labor and materials will be about $7000.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Probation after Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 28, 1934.

The Golden Text is: "The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death" (1 Corinthians 15:26). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, two of them went that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about three-score furlongs. . . . And it came to pass, that, while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. But their eyes were holden that they should not know him. . . . And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself. . . . And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight" (Luke 24:13, 15, 16, 27, 31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Master said plainly that phylis was not Spirit, and after his resurrection he proved to the physical senses that his body was not changed until he himself ascended,—or, in other words, rose even higher in the understanding of Spirit, God" (p. 46).
